ROBBER KILLS OFFICER AND SHOOTS MAN AT OIL DEPOT

Patrolman George Fries, 59, Mortally Wounded When He Walks Into Holdup at Venice, Ill.

CHASES GUNMEN UNTIL HE FALLS

I WUNDER VHY DOT BIG CHEESE OF A GOVERNOR DON'T SHOW UP? I WOULDN'T VAIT MUCH LONGER!

A policeman was shot to death at an oil station manager was seriously wounded in Venice early when the officer interrupted a holdup at the station.

The two robbers escaped on foot, abandoning an automobile which had been stolen in East St. Louis.

The policeman was Patrolman George Fries, 59 years old, who died at 912 Third street, Venice, with his wife and two children. The station manager, Arthur White, 25, of 1621 Sixth street, was shot in the left thigh, in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Venice City.

The scene of the shooting was the new-way Filling Station at the conjunction of Broadway, West street and Madison Avenue in Venice, a half block south of the boundary line between Venice and Madison.

Tells of Holdup.

At the hospital, White said two men in an old Chevrolet car stopped at the gas pump at 2:45 o'clock. White put two gallons of gasoline into the car tank, while the occupants got out and stood on opposite sides of car. Suddenly one man turned him with drawn revolver and said, "Get 'em up!"

White was facing the robber about six feet away, with my arms in air, when I heard someone coming up behind me," related Fries. "I later learned it was Patrolman Fries. He was in civilian clothes.

The robber must have seen about the same time I did, fired past me and I turned and in time to see Fries bend over, and taking his hands from his pocket. He said, "Oh, get me help."

The robber ran toward Madison Avenue and fired again at White and then at me once, hitting me in the leg and knocking me.

Caused Me, Despite Wound.

That first shot got Fries, but was game. The last I saw of him, he was chasing one of the robbers north in Madison Avenue, four or five times at him, think both of the robbers were running that way from him, but I did not see the driver. Fries is a block, to Second street, and collapsed and fell in the street. The robbers got away.

During the holdup, the driver stood on the left-hand side of the car, doing nothing. When the armed robber shot Fries and me ran away, the driver tried to get the car, but couldn't make it and he ran, too.

Don't know why the robber shot Fries. He couldn't tell he was a policeman, as he wore ordinary clothes, without any badge showing. Maybe Fries was reaching for his revolver when he saw hands go up in the air. I don't think he had it drawn when he was shot.

Wounded in Right Side. Fries had been shot in the right side, the bullet penetrating the liver. He was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, where he died at 12 o'clock, in the presence of his family. He made no statement about the shooting.

Chief of Police Clifford of Venice Police probably had gone to the station to make his hourly telephone call to headquarters. It was his custom to arrive a few minutes before the hour, and chat with the station manager. He had been a policeman for three years.

TESTIFIES JIM FERGUSON SOUGHT GRAFT ON CONTRACTS

Texas Highway Builder Tells Inquiry Governor's Husband Wanted $7500 in $5 and $10 Bills.

By the Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 18.—Charges that James E. Ferguson, husband of Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, had offered to obtain road maintenance contracts for a money consideration, were made here today before the Legislative Committee investigating State departments.

J. D. Winder, highway contractor of Belleville, Tex., testified that Ferguson had made a proposition to obtain contracts in five counties for $7500, to be delivered to Ferguson in $5 and $10 bills. The offer was made in April, 1925, the witness said.

The committee, which began work today, was created by the special session of the Legislature called by Gov. Ferguson to validate Texas road bonds and, among other things, to investigate State departments.

The offer, Winder said, was made by Ferguson in the office of Frank Lanham, then chairman of the State Highway Commission.

Hill testified that he paid money to Smith to get the Highway Commission to pay him $3600 due him for services as auditor of the automobile registration funds in county depositories. In Texas, automobile registration funds are distributed among the counties.

800-POUND FISH WASHED ABOARD LINER IN STORM

Capt. A. B. Randall Reports Unusual Occurrence in Radio Message From the Republic.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—A brief radio message, received last night at the offices of the United States Line from Capt. A. B. Randall of the Republic, told how a slashing storm had washed an 800-pound fish aboard the vessel.

"Easterly gale three days," was the message. "Only damage caused by 800-pound live fish, species unknown, washed aboard by heavy seas over forward hatch, carrying away part of rail."

The fish probably will be kept aboard the ship until it docks, when scientists can study it.

ONTARIO MAY VOTE ON LIQUOR

Government Control and Local Option Issues, Press Indicates.

By the Associated Press.

TORONTO, Oct. 18.—Both Toronto morning papers today predict the almost immediate dissolution of the Ontario Legislature and an appeal to the Electorate by the Ferguson Government on a Government control of liquor sale and local option policy.

The newspaper predict that the abolition of "doctor" prescriptions for beer, and native wines at hotels and clubs and also Government control of the sale of liquors and imported wines will be voted on. Ontario is one of the four Canadian provinces still operating under a prohibition law, the others being New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. The Ontario Electorate in 1924 rejected a proposal to introduce Governmental control. A year later a law was passed approving the sale of beer of 4.4 per cent alcohol content, and this is still in effect.

DETECTIVE ON SPEEDING TRAIN SPIES GANGSTER

Sergt. Paul Girard Captures Pat Scanlon, Who Had Been Fugitive Since July.

Detective-Sergeant Paul Girard, of a Missouri Pacific observation car platform yesterday afternoon just west of Jefferson City, sat up with a start as a small man with a big suit case clambered back onto the tracks in the swirling leaves stirred up by the speeding train.

"Pat Scanlon," he ejaculated softly. "And so it was. Returning from Denver, where he had taken a prisoner, Girard had recognized the former Hogan gangster for whom he and the men had been looking here since last July."

Girard alighted from the train at Jefferson City and was already tramping west on the Missouri Pacific right of way when the train pulled out again for St. Louis. Just west of town he spotted the gunman and slipped behind a box car to await him.

Scanlon was alongside the car when Girard stepped from behind the car with his revolver in his hand.

"How are you, Paddie?" he called. "Stick 'em up, before you get hurt." Scanlon set his suit case on the ties and elevated his hands. Girard searched him with one hand and, finding no weapons, told him to pick up the suit case and start on to town.

Today he brought Scanlon to St. Louis, where he is wanted on a warrant charging complicity in the $4500 payroll holdup of the Cole Manufacturing Co. in Memphis last June. He also is to be viewed by witnesses to the $16,000 robbery at Twelfth and Washington avenue on July 20, in which Sandy Morgan, messenger for the City Trust Co., was shot and wounded.

As usual the gangster wouldn't answer questions. He had his revolver in his suitcase.

VAUDEVILLE SUIT QUASHED

Booker Who Alleged Monopoly Is Denied An Appeal.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Max Hart, New York booking agent, today was denied an appeal to the United States Supreme Court in his proceeding against the Keith and Orpheum circuits and others who he alleged were monopolizing the vaudeville business.

Hart sought to bring suit against the B. F. Keith Vaudeville Exchange, the Orpheum Circuit, the Excelsior Collection Agency, Edward F. Albee and other individuals, charging that interstate commerce was being restrained in violation of the Sherman and Clayton acts. The decision against him in the lower court was based on the ground that the interstate commerce involved was incidental to the primary object of the entertainment, and that vaudeville actors and actresses, like professional baseball players, are not engaged in interstate commerce.

"Oh, I wouldn't have time for that," she replied.

"Is the report true that this is to be the only interview you will grant?" she was asked.

"Well," she responded. "I had to make some arrangement; I can't be giving interviews all the time, can I?"

Rain Checks Noisy Demonstration on Arrival of Rumanian Ruler With Her Son and Daughter.

SHE GIVES CHATTY INTERVIEW ON BOAT

Thousands Watch Her Progress Up Broadway and Reception at City Hall—Leaves for Washington.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Queen Marie of Rumania was whisked through the city so quickly today that New Yorkers as a whole were hardly aware of her passing. She stepped ashore with her party at the Battery shortly before noon and hardly an hour later was on her way, in a special train, to Washington. Ceremonies at City Hall occupied the interim.

The Queen and her children, Prince Nicholas and Princess Ileana, who are to make a tour of the United States, arrived on the Leviathan, which reached Quarantine at 6:55 a. m.

Queen Grants Interview.

Before her arrival the Queen granted an interview on board the Leviathan. There were 200 reporters in the group standing in the rain in the foyer outside the presidential suite about a roped enclosure.

Marie stood inside the ropes smiling at the newspaper men and women. Clad in a wine-colored velvet coat with black fur collar and cuffs and with a gold turban topping her chestnut bob, the Queen was in striking contrast to the bedraggled throng about her.

Telling the reporters that she had heard on the boat about the barrage of questions they would hurl at her, the Queen proceeded to take the interview in her own hands.

"I have not yet had time to see much of America," she said, "but I am very much excited. I antic平ate a lovely time. I came here to see all the beautiful things in America."

"I don't know what I want to see most; I want to see everything beautiful. And I know I shall find here some of the love that Rumanians have for Americans."

"I am especially interested in the position of women here, what they have been doing in the cause of peace. Women have done so much end war; that is, if they don't start fighting among themselves."

"Talks for Five Minutes.

The interview lasted a scant five minutes and during that time the Queen talked steadily, her voice a soft rattle with a suggestion of the Scott burr. Two or three times, however, reporters broke through with questions and the first of these, asked by a woman reporter, concerned the city's skyline.

Both the Queen and the other reporters broke into a laugh at the tutee's question.

The murder Wight was investigating was committed several years ago. As police work on the case is not completed, no details are given out.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police have now patrolled the whole of the seacoast of the southern half of Ellesmere Island. They have covered part of the coast of Axel Heiberg, the northern and southern coasts of Devon Island, and the whole of the north and east coasts of Baffin Island as well as part of the west coast. The distance traveled by two detachments on Baffin Island was more than 6000 miles, while on Ellesmere Island, a distance of 3300 miles was covered.

"Oh, she is too young to have to worry about that yet," the mother said, laughing, and Ileana and Nicholas both smiled.

During her interview the Queen spoke of her habit of constantly writing her impressions, and this brought a question as to whether she would write for any syndicate while here.

"Oh, I wouldn't have time for that," she replied.

BONDS OF DEFUNCT BANK ARE FACTOR IN NEW FAILURE

Labor Depository at Pittsburgh Said to Have Paid for Missing Bonds of Carnegie Trust Co.

PAPER VALUED AT $8,000,000 ON SALE

Arrested President Declares Troubles of Labor Bank Were Due to "Misplaced Confidence."

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 18.—The Liberty Bonds for which the Brotherhood Savings and Trust Co. and several individuals paid $320,000 to Charles Knapp, missing bond salesman, were part of alleged hidden assets of John A. Bell, former local bank head, recently convicted of embezzlement, the Pittsburgh Gazette Times today declared. Police have been informed by Bennie Diamond of Pittsburgh. Bell was president of the Carnegie Trust Co. which failed a year ago.

The bonds, part of alleged hidden assets valued at $8,000,000, were being sold by several men, including Knapp and Diamond, through a "prominent attorney," the newspaper asserts. Diamond, according to the Gazette Times, has been informed by Bennie Diamond of Pittsburgh. Bell was president of the Carnegie Trust Co. which failed a year ago.

The bonds, part of alleged hidden assets valued at $8,000,000, were being sold by several men, including Knapp and Diamond, through a "prominent attorney," the newspaper asserts. Diamond, according to the Gazette Times, has been informed by Bennie Diamond of Pittsburgh. Bell was president of the Carnegie Trust Co. which failed a year ago.

A countryside search has been instituted for Knapp who disappeared last Friday after he had received the $320,000 in prepayment for the bonds which he was to deliver at about half price. He never delivered the bonds.

The bank, a labor institution, has been closed pending an investigation by State Banking Department officers but its officers insisted there were sufficient assets to pay depositors in full.

R. A. McCrady, president of the bank, who has been released under $125,000 bond on various charges placed against him in connection with the case, defended his action in turning over the money to Knapp before the bonds had been delivered. In a statement, McCrady said the "whole story resolved itself into two words, misplaced confidence."

"Knapp had a good record before him," he said. "In entrusting the money to Knapp, we did no more than any bank would do in entrusting money to a tried messenger."

McCrady's statement placed the total bank funds involved at $102,500.

With four persons arrested Friday, police added a fifth yesterday, when they took into custody Frank Smith, alias Frank Guimaro, alleged companion of Knapp and wanted for a $6500 stock swindle. He and Knapp are said to have perpetrated in Clearfield, Pa. He was held on a technical charge of being a suspicious person. Authorities would not indicate what connection he might have had with the case.

William Kelley and J. L. Nelson, vice president and secretary, respectively, of the institution, and Frank T. Redman, one of several persons who contributed to the funds which were paid Knapp, remained in jail today, unable to raise bond.

Illinoian Killed, Three Men Held. Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CARTERVILLE, Ill., Oct. 18.—Paul Moulton, his uncle, Zaphy Moulton, and Jube Randolph, are in jail at Marion, charged with the killing of Hugh Chamness here early yesterday, following a quarrel. All were drinking. The coroner's jury recommended that the three men be held. Chamness was a former member of the police force in Carterville and a coal miner. He had gone to bed about 10 o'clock Saturday night. The men roused him at midnight and he went with them. At a later hour he returned and got his shotgun. He was killed within 50 yards of his home. The three men surrendered to the Night Marshal. Chamness is survived by his widow and two children.

Guam Opposes Annexation. WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The Governor of Guam reported today that the native Congress of the island had adopted a resolution pronouncing against any effort to annex the island to the Philippines. The resolution described the present status of the island as one of peace and contentment.

newspaper asked about the treatment of Jews in Rumania.

"The Jews have been very fond of me," she replied. "I hope they always will. All people are treated alike in my country, and the Jews are good people."

Leana, a slender pale girl, wore a dark blue velvet coat trimmed with fur, a semi-cloche hat with a silver ornament in front, a powder blue dress, beige silk stockings and lizard skin pumps. Nicholas was in morning attire.

The Queen's interview was prefaced by a plea "for the love of all Americans." "I love all of your people," she said, "and I want you to take me to your heart."

Guns Salute Queen.

After the interview the royal party was escorted aboard the Macom and the tug proceeded to the Battery. Opposite Governor's Island the party was greeted by an official salute of 21 guns.

Thousands Watch Procession.

With Queen and her entourage at the Battery coincided with a lull in the storm. Rain, which up to that time had soaked the city, ceased to fall and the sky brightened somewhat.

On the Macom the Queen was asked if, when she returns to Rumania, she would take with her son, Prince Carol, who renounced his rights as heir apparent to the throne but with whom she was reported to have effected a reconciliation just before sailing.

"I am afraid not," Marie replied. "I have made a great mistake in his life and he will just have to take his punishment like anyone else. I hope he can come back some day."

"Twenty-three," the youth responded in a low voice.

"What do you think about American girls?"

The Prince seemed much embarrassed.

"I didn't come here for girls," he replied.

The Queen joined in the general laughter and, pointing her finger at her son, said: "I hope you stick to that."

Heavy Guard Provided.

In a long line of automobiles, with Queen Marie in the leading car, the royal party drove up Broadway to city hall between ranks of eager watchers. The procession was led by a large detachment of police, soldiers, sailors and marines.

City Hall Plaza and the streets for blocks around were jammed with thousands gathered in hope of catching a glimpse of the royal passengers.

Mayor Walker presented to the Queen a scroll, on behalf of the city, in which he praised her for her work in improving the status of Rumania as a nation.

"The modern history of this rapidly changing world," said the scroll in part, "has informed us of the fact that in the hands of Your Imperial Majesty the kingdom of Rumania has vastly expanded the territory which you are called upon to govern and has, within the reign of His Majesty, King Ferdinand, and yourself, almost doubled its population."

"My! You look wet," she said. "I wish I could ask you in but there are so many of you, aren't there?"

She stayed at the window several minutes, answering with smiling good nature questions flung up at her.

"The allegiance of our people, Your Majesty, belongs to that freedom with which we have been blessed, but our hearts go out to you and yours who have come across the seas to enjoy for even a short visit the stimulus of our free institutions."

Rain Checks Demonstration.

Despite a morning rain that soaked the Reception Committee, thousands lined the path of the royal party's progress from the Battery to City Hall and on to the Pennsylvania station, but the weather did much to prevent the noisy demonstration of welcome that was expected.

City Hall Plaza itself was jammed with watchers whose determination could not be dampened by rain, but they indulged in no cheering and the line of march was thinly populated in compari-

REVIEW BY SUPREME COURT SOUGHT IN OIL LEASE CASES

Court of Appeals Gives Fall, Sinclair and Doheny Attorneys Time to Act.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The Supreme Court will be asked for a review of the recent action of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals in dismissing the special appeal of Albert B. Fall, Harry F. Sinclair and Edward L. Doheny from a decision upholding their conspiracy indictment in connection with naval oil reserve leases.

The Court of Appeals today granted attorneys for the accused a motion to suspend for 30 days from Oct. 21 the mandate in the case to permit application to the highest court. The question at issue is the validity of the act passed last year depriving the Court of Appeals the right to grant special appeals in criminal cases.

ey has been taken out, along with a $100,000 brokerage policy.

First Glimpse of New York.

Queen Marie had her first glimpse of the new world early this morning when she saw Staten Island from the broad windows of her luxurious drawing room aboard the Leviathan.

The Rumanian Queen's dream of six years was realized when she walked on the promenade deck with her children, Prince Nicholas and Princess Leana, and saw the skyline of Manhattan in the distance.

In spite of ancient lineage and medieval tradition with which she has been surrounded, Marie is essentially modern. She has never ceased to be an English Princess and a member of the Church of England. English is the language she always uses in talking with her children, but she has become more democratic than English royalty. All of her luncheons on the Leviathan and many of her dinners were eaten in the common dining room. She talked with fellow passengers on the promenade deck, and demonstrated herself to be a thoroughly charming, human woman and devoted mother, and thereby a doubly charming Queen who throws no royal barriers about herself.

"Certainly there were moments when it was sad to go alone to my church, but none of us looked down upon the other and each was quite ready to go to the others' church.

"My idea would be a universal church where all Christians could pray, unseparated by ritual and dogma and where neither Jew, Mohammedan, nor infidel would be looked down upon, but would be received with brotherly indulgence. I know that this is too vast a dream for this poor old world, but we could be more kindly, more tolerant, more understanding.

"Stick to the religion in which you were reared—I am all for that—respect it, consider it the best if you like, be convinced you are in the right, but do not allow that conviction to make you intolerant toward those who do not think of Jesus' Name."

Rising early, the Queen had taken a plunge in the ship's pool before the sunrise for the Sunday service. The rest of the day she spent in the sunshine on the promenade deck.

Another was "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name."

Rising early, the Queen had taken a plunge in the ship's pool before the sunrise for the Sunday service. The rest of the day she spent in the sunshine on the promenade deck.

Both Leana and Nicholas seemed embarrassed throughout the interviews, often glancing at each other and giggling at the questions asked. The Princess made no contribution to the conversation and the only time the Princess spoke was in response to a direct question. The Queen had just acknowledged that she was 51 years old and a reporter asked Nicholas how old he was.

"Twenty-three," the youth responded in a low voice.

PRESIDENT TO RECEIVE QUEEN MARIE TOMORROW

Crowded Day at Washington to Be Followed by Auto Journey to Annapolis and Baltimore, Md. Wednesday.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Queen Marie on her arrival here in a special train from New York this evening, will be met at the Union Station by the Secretary of State and Mrs. Coolidge, together with representatives of the diplomatic corps, the army and the navy, soldiers, sailors, marines, civilians and military bands.

Queen's first official act will be to place a wreath on the tomb of the first President.

In the afternoon the Queen, Prince Nicholas and Princess Leana will be received at the White House by the President and Mrs. Coolidge, who a half hour later, will return the call by visiting the Rumanian legation. A dinner to the Queen at the White House in the evening will bring the first day's program to a close.

Wednesday morning, Marie and her party will go by automobile to Annapolis, Md., accompanied by J. Butler Wright, Assistant Secretary of State, to inspect the United States naval academy. They will be taken to Baltimore from the Maryland capital, arriving there early in the afternoon.

Three Men in Motor Boat Bound by Steamer.

By the Associated Press.

HAVRE, France, Oct. 18.—An eight-day bath in a disabled boat with the tail-end of Florida hurricane ended in a miraculous rescue for three men who were taken from tiny craft a few moments before the racing seas.

The three, William Sanders, Brookline, Mass., Patrick McNamee, of Cambridge, Mass., arrived today on the United States steamboat steamer Meantime, which picked them up after they had run up on a rock.

Her message to America is: "I am coming to you all, to every one of you. But yours is such a mighty country, how will I be able to make you feel that it is because of that big, boundless, happy love I feel for you that I am coming just to see you, as many of you as I possibly can. It is not my fault that I am a Queen. Do not let that be a barrier to our friendship. I am nothing but a woman. It is as such that you must look at me."

"I am just a woman of 50 who is brimful of joy and excited pleasure at the thought of seeing you."

HAVRE, France, Oct. 19.—An eight-day battle in a disabled motor boat with the tail-end of the Florida hurricane ended in a miraculous rescue for three Americans, who were taken from the tiny craft a few moments before sank in the raging seas.

The three, William Sandberg, Brooklyn, Mass., Patrick Nash, San Francisco, and Russell Young, Cambridge, Mass., arrived home on the United States Shipping Board steamer Mesopotamia, which picked them up after they had given up hope. The hurricane hit the boat with a moment's warning as the boat was chugging down the Florida coast.

The men were forced to head to sea to avoid being swamped under the waves at the time and again smashed over the deck.

EARTH SHOCKS AT MT. LASSEN
Tremor in California Volcano Was Preceded by Rumbling.

By the Associated Press.

REDDING, Cal., Oct. 18.—Lassen Peak, the only active volcano in Continental United States, has been restless the last week. Seismograph reports from the Government observatory, recently installed at the base of the peak, show that a severe earthquake was recorded at 8:50 p.m. last Wednesday. The tremor was preceded by a rumble lasting about one second. Four minutes later a similar rumble was heard, followed by a slight shock.

During the night of Oct. 12, a pronounced rumble was heard, but no earthquake was recorded.

The seismograph report states that earthquakes and the accompanying rumbles are due to variation of internal pressure in the volcano.

PROPOSITION 4 LIKELY TO STAY ON THE BALLOT

Proponents Threaten to Enjoin Its Removal—Becker Won't Withdraw It Without Court Order.

OPPONENTS WANT CHANCE TO BEAT IT

Dr. Shields Against Adopting Gentry's Suggestion—Judge Priest Appeals to Voters.

Arguments for and against initiative proposition No. 4, repeal of the state prohibition law, are going forward on the assumption that the proposal will be on the ballot in the election Nov. 2.

As told yesterday, Attorney-General Gentry sent an unsolicited opinion to the Secretary of State, that the proposal should not be on the ballot, as he held that the initiative could be used only to enact a new law and not to repeal an existing law.

Secretary of State Becker today prepared a reply to the Attorney-General, in which he says he cannot take No. 4 off the ballot unless ordered by a court to do so. He says he certified the four propositions, as required by law, 20 days before the date of the election to the clerks of the 114 counties and to the Election Boards of St. Louis and Kansas City. This, he holds, takes the matter out of his hands. To make any change at this time, Becker says, the Attorney-General will have to bring mandamus proceedings against him and against all county clerks and election boards.

CERTIFICATION MADE Oct. 20.

Becker reminded the Attorney-General that Proposition 4 was sent to him last July, after the initiative petitions were filed, for the preparation of a title for it to be placed on the ballot. Becker said that if the Attorney-General had then informed him of any legal irregularity, he would have refused to certify the proposition, and its supporters could then have taken the matter into court, as provided by law.

Or, Becker said, he could have given opportunity for an injunction proceeding, to keep him from certifying the matter to the County Clerks. The time for all this passed, Becker said, when he had the certification Oct. 20.

The Secretary of State received a telephone message from Mrs. Nelle Berger of Springfield, State president of the W. C. T. U., urging that No. 4 be left on the ballot. He said he had received other messages to the same effect, from supporters and opponents of the repeal.

Lawyers said today that any court proceedings to remove the proposition from the ballot would have to be filed in the Supreme Court, or in the courts of each of the 114 counties and the City of St. Louis.

KNOCK IT OFF WITH VOTES

The leaders of the organized opposition to No. 4 are not now afraid of having it removed from the ballot. David W. Hill, chairman of the Executive Committee of the statewide citizens' organization against No. 4, said in a church talk last night:

"We are not afraid that it be removed from the ballot. We regret that such a wicked thing was ever placed on the ballot, but we welcome the opportunity to vote to defeat the proposition to destroy law enforcement and the nullification of the Federal Constitution.

"Our organization will not relax its fight so long as proposition No. 4 remains on the ballot. We are not taking any chances. If proposition No. 4 is removed from the ballot, the liquor organizations must take it off, or our citizens' organization will knock it off with our votes on Nov. 2 in defense of our lives, our liberty, our homes, our laws and our Constitution."

Dr. Parker Shields, State superintendent of the Antislavery League, said at Cape Girardeau yesterday that the league would not relax its fight on proposition No. 4, and that he expected to see it remain on the ballot. Charles M. Hay, St. Louis lawyer, hoped it would remain on the ballot, as he believed the discussion of the matter had been of educational value, and the overwhelming defeat of the proposal, he expects, would be of further moral value.

Former Judge Henry S. Priest, head of the Missouri branch, Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, said today that he personally desired to have Proposition No. 4 remain on the ballot, regardless of its prospect of carrying, and as a matter of principle. If the Attorney-General thinks it should be removed from the ballot, Judge Priest asked, "Why doesn't he go into the Supreme Court and apply for an order of court against the Secretary of State?"

Judge Priest was asked what his advice was obtained by his organization, relative to the pro-

LACLEDE GAS CO. VALUATION LIKELY TO BE $55,000,000

Public Service Commission Expected to Fix That
Purposes.

The Missouri Public Service Commission is expected shortly to fix at approximately $55,000,000 the valuation of the Laclede Gas Light Co. for rate-making purposes.

The company, in arguments closing a long hearing, asserted that its valuation was in excess of $74,000,000. The city contended that no more than $40,000,000 should be allowed. This was approximately the figure at which Charles A. Munroe and a small group of associates purchased control of the company in 1924.

The commission for the last two weeks has had the $55,000,000 valuation tentatively in mind. However, it has been debating the sum of intangible values to be added to the bare bones physical value of the property and the final decision on this element may alter the figure appreciably.

A valuation of $55,000,000 would justify the Laclede company in seeking an increase in gas rates charged in St. Louis, now $1 a 1000 foot cu.

However, officers of the company have stated repeatedly that they seek to reduce, not increase rates here. A $55,000,000 valuation would prevent the city from successfully prosecuting any motion for a reduction in rates upon the basis of the present operation.

The company, in its valuation case, also suggested that the commission permit it to lower the quality of its gas below 600 British thermal units. The city replied that any reduction in heat units should be accompanied by a proportional reduction in rates.

The discussion has brought out the fact that no state official is definitely charged with the duty of deciding whether initiative and referendum proposals are legal. The Secretary of State's duty is only to determine that the number of signatures is sufficient, and the Attorney-General's duty, so far as the statute provides, only to write a title for each proposal which will present it to the voters impartially. Any dispute over the legality of a proposition, therefore, becomes a matter for court action.

An address by Judge Priest, in support of No. 4, was issued yesterday. It headed "Proposal No. 4 as a Paramount Issue."

In this address the Missouri prohibition law is spoken of as "the Missouri Volstead act." It is declared to be "of doubtful validity under our Constitution, drastic, cruel and infamous."

Speaking of the planks against No. 4 in the Republican and Democratic State platforms, Judge Priest writes: "We feel that our cause has been betrayed. The leading candidates of both parties are silent, because each party has given an excuse for silence by a plank in opposition to proposal No. 4. When one senatorial candidate thus surrenders his consistency and the other his moral issue, with his own sense of morality involved, this political strategy leaves us without a candidate to represent this vital question, manifestly the most important in the field of statecraft. Under the primary law this chicanery shuts us out from having a candidate of our own in the field."

13 DROWN WHEN SHIP SINKS

Steamer Guide Founders in St. Lawrence 16 Persons Saved.

By the Associated Press.

QUEBEC, Oct. 18.—Unable to get into the life boats when the cargo of the steamship Guide shifted suddenly in high seas and she founded in the Lower St. Lawrence, 11 persons, hanging on to the boats, dropped off one by one into the icy water and were drowned, according to the story told by the chief engineer of the Guide. Capt. Guineau and one of the passengers were drowned when their boat collided with a rescue schooner.

Sixteen passengers and members of the crew were saved.

NEW RECORD MADE IN BUILDING

Missouri contracts for new building and engineering work last month totaled $19,399,700, the highest September figure on record, the F. W. Dodge Corporation announced today.

This, however, represented a decline of 42 per cent from August to this year. The total for the first nine months of 1926 was $152,691,400, an increase of 6 per cent over the corresponding period last year.

The statement of A. S. Page, head of a fire charge at Sullivans, that Mrs. McPherson paid him $10,000 to pose as one of her kidnappers, thus far has failed to draw comment from defense attorneys. County officials continue to scout his story. Page said he had served a term for forgery in the Ohio State Penitentiary in 1916 and that he was released from the Duluth, Minn., county jail June 4, last.

Mrs. McPherson is suffering with an abscess below the left knee. It was reported she had a temperature of 101 1/2 degrees.

NEW ATTACK IN M'PHERSON CASE

Former Secretary of Dead Lawyer Says Evangelist Asked Her to Continue With His "Work."

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18.—Miss Bernice Morris, secretary of the late R. A. McKinley, blind lawyer of Long Beach, by whom the State will try to prove that Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist of Angelus Temple, conspired to produce false evidence to support her kidnapping story, resumed the stand today at the hearing of the evangelist and others on a charge of criminal conspiracy.

PAIR IDENTIFIED IN 15 ROBBERIES ARE MURDER SUSPECTS

Children Who Saw Killing of George Dozier, Grocery Manager, Will Look at the Prisoners.

YOUTHS QUESTIONED, DENY EVERYTHING

Victims Stream Through Headquarters, Many Recognizing W. E. Guthrie and Clyde Yewell.

Identified as robbers by 15 storekeepers held up in recent weeks, William E. Guthrie, 19 years old, and Clyde Yewell, 18, were ordered held without bond today, suspected of murder, when Chief of Detectives Kaiser reopened investigation of the killing of George Dozier, 47, manager of the store at 3755 Cote Brillante avenue Sept. 23.

Dozier was mortally wounded by one of two men who fired when he misunderstood an order to "turn around." The only witnesses were two children, boy, 9, and a girl, 12, who will be taken to Police Headquarters to look at the prisoners.

A constant stream of robbery victims, mostly Kroger store managers, has been coming to police headquarters since Guthrie and Yewell were returned here Saturday night from Bonnville, Mo., where they were arrested while speeding toward Kansas City in a rented automobile. Six of the Kroger managers who were robbed within an hour Friday morning by two men, identified the pair, and the other identifications were by Kroger managers and druggists who were robbed since Oct. 1.

Supporting the identifications, police are holding $520.75 in bills and small change which were found in possession of Guthrie and Yewell when arrested. Some of the change was in wrappers of the Manchester Bank, similar to packages taken from the Kroger store at 1247 Vandeventer avenue Friday.

The prisoners were questioned about the robberies and the murder of Dozier, but denied everything. They insisted they won the money in a dice game but could not agree on the date or place. They asserted they were at a hotel in Clinton, Mo., Friday morning.

All victims of recent store robberies, including employees of 35 Kroger stores held up in the past two months, have been asked to appear at Police Headquarters to look at the prisoners. When identifications are complete police will seek warrants.

Both prisoners have been arrested many times as robbery suspects and were being sought when the Kroger stores were robbed Friday. Detectives were waiting at the parol office in the Municipal Courts Building that day watching for Guthrie, who was scheduled to appear there. He failed to report for the first time since being paroled from the bench by Judge Wilson A. Taylor in May, 1925, under sentence of five years in prison for an auto theft.

In December, 1924, Guthrie, who then said he was 18, was charged with stealing two automobiles. When he pleaded guilty in May, one charge was dismissed, and Judge Taylor granted the parole on the youth's representation that he "wanted to get away from bad company" and live in an honorable manner. He reported once each month until last November, when police arrested him on a Mann act charge. Judge Mix then revoked the parole, but reinstated it when nothing came of the charge. The youth was scheduled to report twice a month until May, 1927, being paroled to his father, William R. Guthrie, 1324A Goodfellow avenue.

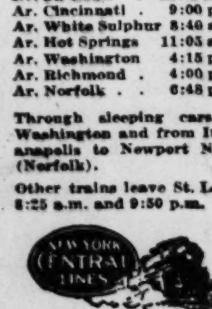

TWO OF THREE 15-YEAR-OLD MISSING SCHOOL BOYS FOUND

By the Associated Press.
PEEKSKILL, N. Y., Oct. 18.—Two of three 15-year-old boys, missing nearly a week from the Fessenden school at West Newton, Mass., were restored to their families last night.

The boy still missing is Stacey Carkhuff, son of F. G. Carkhuff, of Akron, O., vice president of the Firestone Tire Co. The other boys are Lyndon Albright of Buffalo and Francis C. B. Darlington of Ansonia, Conn. They told the police they left the school last Monday, intending to become cowboys in Texas. They reached Worcester, Mass., by train, and then hiked and begged rides as far as Peekskill.

Finding the cold too severe last night, Albright and Darlington left Carkhuff, trying to sleep beside the road, and decided to hunt shelter. A Peekskill policeman took them to the station.

The October Exhibit and Sale of Furs

Presents the Very Latest Fashions in Furs of Every Type—at Definite Price Advantages

THE knowing eye immediately identifies the Furs of this presentation—for they not only introduce new silhouettes but entirely new treatments of detail. A superb collection, indeed, from which it is a delight as well as an economy to choose a wrap of broadtail, mink, baby caracul, Alaska seal, Persian lamb or ermine in combination with sable! The majority of the garments are individual models. Sale prices range from $375 to $6500.

The Novelty Coats in sports furs, so smart for the young miss, and the service for Coats in the so-popular and so-practical furs are here in unusual combinations, specially priced at $195 to $395
(Third Floor.)

VOLSTEAD ACT

John J. Cochran Answers Attack Made on Democratic Candidate by Senator Williams.

PRESENTED AT TWO SESSIONS OF HOUSE

Measures Were Designed to Restore to States Right of Local Option in Liquor Issue.

Senator Williams' speech in Clinton, Mo., Saturday afternoon, attacking Harry B. Hawes, his Democratic opponent, on the ground that, although Hawes was seeking "yes" votes by an advocacy of amendment of the Volstead act, he had taken no steps as a member of Congress to liberalize the act, was answered yesterday by Hawes' secretary, John J. Cochran, Democratic nominee for Congress in the Eleventh District. Cochran spoke at 1439 Warren street.

He reviewed the bills Hawes had introduced and said that Hawes' position as reflected in those bills was the same as the position he had taken in this campaign.

"It is true Mr. Hawes refused to join the so-called 2.75 per cent bloc," said Cochran. "He introduced bills of his own thought in the Sixty-eighth Congress, and on Dec. 7 last, the first day of the Sixty-ninth Congress, he reintroduced these same bills.

Recalls Hawes' Statement.

"When Mr. Hawes introduced the bills he issued a statement giving his reasons for his action, as he does on all public questions. I recall part of this statement, which read, 'There can be no difference of opinion among honorable men and women about law enforcement or the maintenance of the letter and spirit of the Constitution. So, while a member of this House, I shall not knowingly advocate the passage of a law which will violate the provisions of the Constitution.'

"He went on to explain that in drawing his bill he had used the exact language of the eighteenth amendment with a change of only three letters, substituting for the word 'intoxicating' the word 'non-intoxicating.'

"This bill sought to remove from the Volstead law the prohibition against the manufacture or sale of nonintoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, leaving the question of percentage of what is or what is not intoxicating for determination by a jury, upon appeal, for final decision by our Supreme Court.

Nature of Hawes' Bill.

"Mr. Hawes pointed out that no matter what definition might finally be agreed upon as to what was an intoxicating beverage, no State would be denied the right by Congressional action, of placing its own limitation in the matter of percentage of alcoholic content. He said that even though Congress raised the point of intoxication from $\frac{1}{2}$ of 1 per cent to the point of intoxication, this would not deny the right of any State or any country in a State from keeping the limitation at $\frac{1}{2}$ of 1 per cent. The bill, he argued, simply restored the right of local option, with the limitation prescribed in the eighteenth amendment on intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes.

"Mr. Hawes advocated, that in the interest of temperance, the Volstead law should be amended so as to conform to the eighteenth amendment, which only prohibits the sale of intoxicating beverages. He said a vast portion of our country did not subscribe to the eighteenth amendment and were dissatisfied and discontented and it was contended by some of our best citizens and various organizations that if the Volstead law was amended in such manner that it would permit the manufacture and sale of beverages of a light alcohol content, which are not intoxicating, but which would be more acceptable, agreeable and palatable, much of this dissatisfaction would disappear.

Suggested as Experiment.

He suggested that the experiment be tried simply by amending the law so as to conform with the eighteenth amendment, so that the demand for change, coming from millions of our citizens, may be satisfied, and at least the experiment attempted of substituting for the "bootlegger's" product a more acceptable nonintoxicating beverage. He said while the bill would not violate the eighteenth amendment it would satisfy, please, and make content millions of our people who now in their anger are beating down respect for all law.

"Mr. Hawes has made his position perfectly clear, has never sought to change his attitude on the question, which is well known to the dry Democrats of the State, who are actively supporting him.

Orders Defunct Bank Dividend.

RICHMOND, Mo., Oct. 18.—An order by Judge Hughes in the Circuit Court here today authorized a first payment to depositors of the Richmond Trust Co., which closed its doors April 7, 1926, of 50 cents on the dollar. The payment will total $205,526.85. Almost $500,000 has been collected since the bank closed.

NATIONAL RADIO EXPOSITION OPENS AT THE COLISEUM

Exhibits of Commercial Value in Excess of $1,000,000 by 121 Firms Are on Display.

SHOW TO CONTINUE THROUGHOUT WEEK

Programs of Speeches and Entertainments Will Be Broadcast and Announcers Heard.

The second annual Southwest National Radio Exposition, presented by the St. Louis Radio Trades Association, opened at the Coliseum today and will continue daily throughout the week, from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m.

On exhibition are the products of 121 of the country's leading manufacturers and distributors of radio receiving sets and accessories, constituting a display of the triumphs of radio engineering and research within the past 12 months.

Registration of dealers, hundreds of whom were reported in attendance from St. Louis' trade territory, was the order of business this morning. The first of a series of dealers' trade meetings, to be held daily from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. in the Coliseum, also was held. Headquarters of the Exposition are at Hotel Marquette.

Exhibits Worth $1,000,000.

The Coliseum has undergone a decorative transformation. The exhibits, of a commercial value estimated in excess of $1,000,000, are set in uniform rows beneath a huge purple canopy. At the south end of the Coliseum there has been constructed the Crystal Studio, a glass-enclosed room, 30 by 30 feet, from which the programs of speeches and entertainment will be broadcast over the air and amplified to the visible Coliseum audience by a special set of amplifiers.

While the doors of the Coliseum opened today to the public at 2 p.m., the Exposition will be officially started at 8:30 p.m. by Mayor Miller, who will be introduced by Harold J. Wrape, president of the St. Louis Radio Trades Association. The speakers will be introduced by Graham McNamee of Station WEAF, New York, who is heard nightly over Station KSD, guest announcer of the occasion. The opening ceremonies will be broadcast over Station KMOX.

Throughout the week five St. Louis stations—KSD—KMOX, KFVE, WIL and WSBF—will join in broadcasting the entertainment programs. This afternoon Station KFVE is on the air and tonight Station KMOX. McNamee will be guest announcer today and tomorrow, to be followed by Frank Westphal of WENR, Chicago, on Wednesday and Thursday evenings; Thursday and Friday afternoons by George Allen of WOK, Chicago, and Friday evening and Saturday by Harold R. Hough of Station WTAB, Ft. Worth, known to radio fans as "The Hired Hand."

Design of the Exhibits.

Exhibits have been designed to interest the dealer and owner, and range in their displays from the tiniest parts of a receiving set to consoles. Accessories on display include the newest cone or disc loud speakers and all the latest developments in eliminators and power amplifiers, combination "A" batteries and trickle charges, and new style straight line frequency condensers, rheostats, potentiometers, grid leaks, diodes, etc.

In addition to the programs of entertainment to be broadcast, the Exposition will present nightly from 8:30 to 9:30 o'clock, from a specially constructed stage at the north end of the Coliseum, a vaudeville program of singing, dancing, orchestral numbers and specialty acts, including a Charleston contest.

About $3000 in prizes in the form of receiving sets and accessories will be awarded in the various contests and drawings. There will be daily attendance prizes, and a treasure hunt for prizes will be conducted by Station KMOX. Details to be broadcast from the Crystal Studio.

Meeting of Broadcasters.

In connection with the Exposition, a meeting of the National Association of Broadcasters in this district will be held Wednesday at Hotel Mayfair. Visiting dealers and exhibitors and employees will be guests at a dinner Thursday night at Hotel Marquette.

IMPORTED QUAIL FOR MISSOURI

Birds Trapped in Mexico to Be Released Here.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 18.—Missouri's quail population will be increased by several thousand birds of the Mexican variety, to be imported next spring for distribution throughout the State by the Game and Fish Department.

Arrangements for the purchase of these birds virtually have been completed. They will be trapped during the winter in Mexico. It was pointed out by the department that no state will allow the exportation of quails, and that Mexico was the only source of supply.

AUTO IS OVERTURNEDR. W. Huitt of Wood River Victim of Accident on Curve Near Hartford, Ill.

An automobile coach, traveling at high speed, overturned at a sharp curve near Hartford, in Madison County, Ill., at 3:30 a.m. yesterday, killing the driver, R. W. Huitt, 48 years old, a barber, of Wood River, and injuring the other two occupants.

Huitt was pinned beneath the machine and was dead when extricated, his skull having been crushed. The other occupants, E. J. Harvey, 38, and Deneen Oliver, 34, carpenters, of Wood River, were thrown from the machine and escaped with cuts and bruises.

A Coroner's verdict of accident was returned. Harvey testified at the inquest that Huitt was driving "very fast." He said they were returning home from Mitchell when the accident occurred.

Several Persons Hurt in Motor-Vehicle Accidents.

Miss Elizabeth Velyhorst, 50, of 2831 St. Louis avenue, suffered a fractured skull and a compound fracture of the right arm, and John Fasching, 44, of the St. Louis avenue address, and Edwin Wiesler, 24, of 4428 North Broadway, were cut and bruised at 1:45 a.m. today when an automobile driven by Fasching crashed into a telephone pole at 9040 Riverview drive.

Miss Bess Schierbecker, 18, of 4850 Farlin avenue, suffered fractures of the skull and left ankle at 8:30 a.m. when struck by an automobile at Delmar boulevard at Kingshighway.

Three persons were injured at 1 a.m. yesterday when an automobile in which they were riding collided with another machine at Market street and Broadway. Those injured were Newton Sussman, 21, of 5567 Waterman avenue, cuts and bruises; Miss Olive Campbell, 28, St. Regis Hotel, internal injuries and Miss Geraldine Hill, 28, 6974 Arthur avenue, lacerations of the head. The driver of the other machine deserted his car after the collision. Aracing the license number, police arrested Thomas Sweet, 34, a Negro, of 2228A Market street. He admitted the accident and was charged with driving while intoxicated, felonious flight, felonious wounding and careless driving.

Stopping for an automobile traffic signal at Jefferson and Lafayette avenues, at 6:30 p.m., an automobile driven by Joseph Farago, 20, of 824 Ann avenue, was struck from the rear by a westbound Tower Grove street car operated by Morterman Frank Hall of 2645 Allen avenue. Farago's wife, Ella, 25, suffered a possible skull fracture and a fractured leg; Farago and another passenger, Thomas Milonavits, 35, 7520 Oakland avenue, St. Louis County, were cut and bruised.

Automobile, driven by Albert Meyer of 4175 Cleveland Avenue and George Schmidt of 3613 Market Avenue, East St. Louis, collided at Tower Grove and Manchester avenues at 4:40 p.m., resulting in injury to Schmidt, his wife, Eleanor, and two other occupants of his machine. The most seriously hurt was Miss Alma Hackman, 32, of the East St. Louis address, who suffered a skull injury, lacerated scalp and cuts and bruises.

Charles Nerviani, 22, of 5137 Wilson avenue, suffered a fractured skull at 1 a.m. yesterday when an automobile he was driving collided with a parked machine in front of 4212 Shaw avenue.

Joseph Niemeyer, 41, a bricklayer, of 4520 Davidson avenue, suffered fractured ribs and Mrs. Lillian Beckman, 26, 4958 Davidson Avenue, an injured right leg at 1 p.m. yesterday when they were struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Georgia Wright, 23, of 4940 Beacon Avenue, while crossing the street in front of Mrs. Beckman's home. Mrs. Wright lost control of her car and it crashed into a porch at 4951 Davidson Avenue.

The Eureka Is Preferred

More Grand Prize Eurekas are being purchased by women than of any other single "make" of electric cleaner. Only one reason can explain this—that the more than 1,500,000 Eureka users are enjoying a particularly satisfying and efficient electric cleaner service.

It's The Eureka
"High-Vacuum" Principle

You can understand this when you see with your own eyes the Eureka "High-Vacuum" Test, as pictured above. Then you'll see how embedded dirt gives way before the terrific rush of a tremendous volume of air. Only then can you fully appreciate why the Eureka "High-Vacuum" principle of cleaning is preferred to electric carpet sweepers with many complicated parts subject to constant adjustment and replacement.

Yes, the Eureka is moderately priced and light in weight—easy to operate. Its cleaning efficiency is lasting.

Free Demonstration

"I Have Killed Your Son," Slayer Telegraphs Father

Jack Conley, Foreman, Shot Esmond Hickey of Boonville at Railroad Construction Camp in McCullough, Ala.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOONVILLE, Mo., Oct. 18.—"I have shot and killed your son, Esmond."

This telegram, received here Saturday morning by J. F. Hinckley, division superintendent of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad Co., was the first information Hickey received of the death of his son in a railroad construction camp at McCullough, Ala., late Friday.

The message was signed by Jack Conley, a foreman at the camp, where young Hickey was employed as a paymaster.

According to additional information received here, Conley, while under the influence of liquor, accused Hickey of "padding" the payroll. Hickey denied the accusation and an argument ensued. Conley is said to have purchased a revolver, after which he returned to the camp and shot Hickey four times, killing him almost instantly. Conley surrendered after the shooting.

Mr. and Mrs. Hickey left here for McCullough immediately after receiving the telegram. No word has been received from them since.

Young Hickey was 23 years old. He attended the University of Missouri and the University of Oklahoma for brief periods before enrolling as a cadet at West Point Military Academy two years ago. He was forced to leave West Point after one year because of failing eyesight. He left here to accept employment with the Alabama railroad construction crew about six months ago.

Before leaving for Alabama, J.

LEADWOOD, MO., MAN IS HELD FOR DEATH OF STEPDaUGHTER

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FLAT RIVER, Mo., Oct. 18.—George Forrester, 34 years old, of Leadwood, Mo., is held under $1,000 bond for appearance before the grand jury in St. Francois County as the result of an inquest Thursday into the death of Iles Virginia Bruce, 6, Forrester's stepdaughter.

Evidence introduced at the inquest showed that Forrester had beaten the child unmercifully last June, covering its head with a pillow to smother its cries while he administered the whipping with a razor strap. The mother testified that the little one had not appeared normal since that time, having no appetite and losing strength. Physicians, who had refused to write a death certificate without an inquest and autopsy, testified that the immediate cause of death was pneumonia, but that the beating had probably caused a tubercular condition to grow from the severe bruises to the neck, back and abdomen, which so weakened the child that she was an easy victim of the disease which caused her death.

SLAIN PASTOR'S WIDOW TO TESTIFY AT TRIAL

Mrs. Hall Says She Will Take Witness Stand—Has Nothing to Conceal.

By the Associated Press.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 18.—Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall will take the stand in her own defense when brought to trial Nov. 3 on charges of the murder of her husband, the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, a choir singer.

"I shall certainly take the stand when the trial starts next month," she said. "I have nothing to conceal. Then Special Prosecutor Simpson will have to change his tactics, deal with facts before a jury and stop his campaign of suspicion and insinuations in the newspapers. When that day comes, I feel he will receive from the jury a rebuke richly deserved, and New Jersey will again be a fit place for decent people to live in."

Mrs. Hall denied that wealth or political influence sheltered her and the three other members of her family under indictment for the murders—Henry and Willie Stevens, her brothers, and Henry de la Bruyere Carpender, a cousin. The brothers will go on trial with her, and Carpender will be tried alone later.

Her own fortune, she said, never has exceeded $300,000. Willie's not more than $250,000, Henry's about $185,000 and Carpender's $140,000. The brothers inherited theirs, she said, while Carpender earned practically all of his.

"I do not consider the present investigation which resulted in the indictments, as an investigation," she said, "but a malicious persecution of myself and my family instituted by a tabloid newspaper to increase its circulation and abetted by politicians to further their own ends."

Simpson declined to comment on the interview, saying he preferred to make his answer in court.

LA FOLLETTE MAKES APPEAL TO WISCONSIN PROGRESSIVES

Senator Declares Primary Was Repudiation of "Coolidge Big Business Regime."

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—An appeal to his supporters not to be discouraged over the loss of the governorship in the recent Wisconsin primary, and to work unremittingly for the election of Gov. J. J. Blaine for Senator and other progressive Republican nominees, is made by Senator La Follette in a signed editorial to appear in the next issue of La Follette's Magazine.

"Flushed with their partial victory in the primary, the reactionary forces of the state and nation, the same forces which succeeded in nominating Fred R. Zimmerman for Governor, are now endeavoring to play the same game in the election contest for Senator," the editorial says.

Asserting that from a national viewpoint, Wisconsin "has once again repudiated the Coolidge big business regime," La Follette urged the progressives to "close ranks and prepare for the contests of 1928, firm in the conviction that truth may lose a battle, but has never lost a war."

17 MEN BLOW SIX SAFES

Loot Obtained From Chicago Firm Worth About $35,000.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Seventeen men raided the offices of the Kellogg Switchboard Co., the largest organization of its kind in the country, early yesterday, bound and gagged nine watchmen and employees, demolished six safes with explosives and made off with $5,000 in currency, $15,000 in negotiable securities and platinum worth $15,000.

Such a concentration of safe-blowers upon one object has set a new record for crime in Chicago. S. A. Dearoff, a watchman, asserts that no less than 17 robbers took part in the raid. They took possession of the entire building about midnight and worked leisurely until morning.

Ford Asked to Buy Cotton.

By the Associated Press.
GARDEN, Ala., Oct. 18.—In a telegram to Henry Ford, made public here today, Representative M. C. Allgood of the Seventh Alabama Congressional District asks him to buy 2,000,000 bales of this year's cotton crop to stabilize prices. Allgood's request said that "cotton and cotton farmers have no protection from gamblers, who have forced the price far below cost of production," and that stabilization not only would benefit the whole South but would help the Detroit manufacturer's Southern agencies.

Man Injured When Hit by Rock.
Justo Carlin, 34 years old, a Mexican, living at 207 St. George street, suffered a fractured right leg late yesterday when struck with a rock thrown by one of a group of youths in front of 2815 South Second street. Carlin, who is at city hospital, told police the rock was thrown when he voiced a protest against being called a "greaser."

As to Industries.

In a debate on the merger in Richmond Heights, Joseph Forsyth would state that many industries would move to St. Louis County, that these industries would have sufficient wealth to pay for needed improvements in the city.

The records of the St. Chamber of Commerce will show that no less than 10 industries moved from St. Louis to East Louis during the last year in order to escape the burdensome taxes imposed on industry by the city.

If the merger becomes effective, it is reasonable to believe that industries now in St. Louis City will follow the example of those in the city who moved out of State of Missouri to be rid of tax burden.

Infant Death Rate.

THE bereavement of the family as described in the letter of Oct. 6 is unfortunate, and no one would deny them the sympathy such fortune naturally warrants.

However, I feel that its record has no place in the merger controversy. The inevitability of death and taxes pertains not to St. Louis County, but to St. Louis and every other county city in the universe.

Many hundreds of children in St. Louis annually. If the rate of these children left St. Louis because of this, it would not long before the city would be populated.

Let us deal with concrete figures.

The St. Louis Chamber of Commerce frequently cites, and justifiably, the infant mortality rate as an accepted standard of the general health of the community. We are proud of the city's splendid showing, but by virtue of the city's yardstick we can be and are prouder of our own record as closed by the figures here quoted from city and county records.

Based on each 1000 population, the death rate for children under one year of age follows: C. 16.0%: St. Louis County, 55.10%.

The health of our children is sacred to us as the health of our children is to their parents and we guard and protect our children because of this. COUNTY RESIDENT

On its own bounty: The County of the County!

We dearly love St. Louis, but county-ites would stop, where every prospect pleases, we seldom need a cap.

Alas, the Wicked City.

THE St. Louis press rightfully requested that the baseball fans be good sports while the Yankees were here playing the world series. This, I contend, the proper spirit and commendable. But, why not be good sports at all times?

I think the St. Louis press is doing anything but displaying good sportsmanship at this time in the fight for the annexation of St. Louis County.

St. Louis County has, all along, more in some places, than we have to offer, minus our enormous debt, our crooked politics, innumerable fires of the lowest type, 50 gambling joints to every one in the county, and our reputation, tainted with recall movements, Mill Creek, sewer stinks, gang wars and gangster domination, a record to prove more better known in the Terminal Railway Association and City Hall gang which makes the handful of county politicians look like a Sunday school class.

Let's be good sports and shake hands with our little neighbor to the west, who isn't near what we consider her to be and what we lack the gigantic power of the press through which to fight back. Start a better government movement and then let's go to the county and ask her to become a part of our shake fair.

City-County Merger Booster Says Let's All Unite in One, Big, Prosperous Community

Straight Business Proposition, Adds Another—Anti Argues Consolidation Will Drive Out Suburban Industries.

POST-DISPATCH readers continue to debate the county-city merger question, through letters written to the editor. Some of the arguments lately submitted follow, in part.

CANTLEY DENIES MERGER AFFECTS COUNTY BANKS

State Finance Commissioner Explains That Small Depositories Need Not Increase Capital.

COMPARATIVE COST OF SCHOOLS SHOWN

Consolidation Committee Asserts Union Would Give County Better Facilities for Less Money.

An argument of opponents of the county-city merger, which is to be voted on a week from tomorrow, that many small banks in St. Louis County would be forced out of business by the consolidation under the law fixing minimum capital for banks in cities, was punctured by State Finance Commissioner Cantley in a statement at Jefferson City today.

Missouri law fixes a graduated scale of minimum capital for banks according to size of the communities where located. The minimum in St. Louis is $100,000, but many banks in St. Louis County have only $10,000.

Commissioner Cantley gave of official assurance that no change in the capital of county banks would be ordered, as courts have ruled against such retroactive proceedings and it is the established custom in Missouri not to order bank capital changed simply because population of a community increases after the establishment of a bank or because a city is raised in legal classification.

St. Louis County banks, however, will be required to set aside annually 10 per cent of their net earnings to increase their surpluses, if the merger is approved, the Commissioner said. This would amount to using part of the profits to strengthen banks for their own benefit. The Commissioner has received many letters and telegrams from county bankers inquiring about this question.

COST OF SCHOOLS COMPARED.

A statement containing comparative figures on the cost of public education in St. Louis and St. Louis County has been issued by the City-County Consolidation Committee to support the contention that the merger of city and county would be advantageous in school matters to parents, children and school authorities.

"School directors of consolidated and common school districts in St. Louis County should welcome the opportunity to transfer their heavy responsibility to the St. Louis Board of Education," the statement said. "Parents of children in county schools should see that the merger would assure improved educational facilities and lighten the financial burden."

SHANGHAI READY TO MEET ADVANCE OF CANTON ARMY

GOVERNOR OF ONE PROVINCE REVOLTS

Cantonese Army, Under Russian-Trained General,
Has Advanced 700 Miles

By the Associated Press.
SHANGHAI, Oct. 18.—Shanghai, considered the port and pivot point in numerous campaigns conducted by rival Chinese Generals for five years, has become an armed camp, once more, ready to wage defensive warfare against the advancing Cantonese army which has been blazing a path of death and destruction from the south.

The defender of this gateway port of China, Gen. Sun Chaunfang, who controls the five Eastern Chinese provinces, faces two major reverses, the loss of a munitions ship at Kukliao, and the defection of Hsialow, civil Governor of Chekiang province, who was reported to be in revolt at Hangchow.

The munitions ship, the Kuan Yung, was blown up in the Yangtze River Saturday, with the loss of 1200 of the 1500 troops aboard. This is considered a major misfortune for Gen. Sun.

With the aid of defensive units, Shanghai experienced a tranquil Sunday and there was no outward evidence of warlike developments except along the Hangchow railway, southern approach to this city.

On Saturday Sun's troops tore up railway tracks and placed artillery along the right-of-way, anticipating attack. Yesterday this force was moved in from Soochow.

Hangchow was cut off from communication with Shanghai Saturday. Information which filtered into Shanghai indicated that Sun's troops had dynamited under all ready to touch it off should the southern troops force their way towards that city, which is 157 miles south of Shanghai.

From Hangchow reports were received stating that the advancing southern army had begun the demolition of the ancient walls of Wuchang. This procedure, the report said, will be followed in the event of every city captured in the northern advance.

As a measure of precaution, the Chinese government has declared a nationalization of the mines nearer at a cost to the nation in this dispute to the United States, was condemned by Chancellor Hadley of Washington University, in his address yesterday at the dedication of a war memorial monument in Maplewood.

"It is unworthy of this great, prosperous nation," Chancellor Hadley said, "to deal with the loan to our allies, who were fighting in a common cause and making greater sacrifices than we are, as if they were loans for a commercial or speculative enterprise."

"Manifestly, even from the low standpoint of our own business interests, we should so deal with this problem as to help to promote the industrial and financial rehabilitation of the heavily burdened and sorely stricken countries of Europe."

Shall the Guilty Escape?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

JACK TUCKER, bell boy at the Majestic Hotel, shows William Allen Rutherford to a room. William Allen Rutherford deliberately shoots him to death. Murder in at least the second degree. This crime calls for penitentiary service, minimum.

The case came to trial. One change of venue was taken. One assistant of the Prosecuting Attorney resigned, one minute declaring he would not be the scapegoat in the case. He recalled his resignation the next moment. Another attorney was tried, charged with trying to act on both sides of the case. He acted as if he was assistant prosecutor when the Judge asked if all were ready for the case. This person answered "yes." The Judge before whom the case was tried accepted a request from the prosecutors for a $500 fine and excused himself by saying he knew nothing of the facts in the case and that he thought he must accept the recommendation of the Prosecuting Attorney.

The prosecuting side made a plea that important witnesses could not be had and that they feared they could not make a case. The facts are that some of the witnesses were in the court room at that moment and others were in the city or had left their addresses so they could be had when called on. Very little effort was made to procure witnesses.

This case looks shady, is shady and smells to high heaven. Are we to allow it to pass and do nothing? No. I say no. Arise, citizens of our dear city, in your might of integrity and assert your power. How?

M. C. LINTHICUM.

County Defects.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch. THE objections of Mr. Max Stopp to annexation seem to me to be very weak, considering the following facts.

First, how about our most valued institutions, our schools? Last year our Normandy school ran entirely out of money and all that kept it going for the balance of the term was contributions by individuals in the school district. I know this for I know different ones that subscribed their share to keep the school running.

Next look at our sewers, whew! Any that we have are a disgrace to a slaughter house. Come out here and smell them.

Here we use less lights and our bill is always as high and usually higher than in the city.

Our streets? Yes, one or two of them are paved; others have ocean waves and in winter, sink holes. Little attempt is made to repair them.

What's the use? I might go on almost indefinitely. Let us merge with St. Louis and get a policeman or two. All we have on our block is one lone night watchman who goes around with a big night stick and everything while he thumps the sidewalk hard enough to be heard a block away. Is that kind of watching the kind that protects? Any powder would say "Lay low! Here comes the night watch!"

Where Is "Bill" Blackstone?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I AM writing to you to see if you can locate my son for me. I am an ex-veteran of the World War; am located here at the national home, have no cash and am unable to work, having been disabled ever since the war. I haven't heard from my son for about one year now. Last address I had of him was General Delivery, St. Louis, Mo.

His name is Harry Walter Blackstone, but goes by the name of "Bill" Blackstone. He is 23 years old, or will be in December; about 5 feet 6 or 7 inches tall, weighs about 140, as near as I could guess.

A. W. BLACKSTONE.

A "Still" Candidate.

ALTHOUGH the Missouri Legislature put one over our watchers during the last two years by raising the required number of petitioners for political action over fivefold, some of our single taxers may presume that I am still a candidate for the U. S. Senate. Well, then, very frankly, I'd rather abolish it than be it. It was Senator Reed who dared call attention to the Senate's "complete surrender to plutocracy" on its own floor.

And to lift it unto the height of our great argument—that the earth is the birthright of all mankind, attainable only by "abolishing all taxation save that upon land values"—is a task for which there isn't enough moral force in the world, and perhaps never will be. Thoughtful men no longer have any abiding faith in the perpetuity of our existing institutions of life. Didn't Jefferson and Lincoln threaten the "sacred" institutions of their time? "Latifundia perdidit," Italian, said Pliny. Couldn't Secretary Mellon inform us about what they are doing to America, if he dared?

CHAR. LISCHER.

MR. FILENE TESTIFIES.

Edward A. Filene has added his name to the impressive list of big business men who have been telling the Post-Dispatch that they do not believe a high tariff is necessary for the continued prosperity of American industry. Edward A. Filene, president of William Filene's Sons Co. of Boston, is one of the country's greatest merchants. He need not introduce himself. His views carry the weight given them by a lifetime of brilliant and successful business leadership.

Filene's general opinion of protectionism coincides with those expressed in the Post-Dispatch recently by Benjamin Winchell, president of the Remington Typewriter Corporation; Jackson Johnson, chairman of the board of the International Shoe Co., and John Jay Watson, president of the International Agricultural Corporation. These men, all acute students of the things which affect big business, unite in pronouncing a fiction the old doctrine of protectionism that a high tariff is the salvation of American industry.

The high tariff is costing the American consumer as indicated by Filene's statement that big business charges profits on the protection granted it by the tariff. Thus, on an article costing a dollar to make and on which there is a tariff of 50 cents, the manufacturer figures his profit on the basis of $1.50. Assume his profit is 30 per cent. With no tariff, the article would sell at $1.30; with the tariff, it brings $1.95.

It is Filene's belief that mass production, with high wages and low prices to stimulate consumption, makes a protective tariff unnecessary. The principle under mass production is that industry makes the greatest profits by taking the smallest profit per piece. Under this principle, there is no danger that the United States would be flooded with European products for the reason that our cost of production will be less than that of foreign industries.

Filene does not advocate a low tariff on altruistic grounds, but on what he calls enlightened selfishness. He says that the enlightened selfishness of American producers will make them learn that they can sell more goods within reach of the masses of consumers if the tariff is reduced to its lowest possible point. Such a reduction, to carry out the idea, would reduce prices, thereby increasing purchasing power and production. It would wreck the artificial price scale now maintained by a staggeringly high tariff wall.

The Post-Dispatch believes that tariff reform is one of the pressing issues before the American people today. It believes the policy of protectionism as applied in the Fordney-McCumber tariff is unsound and uneconomic. It is a terrific hardship on the people because of the high prices that follow in its wake.

Aside from that, as Filene shows, it is at variance with the aims and ambitions of big business in the direction of mass production and mass consumption. Under the testimony of Messrs. Filene, Winchell, Johnson and Watson, old fictions and superstitions of protectionism crumble and give way.

GOOD NEWS.

A piece of news that transcends in importance even the coming of Queen Marie is that a German, Dr. Hans Eisner, has found a way to photograph the interior of the stomach. These are glad tidings for suffering humanity, living and yet to be born. Dr. Eisner's is the latest of a series of devices, beginning, we suppose, with the X-ray, that illuminate the inside of the human body and make it possible for doctors to study it.

Until the last few years the inside of the living human body has been an unexplored realm. The Christopher Columbus of the laboratory, the Magellans of medicine, are making it known. Powerful X-rays pierce the skin and chart the bone structure. Prettily colored dyes, inserted in the body, go magically to a desired spot and are solving old mysteries.

Stanley, rummaging around in darkest Africa, had an easy job compared with the men whose job it is to peer into the human body, see how it works. We know nothing about Eisner's invention. It may not be a successful one. But it shows what scientists are doing. It shows how wonderfully ingenious they are in their struggle to unravel the secrets of nature.

CALIFORNIA'S NEW PATRON SAINT.

If you have gone to California you know how the saints possess that charming State. What is not San Santa, and when you have seen all the Sants and all the Santas you have seen California.

Very well. California has a new saint—Saint Andrew. Who do you think he is? Don't laugh. He is Andrew J. Volstead, father of the Volstead law.

California has been blest, but no other saint has blest it as Saint Andrew has. He has made the wine-grape industry of California prosper as nothing in the State has ever prospered. In 1918 California shipped 60,000 carloads of wine grapes and 12,000 of table grapes. Last year she shipped 60,000 carloads of wine grapes and 15,000 of table grapes. This year she will ship 90,000 carloads of grapes, of which 75,000 will be wine grapes.

Moreover, wine grapes command better prices than table grapes. They averaged last year $1.73 a package in New York, as against $1.35 for table grapes. They are also just as prolific, just as easy to raise. California sold her grape crop last year for $55,000,000. Paradoxically, too, the United States Government, while trying to enforce prohibition with one hand, is encouraging California grape culture with the other. The Agricultural Department has shown the people of California how to get around the Treasury Department.

So there is no other saint in California like the blushing Saint Andrew.

PAINT BRUSH HANDLES AND BOB WHITES.

The duty on paint brush handles has just been reduced one-half by Mr. Coolidge under the powers granted him by the flexible provisions of the tariff law, which permit him to lower or increase tariff rates.

It is the second time Mr. Coolidge has used these powers to lower tariff rates. The first time he did so the commodity affected was live bob white quail.

Paint brush handles and bob white quail represent his only departures from a protectionism which believes in changing a tariff rate only to increase it. We hope the quail and brush handle "interests" will not consider these major heresies.

To Indiana politicians Stephenson is far from being an EX-dragon.

THE CITY MARKET.

It is difficult to understand how the promoters of the new $1,000,000 city market could have helped foreseeing that it was doomed to failure.

From a transportation point of view the city market is extremely difficult to reach. The courageous automobile, after passing Twelfth boulevard, from necessity, struggles slowly and painfully forward in a maze of congested traffic, and on reaching the market seldom finds a place to park. The street car rider, market bound, suffers the same delays in time.

We submit that nowhere are food products more attractively displayed, nor of finer quality, than in this building. Housewives admit the economy as measured in mere money of marketing there, but they seldom feel that this counterbalances the physical and mental wear and tear to which they are subjected by the trip.

Possibly with an adequate rapid transit subway system the life of the city market might be prolonged a few years and made to pay, but, after all, Comptroller Nolte sounds the right note when he suggests that it would have been better originally to have devoted the entire building to garaging.

The municipal garage part is an admitted financial success. If the entire structure were used for this purpose it would not make a dent on the number of cars looking for a place to roost.

BORAH AND THE REFERENDUM.

Mark Sullivan must be mistaken about the reason why Senator Borah will not participate in the New York senatorial campaign. Mark thinks it is because Borah disliked the New York referendum proposing that the states fix the alcoholic content of liquor. It is well known that the Idaho Senator is against that referendum, which he denounces as an effort to nullify the Constitution.

However, he is doing for Senator Williams what he will not do for Senator Wadsworth, though Missouri, too, is voting upon the liquor issue under the referendum. We do not doubt that Senator Borah regards the Missouri movement very much as he does the one in New York, but he is not for that reason staying out of Missouri. The greater likelihood is that Borah dislikes the Wadsworth record on the World Court, whereas Williams pleased him. The one voted for it, the other against.

The great Idahoan is for prohibition because he politically must, but he is not posing in opposition to the World Court. He is against it heart and soul. He seems also to be against anybody who was for it.

MR. SARGENT'S PERTURBATION.

Attorney-General Sargent has added to the cares of his portfolio some perturbation concerning the rising generation. The children of today, as he sees them, are not trained in obedience as were the youngsters of his own time of childhood. He goes on to say that we now hear on every side that children should not be made to do what is distasteful to them, but that their lives should be made pleasant, and to the Attorney-General, that seems too bad.

Still, it may be just as well that the old order changes. If the Cabinet Minister from rock-ribbed Vermont will take time to think it over, he will recall that the child injured to Puritanical discipline did not always grow up to be a lovely character.

There were even those of the strait-laced period, when children were to be seen and not heard, who fled from the paternal roof tree at the earliest opportunity, some to become horse thieves while others became statesmen or traction magnates.

It was progress when people learned that children are not all alike, and that no hard and fast rule should be made to apply to all of them. The idea that sparing the rod would spoil the child has been pretty well eliminated from most of our schools, and comparatively few homes any longer take the rule seriously. From the Puritan point of view, that is a sad state of affairs, but the children seem to like it pretty well, and several of them will turn out all right, despite what seems a handicap from the Green Mountain perspective.

In fact, there are several matters more important than strict obedience to every rule of petty tyranny, and a larger liberty to follow natural inclinations probably is one of them. A great deal of the old-fashioned discipline, the passing of which Mr. Sargent deplores, was predicated on the mean disposition, it is hard to say, of the Puritan. Gentlemen, cannot you think of something else? Or can you think that the "Parade" first came to these hospitable shores, it was welcome. But artists all agree, and some of them, one becomes rather tired of the same thing. Weary and restless, they even revile them, but one does not love them. There were more orchestral concerts in New York last winter than there were in Berlin. The town is more theaters, and far better ones, than London. It is hard for me to fancy any rational man being loving New York. Does he love bartenders? Or interior decorators? Or elevator starters? Or the head-waiters of night clubs? No, one delights in some functionaries, and perhaps one respects them, and even reveres them, but one does not love them. FORECAST 40 PER CENT FUEL
SAVING WITH HEAT METER

Device Said to Measure One Two-Hundredth-and-Fifty-Thousandth of Ounce of Coal Productivity.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 18.—A supersensitive "heat meter," which is said to be able to measure the quantity of heat given out in a minute from one two-hundred-and-fifty-thousandth of an ounce of burning coal, was under demonstration here today in the laboratory of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers at the Bureau of Mines.

The instrument, perfected after five years of experiment, is expected to aid in decreasing the coal bill of the American householder by furnishing him with the accurately measured "heat loss" values in various types of building material and methods of building construction.

Reduction of the amount of fuel required to heat a given building by as much as 40 per cent is said to be possible through the utilization of data secured by the "heat meter."

It is stated that so much heat escapes from the average home through inferior construction and use of materials of high heat conductivity that if it were sifted through the walls in the form of the coal it represents, it would cover the average community with a black carpet.

aign. A scattered canvas of some city voters showed the committee there was opposition to the plan here, it was stated.

About 50 meetings will be held in the county this week by the anti-annexation committee, which is making strenuous efforts to see that a heavy vote is cast. Proponents likewise desire a big vote, each side thinking this will be helpful to its cause. Precinct organizations of the Committee Opposed to Annexation in each of the 121 precincts of the county comprise 5 to 50 men and women, it is asserted. The committee has held 348 meetings in the county.

Miss Adela J. Niesen of the Greater St. Louis Club for County Women spoke in favor of the merger at Christian Brothers' College, Clayton, this morning. Representatives of her organization, the County Annexation League and the Greater St. Louis Committee will be busy every evening this week speaking in behalf of the proposal, sometimes in debate. Meetings so far announced are:

Tonight—University City Hall, Lutheran Church at Overland, Manchester and Denny roads, Kirkwood.

Tomorrow—Ferguson High School, Corpus Christi Hall, Jennings; Maplewood High School, Shrewsbury, Valley Park Chamber of Commerce at Sacred Heart Hall, Brentwood (women's meeting at 2 p. m.)

Wednesday—Pine Lawn, Thursday—Knights of Columbus Hall, Maplewood.

Friday—St. Louis Town Club, Eureka.

Saturday—Webster Groves Armory, Manchester Lyceum.

civilization. When I first moved to the suburbs, I did so because I was dissatisfied with certain features of city life, the principal one being too much politics. After my long residence in the county I am convinced that the politics of the county is even more deplorable than the city, and that the political clans of the county are more selfish and depraved than those of the city.

I say annexation would be of great benefit to the rank and file of the suburbs because it would give them improvements in many ways, and I think with proper consideration they can see that this is so.

Notwithstanding all arguments to the contrary, it stands to reason that their taxes would be lessened and their facilities would be vastly increased, because the march of progress would do that.

I want to express my most profound condemnation of the attitude of the Chamber of Commerce on this proposition. Running true to form as great exponents of Rip Van Winkleism, they wake up when the prospects of the proposition are in jeopardy, and their deportment is one of the greatest demonstrations of non-progressiveness that they have ever displayed, and no rebuke can be too severe for their lethargy in this matter. If they had entered the field three weeks ago and got behind annexation, its success would have been assured. It is now in doubt. Arouse the sleepers. C. N. VAN BUREN, Richmond Heights.

consequent upon such a policy and they were divided upon the means of securing external support.

Zinovieff and Trotzky pinned their hopes upon world revolution which they believed would give to Russia Great Britain's navy and America's factories. Sokolnikoff advocated the abolition of the monopoly upon State and foreign trade and the encouragement of foreign capital in Russia. The action of the leaders of the opposition in writing their epitaph means that the Russian party is determined to devote its best efforts to building up Russian territory, leaving the rest of the world to struggle along as best it can without Russian assistance.

MINER MURDERED
IN EAST ST. LOUISAugust Graminski Appar-

AS THE SLAYERKnife and Piece of Prison-

Underneath the Victim's Body.A knife and a fragment of a gold watch chain are included in the circumstantial evidence upon which East St. Louis police are holding a Negro for investigation in the murder of a coal miner last night in front of a Negro resort there at 428 North Third street.The victim of the shooting—August Graminski, 32 years old, of O'Fallon, Ill., apparently was killed when he resisted a holdup. Three witnesses, two Negro men and a woman, saw him talking to a Negro in front of the resort at 6:45 o'clock, saw a flash and heard the report of a revolver and then saw the Negro run past them with a revolver in hand.Fifteen minutes later, while detectives were still at the scene of the shooting, the witnesses pointed out a Negro in the crowd of bystanders as the man who had ran past them. He was arrested and said he was Frank Palmer, 18 years old, of 216 North Third street.A knife and a piece of watch chain, found beneath Graminski's body, were identified by Palmer's wife. Detectives report, as belonging to Palmer. In a pocket of Palmer's striped overalls detectives found a match but no chain.The witnesses who pointed out Palmer declared the slayer wore a dark suit and hat. Detectives who tried to trace the overalls worn by Palmer when he was arrested reported they were stolen last evening from a restaurant where he formerly was employed.Palmer denied he had shot Graminski.
He said he had been at work at the time at the restaurant from which the overalls had been stolen but the proprietor told policemen he had not worked there for four weeks.Graminski was shot through the temple and instantly killed. A companion with whom he had gone East St. Louis told detectives he was in the resort at the time of the shooting and Graminski was waiting for him outside.

NO PROPERTY RECORD ON SLOT MACHINE BOND

Judge Ittner Accepted Sureties Without Requiring Statement of Qualifications.

Further inquiry into the slot machine pool, which operated here for a month last April has disclosed that the two men who signed a $1000 bond in Circuit Judge Ittner's court, returnable during the pendency of the litigation, were not required to file their qualifications or addresses with the court, as is customary.

Judge Ittner told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he did not know either W. A. Rife or Erie A. Clodius, whose signatures appear on the bond. He said he did not have their addresses and had no memorandum of their qualifications. "Qualifications were given and that is all I have to say," the Judge remarked.

The Circuit Clerk's office has the bond on file but no statements of qualification and no addresses of the bondsmen.

One Identified, Other Not.

Rife has been identified as the head of the W. A. Rife Supply Co., 2108 Papin street. He is now in Canada on a visit. Clodius has not been identified. His name appears in neither the city directory nor the telephone book. The bond bears the indorsement "Approved by the court," but no other data which could have aided the Sheriff's office in collecting the bond had it been declared forfeit.

Rife will be recalled as one of the two witnesses whose names appeared on the contract entered into between Jake Katz, head of the slot machine pool, and Edgar V. Maher, local attorney, who got $2000 when Judge Ittner ruled in favor of the slot machines, although he was not an attorney of record in the case. When the Post-Dispatch disclosed this contract last summer, showing how $10,000 was placed in escrow at the Liberty Central Trust Co., contingent upon Judge Ittner's decision, Rife declined to explain what he knew about the contract. Katz hid out in Chicago and Maher refused to talk.

Usual to Require Statement.
While the acceptance of a bondsman on a bond is discretionary with a Judge, courthouse attaches declared that the rule is to require bondsmen to furnish a statement of qualifications and give their addresses. An established list of accredited bondsmen is kept for the information of Judges. If no data is furnished the Circuit Clerk when the bond is filed the Judge usually keeps such data in his own possession.

Judge Ittner required the $1000 bond when he issued a temporary restraining order March 31 last, barring the Board of Police Commissioners from raiding slot machines. The bond was to protect the Police Board from such claims for damages as might be brought against it while the temporary injunction was in effect. Rife and Clodius were liable under this bond until Circuit Judge Calhoun, to whom the case was taken on change of venue, vacated Judge Ittner's order and put the pool out of business.

The suit against the Police Board was brought by Walter R. Miller, president of the St. Louis Mint Co., and he was the principal under the bond.

Attorney Uncommunicative.

Frank Coffman, attorney of record in the case, who represented the slot machine people in court, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he did not know Rife or Clodius and could not say where they might be reached. He also professed not to know the whereabouts of his client, Walter Miller.

A reporter asked Judge Ittner why he accepted a bond from men unknown to him who did not leave their addresses. He replied: "I don't know anything about it. If that data is not on file it doesn't exist."

Reporters were seeking Clodius in hopes that he might be able to throw some light on the Katz-Maher contract or what became of the $8000 repaid in cash to Katz after Maher had got his fee.

MOTHER KILLS THREE CHILDREN AND HERSELF

Los Angeles Woman Writes
She Had Failed to Do Her Duty by Them.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18.—Because she believed she had failed in her duty as a mother, Mrs. Ada B. Chamberlain, wife of John M. Chamberlain, Los Angeles attorney, put to death her three small children, then ended her own life.

The four were found dead yesterday in a gas-filled room.

Mrs. Chamberlain, who was 40 years old, had been ill for several months.

Friends said she had been contented and the family was prosperous.

Mrs. Chamberlain disappeared from home Friday afternoon, taking the children with her. She left a note intimating that she planned to kill herself.

The husband enlisted police aid in a search which ended with the discovery of the bodies.

Earl E. Hamilton, who had rented the house to Mrs. Chamberlain, made the discovery. Hamilton had read of Mrs. Chamberlain's disappearance in the newspapers, and, becoming suspicious, visited the house.

Mother Writes as Children Die.

Police, reconstructing the tragedy, report that before putting her children to death the mother had treated them to a motion picture show. Returning to the house she had rented, she put the children to bed, gave them a sleeping powder, then turned on the gas. Then, in an adjoining room, she wrote four notes. She wrote that the two girls, Edwina, 9 years old, and Delmayra, 7, died quietly, but that the boy, John Jr., 4, moaned five times. After finishing her writing, the mother calmly walked into the gas-filled chamber.

In one of her notes, addressed to newspaper reporters, Mrs. Chamberlain explained that she could not let her children live in a world for which she had "failed to prepare them."

Failed to Put Duty First.

"I was capable of being a good mother, but just failed to put that duty first," she said. "Maude Adams said a girl cannot meet this world, without definite religious and home training. She knew and we all know. Let us have quiet, peaceful homes, fewer and better children," the message concluded.

To her husband she wrote: "Girls took sleep tablets, willingly as a germicide. I put out their clothes. Please put their coats on with the fronts open and cremate us. You cannot be happy and dying holds no terror for me. I simply must not let these children live."

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

Film—A Real Danger

To which dental science largely attributes tooth and gum disorders. To give the teeth clear color and to firm tender gums, this way is widely approved by the dental profession effective. Now two effective combatants have been found, approved by high dental authority and embodied in a tooth paste called Pepsodent.

Curdles and removes film—Firms the Gums

Pepsodent acts first to curdle the film. Then it thoroughly removes the film in gentle safety to enamel.

At the same time, it acts to firm the gums—Pepsodent provides, for this purpose, the most recent dental findings in gum protection science known today. Pepsodent also multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. And thus aids in neutralizing mouth acids as they form.

It multiplies the starch digestant of the saliva. And thus combats starch deposits which might otherwise ferment and form acids.

No other method known to present-day science embodies protective agents like those in Pepsodent.

Please accept Pepsodent test

Send the coupon for a 10-day tube. Brush teeth this way for 10 days. Note how thoroughly film is removed. The teeth gradually lighten as film coats go. Then for 10 nights massage the gums with Pepsodent, using your finger tips; the gums then should start to firm and harden.

At the end of that time, we believe you will agree, that next to regular dental care, Pepsodent, the quality dentifrice, provides the utmost science has discovered for better tooth and gum protection.

For years science sought ways to fight film. Clear teeth and healthy gums come only when film is constantly combated—removed every day from teeth.

Film was found to cling to teeth; to get into crevices and stay; to hold in contact with teeth food substances which fermented and fostered the acids of decay. Film was found to be the basis of tartar. Germs by the millions breed in it. And they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea and most gum disorders.

Thus there was a universal call for an effective film-removing method.

ROBBER KILLED IN HOLDUP

Companion Believed Wounded, Escapes; Two Others Shot.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—One robber was killed, another was wounded, and two of their six intended victims were shot today in an attempt to rob a "beer flat." A drinking party was under way when the two holdup men entered. Walter Kyle refused to obey the order to hold up his hands, and, drawing a pistol, shot it out with the intruders.

The dead robber was identified as George Hughes, 27 years old, of Chicago. His companion, who escaped, apparently was wounded. Kyle was shot once in the abdomen, and Merrill Clift, 32, another member of the party, was wounded in the right leg.

Lewis was on his way to Denver to argue a case in United States District Court there and also to make a number of political addresses.

U. S. TRIAL OF FERGUSON AND BAGGOTT PUT OFF TO JAN. 17

Former Gives $15,000 Bond to Answer State Charges in Court

Nov. 15.

The trial of Forrest Ferguson and Alfred Baggott on charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with the collapse of the Ferguson-McKinney Manufacturing Co., of which they were respectively president and secretary, was continued until Jan. 17 by United States District Judge Davis today.

Edward W. Forstel, appearing for the defendants, asked the postponement on the ground that former Federal Judge Priest, counsel for Ferguson, had been out of town. Continuance was resisted by the Government, which charges Baggott and Ferguson maligned to Eastern and local banks false statements of the financial condition of the company.

After the Federal Court hearing Forstel and Ferguson went to Circuit Judge Ossing's court, where Ferguson gave $15,000 bond to answer State charges of obtaining money and credit by false pretenses. His trial date there was set for Nov. 15. The indictment was obtained by Attorney-General Gentry, after Ferguson had been acquitted on charge of embezzlement in connection with the failure of the company.

Court Grants Application So She May File Separation Suit Against 51-Year-Old Husband.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Mrs. Katherine Heenan today was appointed guardian ad litem for her daughter, Mrs. Frances Heenan ("Peaches") Browning, for the purpose of separation suit which the schoolgirl-bride is preparing to file against Edward W. Browning, her 51-year-old husband, a wealthy real estate operator.

An affidavit filed with the application for the appointment of her mother as her guardian, "Peaches" said she would base her separation action on Browning's "cruel and inhuman treatment and his conduct toward her, which rendered it unsafe, improper and dangerous" for her to live with him.

On application of Browning, Supreme Court Justice Morshauser in Poughkeepsie, Saturday, appointed N. Orls Rockwood, an attorney of this city, as guardian for the girl. Browning filed this application in preparation for starting a separation suit against his wife on the ground of desertion.

Henry J. Golding of the New York Ethical Society, speaking at Sheldon Memorial yesterday, discussed proposals which, he said, have been made in some quarters that "the companionate," a sort of trial marriage, should be encouraged as a preliminary to lasting marriage. Separation at will would end the "companionate" association.

Golding decided against the proposal, on the ground that stability and constancy are needed in life relations, and that such experiments would tend to undermine those qualities. Such preparation for marriage would be of the wrong sort, he concluded, as a "blase attitude" would result.

Lucius H. Littauer, Lobbyist, Get Stiffest Schedule Ever Imposed.ADMITTED EXERTING "EXTREME EMPHASIS"

Role Shown in Congressional Record—Calder Ascribed Defeat to Activitity in Same Line.

By CHARLES MICHELSON.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—United States Senator James W. Wadsworth Jr. (Rep.) of New York, in his own words, brought "extreme emphasis" to bear on the Senate Finance Committee to obtain for the veteran lobbyist, Lucius N. Littauer, ex-Congressman of Gloversville, N. Y., the unprecedentedly high duties on leather, silk or cotton gloves. Former Senator Calder of New York earned for himself the title of the "Glove Senator," and ascribed his own defeat in 1922 to his activities in favor of Littauer, who since the Spanish-American War "gloves and gaunts" scandal, in which he was a central figure, has dictated Republican tariff schedules on gloves.

Littauer, variously known as "The King's Favorite," and "The Republican Boss of Fulton County," not only enlisted Calder's aid but also Wadsworth's when the Fordney-McCumber tariff act was in the making. Wadsworth dropped his usual passive role in the matter of tariffs and became a fervid advocate of the highest glove rates recorded in American tariff history. Record Shows Wadsworth's Part.

Wadsworth's voting record in the Senate discloses that, though he consistently voted for the highest rates advanced on all articles from children's toys to the Mellon aluminum products, he took little part in the debates until the glove schedules were reached.

From his own words, found on page 10,477 of the Congressional Record for Oct. 20, 1922, Wadsworth's intercession with the Finance Committee in behalf of the high glove tariff, is clear.

"The Senate Committee on Finance undoubtedly gave a great deal of study to this," Wadsworth stated in discussing the glove schedule, then added more candidly: "In fact, I know they did, because I was with them a part of the time."

Similarly, Wadsworth told of exerting his influence in behalf of the glove rates, for on the same day, as shown by page 10,472 of the Record, he said: "There were a very few matters which I took the liberty of bringing to the attention of the Finance Committee with what might be termed 'extreme emphasis.' One of them was the condition of the glove industry in the United States."

Said Tariff Would Cut Prices.

Advancing the extraordinary argument that the imposition of the highest tariff in history actually would reduce the prices of gloves, Wadsworth assured the Senate that there would be no profiteering by Littauer and other interests.

Apparently Wadsworth was anticipating criticism when he said (page 11,141): "Of course, whenever a glove schedule is discussed here the name of a certain ex-Congressman is always dragged in and it is charged and alleged that he is a lobbyist and that he is working for his own pocket all the time and that of no one else. The truth of this matter is that certain ex-Congressmen is not engaged in this business and has not been for years."

Littauer's biography in "who's who" for 1926-27 says that he is "now extensively engaged in development of American glove industries, leather, cotton, silk, or rayon." He is president of the Littauer Glove Corporation, The Mohawk Glove Co., the Gloversville Knitting Co. and the Fonda Glove Lining Co.

The duties which Calder and Wadsworth thus fought for and obtained are estimated at from 150 to 250 per cent on the price of a pair of gloves, which, of course, the buyer has to pay.

Girls Found Helpless From Drugs.

M. C. Pierson Caught Between Two Illinois Traction Cars.

Caught between couplings of two freight cars of an Illinois Traction System train at Bell's switch, one mile south of Edwardsville, M. C. Pierson, 27 years old, a brakeman, was crushed to death at 5 a. m. yesterday.

Pierson was switching the cars at the time he was killed, but how he happened to be caught between the couplings could not be ascertained, as no one witnessed the accident. Pierson's body was discovered, still pinioned between the cars, by other members of the crew, following his failure to continue giving signals. At an inquest into his death a verdict of accident was returned.

LAMORTE LIKELY TO BE PUBLIC CHOICE IN DASH

Small Field Will Start in Fifth Event, the Highland Purse, and Grass Maid Will Be Favorite.

FAIRMOUNT RACE TRACK Oct. 18.—Secrety won the first race here this afternoon. Little Guinea was second and Palolo third.

The third week of racing at the Fairmount Jockey Club's fall meeting will be featured this afternoon with a three-quarter mile sprint for 2-year-olds, and the Highlands purse for 3-year-olds and up. They are the fourth and fifth races on the program.

In spite of the fact that he has not won a race in six starts, H. G. Bedwell's La Morte is considered the best of the 2-year-old field in the fourth race. His best time for the distance is 1:12.1 with 118 pounds up, a much faster performance than any of his competitors in today's event. D. Smith will probably have the mount at 112 pounds.

Engadine and McComas have shown winning efforts at the local track and the supporters of Crossco also have something to show. But 2-year-olds are inconsistent runners and any one of the seven may get home first.

Grass Maid in the Fifth. Grass Maid, beaten in two previous starts, is still regarded a probable winner in the Highland purse event at a mile and 70 yards, principally because the other contestants have not shown much. The Harned brothers' Gilding Fox, which has failed to do any winning since his sensational streak at Havana last winter, appears to be getting back in stride and may break his series of reverses.

Saturday's crowd of 10,000 indicates that local sports enthusiasts are beginning to turn their attention to racing after having talked and thought nothing but baseball for a solid month. Track officials expect a general increase in attendance over the two previous weeks. The meeting closes one week from Saturday.

NATIONAL BOXING OFFICIALS UPHOLD ILLINOIS VERDICT

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 18.—The National Boxing Association in annual convention today indorsed the action of the Illinois Boxing Commission in suspending Phil Rosenberg and declaring his bantam-weight title forfeited to Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, Ind.

Rosenberg was suspended in Illinois for life and his title lifted when he failed to post his forfeit for his scheduled match with Taylor.

The action outlaws Rosenberg in all states which are members of the National Association as well as in Canada, Cuba and Mexico. Harry Siegel, Rosenberg's manager, also was suspended by the Illinois commission, indorsed by the national association.

An effort to bring the national organization back of a movement to remove legal restrictions now preventing the showing of motion pictures of boxing matches was made by Thomas E. Donohue of Connecticut. Consideration was deferred.

Latrobe Cogswell, chairman of the association, told the commissioners that influence of William Muldoon is the factor that is keeping the state of New York outside the national boxing association. He said that the international boxing union whose membership lists include many European countries, Australia, South Africa and Argentina, has agreed to recognize the rulings of the national association and not those of New York state.

Three new member states were announced. They are Illinois, Rhode Island and New Jersey.

A proposal to raise funds for the organization by the licensing of all fighters, managers and seconds was made by P. C. Swanson, chairman of the Louisiana commission and was referred to a committee.

TITLE SERIES TIED IN UNIVERSITY CITY

The city series for the University City municipal baseball league pennant now stands at a tie because of the victory yesterday of the Rosegrants over the Hubs, 2 to 0, in Hazelwood Park. The game resolved itself into a hurling duel. Haub besting Peebles and allowing only three hits.

The final will be played next Sunday. Manager Schemel of the Pants team, St. Louis municipal champions, has issued a challenge to the winner of next Sunday's contest.

Principia Meets Central. The Principia Academy football will open a week of strenuous training this afternoon in preparation for its game next Saturday with the Central High School eleven. Although the Cadets won from Sollers last week, Green found a number of faults to be corrected. This afternoon Coach Laughlin's Principia team will meet the Beaumont High thirds.

IN THE WAKE OF THE BIG SERIES

Hafeley, The "Goat" of the Title Games, Went From Championship to Hospital

Outfielder Who Caused St. Louis Supporters Palpitation of the Heart by His Erratic Performances, Is Convalescing After Sinus Operation.

No. 4—"CHICK" HAFELEY.

I N a hospital today recovering from his ailments, is the most misunderstood participant in the world's series, Charles Hafeley.

Hafeley has no rival for the post of series "goat." Leave it to the average fan to prove to you how his dumb, dismal fielding and general performance caused the series to be prolonged and almost lost.

But Hafeley is unjustly crowned with the footscap. He entered the series under a handicap, suffered an injury in the middle of it, played gamely on in spite of both (because the club had none to replace him) and single and later scored what proved to be the winning run, in the deciding game. He really clinched the championship.

Earlier, however, he had given the team to New York needing only one victory.

Two Mishaps in One Game.

I N this contest he fell down going after one fly and misjudged another, causing the second and defeat of Wee Willie Sheridan.

The fans raged. Nothing in the bleachers' vocabulary was omitted. He "didn't belong in the company he was playing with." And so on.

The fan didn't know that Hafeley had been warned not to play ball at the start of the campaign because of sinus trouble. The fan couldn't know that the fast balls hurled up to the plate, and the high flies in the outfield came up to him DOUBLE!

They did not know that, in the outfield collision which put Taylor Douthit out of the series, Hafeley also was injured but gamely continued playing because there was no one else to take his place. Blades and Douthit were out of the running.

Recovering From Operation.

ND perhaps they do not know that Hafeley today is recovering from a sinus operation that should have been performed before the world series began.

But today Sam Breadon is not so sure that Hafeley is not one of the real benefactors of the series, as far as the owners are concerned.

But for Hafeley's playing, the Cardinals would not have needed seven games to decide the championship and therefore the New York and St. Louis clubs would not be dividing about $175,000 more gate receipts.

It's an ill wind that blows nobody good.

But few of us like to be benefactors and yet be dubbed "Dumb Daniel."

A know that Hafeley today is sent to New York needing only one victory.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR Mathews will assume the role of professor this afternoon at St. Louis University field and replay Saturday's game with Marquette in which the Billikens were within scoring distance several times but lost the ball, twice on downs, once on a fumble, and once on an intercepted pass.

A comparison of first down and yardage gained from scrimmage shows that despite the 28-0 score, the Billikens gained 216 yards while Marquette was making 311. Yet the "Golden Avalanche" put over four touchdowns while the locals went scoreless. The "reason for that" will be elucidated today.

The top-heavy size of the score was due mainly to the inexperience of the youthful Billikens who had plenty of driving power but did not know how to use it to the best advantage when a couple of firm operating table.

The Cardinals' vocabulary was omitted. He "didn't belong in the company he was playing with." And so on.

The Dotted Line

symbolizes the sale. Dotted line results from advertising are those that bring customers into the store and up to the counter to ask for your goods.

Where the cash register is the answer

Among Chicago merchandisers who are guided in their space buying by the cash register, there is a decided preference for one paper. Chicago department stores have found that The Daily News brings the most buyers to the "dotted line"—right up to the counter to ask for goods.

Significant Testimony

The Three Wieboldt Stores have pioneered in the development of outlying department stores on a large scale. In building their business, newspaper advertising was put to an unusually severe test. And they found that "dotted line results" came through advertising in THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS. Their statement is most significant:

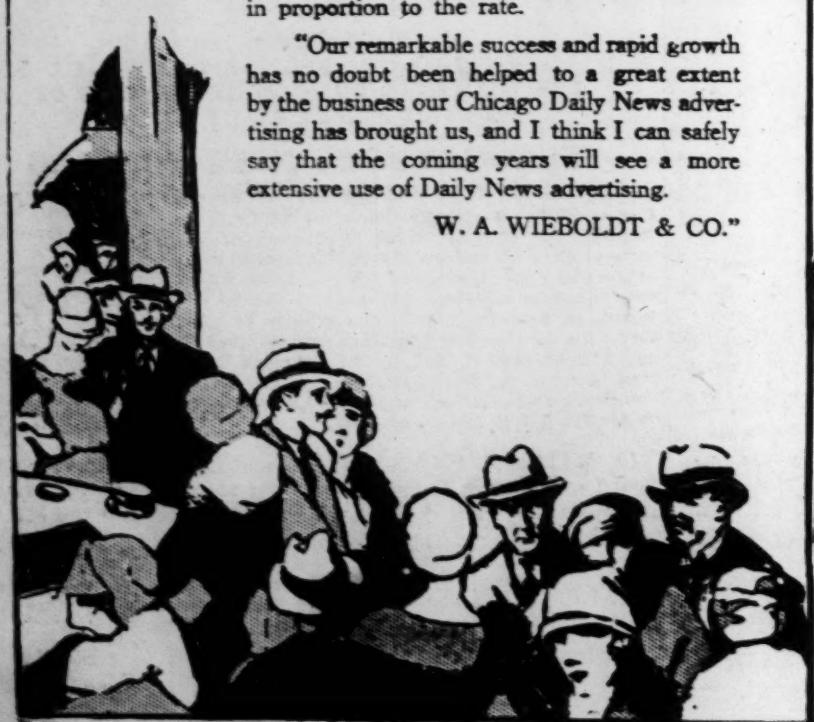

"The Chicago Daily News was selected to carry the bulk of the advertising for The Three Wieboldt stores because after extensive tests, it was found to be the most productive medium for us. A glance over our advertising lineage figures for the past year, or for many years in fact, clearly establishes this statement."

"Many of our most important sales events are carried exclusively in The Chicago Daily News. Perhaps the outstanding example of this is our 'Annual Summer Fur Sale' which has been successful far beyond our greatest expectations."

"We have always found The Chicago Daily News a most progressive newspaper—a newspaper that reaches the homes of the people—and a newspaper that produces excellent results in proportion to the rate."

"Our remarkable success and rapid growth has no doubt been helped to a great extent by the business our Chicago Daily News advertising has brought us, and I think I can safely say that the coming years will see a more extensive use of Daily News advertising."

W. A. WIEBOLDT & CO."

AMONG department store space buyers the business of advertising is curiously devoid of frills.

Their merchandising methods are susceptible of sure and rapid check . . . space in a certain paper brings business or it doesn't.

In Chicago, The Daily News carries more than twice the department store lineage of any other paper, daily or Sunday . . .

In fact, more than 39% of all the space used by Chicago department stores in the first nine months of 1926, daily and Sunday, appeared in The Daily News.

There is no better evidence of the right way to sell goods in Chicago than the fact that the largest retail market in the world uses The Daily News to move merchandise . . . because the distribution of The Daily News is to the homes that can buy . . . to the homes that comprise the Chicago market.

Whatever your type of product, it is now being sold successfully by those who prefer The Daily News for the job. For Chicago's "Loop" stores alone do a yearly volume of $275,000,000 . . . departments selling every conceivable kind of merchandise . . . the largest so concentrated retail business in the world.

What more can be said for the tremendous buying power that must lie back of it? The rich growing, vital commercial activity that is Chicago . . . America's best market.

America's Best Market! Concentrated, accessible, growing.

A market that supports the world's richest retail business. A retail business that leads the world in developing the possibilities of the buying power around it.

Take a tip from them! Do business in Chicago. Move your merchandise with The Chicago Daily News.

Where the cash register is the answer, The Chicago Daily News is the paper to use.

THE UNHAPPY DISCOVERY

Chapter 43.

THE result of the interview between Camilla and Hartley was just what could have been expected. Clever to her fingertips and wise in the ways of men, the lovely widow succeeded in justifying herself before the rather bewildered and naturally resentful young man. She graciously took all the blame for the situation which had followed her sudden change of mind about eloping with him. She made him feel—though very delicately, for in spite of her lack of mourning apparel, she stressed the fact that she was only recently bereaved and therefore loyal to a dead husband—that she had suffered deeply for her renunciation of himself, for her noble self-sacrifice in saving him from destruction.

In the end, he found himself in a neat cul-de-sac. In all chivalry, he couldn't reject her proffered friendship—she was careful to avoid all sentimental references either to the past or the future. Nor could he inform her of his complete change of heart toward her when she was quite determined not to be so informed.

He surrendered to circumstances, cursing himself for his weakness, and vowed to leave Paris at the first possible moment.

But, in his heart, he knew he would not go. And the reason was—Doris!

He argued, logically and with fine chivalry, that he could not go away and leave her among associates of whom he distinctly disapproved. Her lack of sophistication, her way of making acquaintances everywhere, her completely innocent acceptance of everybody and everything at face value, pointed to danger ahead. He swore that he was going to do a little investigating and assure himself that this Count Romeo and the poet Ivanoff and the world-wearied dilettantes in whose company he had frequently seen her, were all they declared themselves to be. He was also going to find out, if possible, who the old chap was who hung around her so persistently. He had met the latter mysterious individual whom the Riviera crowd had dubbed "Doris' Lamb" in the street outside Doris' apartment and recognized him as the man about whom the crowd at Cannes had ragged Doris.

All of these fine resolutions he made, telling himself that any decent American would do the same for a compatriot, who found herself adrift in Paris, when in a way, he was responsible for her being there.

But in his heart, Hartley knew that he had fallen in love with Doris. When it had happened, he couldn't have told. Perhaps on the Riviera, he was already feeling her charm. Perhaps, it had its inception when he had realized what a good little sport she was to play the game for the sake of his family and Camilla's husband, and to accept the difficult situation without any undue fuss or recriminations.

He had told him quite calmly that she loathed him for his affair with Camilla, and he knew she meant it and would keep on meaning it. She was just that kind and straightforward. He was glad she had taken it that way, for he couldn't have had respect for a girl who would have accepted the situation flippantly.

But, at the same time, he felt that his chance to win her regard was killed forever. It was useless and hopeless and utterly futile to look at her with longing eyes. She would go on being barely polite to him, refusing even his friendship—and she would marry one of these foreign boudoirs. It was written in the books!

But that was why Hartley could not leave Paris, why Camilla could no longer stir the faintest flicker of the old infatuation. The scales had fallen from his eyes. More mirth no longer blinded him to the glitter of pure gold.

Doris, of course, suspected none of this. In fact, she gave no passing thought either to Hartley or to Camilla. She was much too occupied with her voice lessons and her social engagements. Her work was beginning to send her music master into transports of true Latin ecstasy. The dazzling vision of an opera debut became more clearly defined, day by day, she admitted with a resigned sigh. Everybody's ambition for her would have to be realized sooner or later. The assurance left her cold, but she went docilely on with her work, just so her Aunt Elsie and her little Cousin Henry would not have dowered her in vain.

She encountered Camilla and Hartley in a fashionable restaurant one evening when she was dining with a friend of Count Romeo's, a wealthy idler who chose Paris for his playground—the Count had described him and so his surroundings bore eloquent witness.

Hartley was looking inexpressibly gloomy and the sight of Doris and her companion produced his ready frown. Camilla, on the other hand seemed triumphant. She bowed graciously to Doris and even waved an airy hand.

Doris' companion lifted his brows inquiringly.

"My cousin from New York," explained Doris, "about

"You have relatives in Paris, Mademoiselle?" he asked in an as-tounded way, as if it were a capital crime.

Doris nodded: "Why not?" He shrugged.

"One scarcely fancies that a charming, independent young woman like you is bound by—er—family restrictions."

"I'm not," declared Doris with a laugh. "My cousin and I are far from friendly. We rarely meet."

"Our good friend, Count Romeo, tells me that you are fond of etchings, Mademoiselle. I happened to have a modest, little collection which should please you. When we have finished dining, we shall pick up some friends and go to my apartment where I will show my treasures to you."

Doris tried to recall when she could have exhibited to the Count a passion for etchings. She was not just sure what medium of art an etching was, but she recalled vaguely that Whistler had something to do with them.

She agreed delightedly to her escort's proposal, however, and they left the restaurant early. Hartley watched them go with rage in his heart.

A Premature Announcement

CHAPTER 44.

WHEN Doris returned home that evening, she bore triumphantly under her arm, a tiny etching of priceless value—so its donor, the Count's wealthy friend, had assured her.

She proudly exhibited it to the Count the following afternoon and then locked it away in the ebony box. The little casket was becoming filled with treasures, where an illuminated text done by an artist who was having a great vogue in Paris. A composer had set to music for her some verses of Ivan, the poet. There was a faded letter from the collection of a distinguished friend of Count Romeo's, said to belong to the famous Heiress and Abelard correspondence. And the Egyptian parchment, of course.

Doris began to feel the pride and glow of the collector of priceless treasures, not because she personally understood or appreciated their value, but because her little group of intimates—all friends of the Count's and introduced by him—seemed to regard the treasures of the ebony casket with lively interest and awe. They never failed to ask permission to re-examine them, to admire them, and to add to the contents of the little box. Sometimes a new little gift was slipped into it without any knowledge and she had the surprise of finding it there when she opened the miniature chest.

Doris thought everyone was very sweet and generous.

Count Romeo was proud of her success and was always borrowing one or another of her little treasures to take away and exhibit, explained, to some person unfortunate enough to be outside her little circle of acquaintances.

Ivan Ivanoff, the poet, was the sole member of her group of intimates who scoffed and exhibited jealousy.

He said one afternoon when he lounged on her piano bench at tea time:

"These imbeciles! what can they give you, but faded relic dusty with the ashes of the past. While I give you something worthy of your glowing, living beauty."

He came to life suddenly and began to pace her tiny drawing room. His pale features worked with emotion and a smoldering light transformed his melancholy eyes.

"You must listen to me and be believe me. I—" he struck his breast savagely, proudly. "I am an aristocrat, the only heir of a great Russian family. When the revolution came in my country, I had to

Care of the Hands

By Lucrezia Bori

SO many women seek to remedy red hands by bleaching the skin that I think it might be well to explain a few points about this condition.

There are two kinds of red hands. First, the kind that comes from having the hands in hot soapy water, and chapping due to exposure. This kind of redness is remedied by bleaching—the use of soothing creams and lotions—and as much abstinence from the cause as is possible.

Improper circulation is the cause of the second type of red hands. Improper diet and lack of sufficient exercise is responsible for sluggish blood, which in turn, hampers circulation, causing the blood to partially stagnate in certain parts of the body. The hands are particularly susceptible to this condition.

The only remedy is a corrected diet and strict adherence to a series of adequate setting-up exercises. A long walk, at least two or three miles, should be taken each day.

Doris' companion lifted his brows inquiringly.

Famous Couturiere Writes on Good Taste in Dress and Shows How Extreme Styles Often Are Vulgar.

MADAME JENNY ON MODE

PARIS, Oct. 18.

W HERE is the dramatist who knows before the first presentation of his play whether it will be a success or not? And afterwards, how often do the critics and author disagree? So in selecting some of my new autumn models to show to you many American women, I have not adhered closely to my favorites, because in the past I have often observed that my preference was not that of others. I have frequently tried to please a particular person or group of persons, and gone to pains to arrange my own choice on one side, and the models for which I had no special affection, on the other. Many times indeed, though, they entirely overlooked my choice and were wildly enthusiastic over those to which I was somewhat indifferent.

In order to make this little collection as various as possible, I have chosen a few representative models for wear at different periods of the day: three afternoon dresses, two afternoon ensembles, an afternoon coat, a sport costume and two evening gowns.

There is never a great deal to say about the lines of dresses. My ideas about this are summed up in the statement that we are now living in the reign of the straight line.

Two things that I want especially to discuss in this article are the importance of detail and the danger of going to extremes. It is through a knowledge of the first, well applied, that a woman of moderate means is able to appear more elegant than the majority of her wealthy sisters, and it is through guarding herself against the second that women may attain to the greatest of all feminine charms—that of being themselves and realizing and expressing their own personalities through the medium of the clothes they wear. Too often, alas! women, as a class, imitate the petty trick of some great woman, and copy her mode, following like little lambs across the pasture, after their mother. Women in throngs lose originality, which is a tremendous charm, by copying each other, and envying what others have! They sell their birthright for an extremely sorry mace.

On this particular afternoon, Camilla's blandishments were quite lost on the poet Ivan. He turned gloomy at the interruption of his tête-à-tête and soon took himself off.

"Nice polite young man, your poet," remarked Camilla with a tiny grimace, as she took a cigarette from her gold and onyx case. "Wherever did you pick him up?"

Doris explained the poet, a little resentful of her cousin's criticism.

"Oh well," Camilla shrugged, "you're old enough to look after yourself, but you do make such impossible friends. Not an eligible man in the lot—from what I've seen. They're all too wise to marry."

On that particular afternoon, Camilla's blandishments were quite lost on the poet Ivan. He turned gloomy at the interruption of his tête-à-tête and soon took himself off.

"I don't want to marry any of them," Doris protested. "They're friends—that's all."

"Friends—pouff!" scoffed Camilla. "What does a woman want with men friends? Women have to marry. We're miserable alone. Even I am going to marry again!"

Doris lifted startled eyes.

Camilla nodded with satisfaction. "Jack Hartley, of course. Isn't it all as it should be?"

To Be Continued.

ALONG the wide, tree-bordered Avenue des Champs-Elysées in Paris, not far from the Arc de Triomphe, stands the Maison Jenny—a great establishment with a marble front, well-known to frequenters of the French capital.

Mme. Jenny is in her middle years, but an ever-fresh youthfulness animates everything she says or does. She has olive skin and her hair, turning from jet black, is a strangely beautiful gray—gray like the undersides of young poplar leaves, waving in the wind. She believes that women who can employ rouge artistically should use it, and that it should always be used in a quantity proportionate to the artistic ability of the woman using it.

Mme. Jenny was educated to be a professor of literature, and learned by accident that she was a creator of fashions, while collaborating with her own dressmaker, whom she afterwards took into partnership in her big business.

Mme. Jenny owns a fine old chateau in romantic Dordogne, where she spends part of her time.

and good, it need not be new in order to be accepted. Women who are advancing in age are especially subject to this craze for new. Their actions are frequently in ridiculous disproportion to their years. If it continues, so one will soon have to found a school for teaching women how to grow old.

Why are there now so many ugly legs? I never see more than one out of five women with pretty legs, and a few years back the legs of nearly every woman commanded admiration. Why? It is because the boot or high shoe, has been discarded. It kept the ankle firm and in the evening, released, it was shapely and beautiful. But now legs are bulky and ugly, and the constant use of the low shoe has brought upon us this reign of the ugly leg.

For flesh-colored stockings I have the same dislike. They are vulgar, too. There is nothing elegant about a woman's trying to cover her leg in such manner as to make you think it is not covered at all. If this intention is present in her mind, it is quite as if it were not covered at all, as she is concerned. There are enough colors that are an abundance of it. She enough from the actual hats, too.

The flesh to carry the mode to of it—such as beige and tan—is doing great physical and still they sharply define women. Drawing the line between the vulgar and the tight in an effort to be elegant. Again a dangerous habit has been gone. Light, dangerous, foolish and vulgar were made fashionable. If women, as a result of this, are hard to carry the mode to, they have blame themselves. Excessive slimness is not to be desired, for it is not admirable. A woman's desire to be conspicuous is the point of looking unnatural. Light, dangerous, foolish and vulgar were made fashionable. line between the vulgar and giant. Again a dangerous has been gone to. Light were made fashionable, are indeed beautiful, but had to carry the mode treme and make them their own skin! Simpli-all, is the supreme elegance desire to be conspicuous worthy of a lady. It is of an absence of taste.

Excessive Slimness Desired

The elegantly dressed wears a plain, natural-look with low or medium hair may say that this does not to the mode. We must dress in the style that which we always wear. We must dress in the cab or chauffeur of their go to the wear room. But actually wear shoes when dance? No, for the dancing on the toe, so the high does not serve any practical pose. And the elegantly woman does not wear jewelry. Cheapness is no evidence in her toilette.
jewelry she wears in changing the pieces from time, but never at any time.

Advise Women

Adopt new hygienic method and retain fresh this way; true protection; discards like tissue

BOYS' STU CASSIMERE'S

LY on medical advice, are abandoning the old "boy pad" for a new way of life. The new way is to wear a cassimere stocking and ill-timed social no longer remain as lost days are fewer, and "KOTEX." Ends the old times as absorbent! And now ALL fear of offence. It is wonderful now and then. Wolff-Wilson

Economic Plight of Europe,
Due to Post-War Restricti-

WE MUST LEARN TRADE IS NOT WAR"

Document Signed by American as Well as European Business Leaders, Addressed to European Countries.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—A responsible plea for removal of the tariff barriers and other restrictions on European trade was given out in publication here today over the signatures of many of the leading financiers of Europe and a half a dozen Americans, headed by J. P.
Morgan.

There can be no recovery in Europe, the manifesto declares, until politicians realize that "in time of peace our neighbors are our customers and that their prosperity is a condition of our own well-being."
The test of the manifesto is as follows:

"We desire, as business men, to pay attention to certain grave and disquieting conditions which, in our judgment, are retarding
the return to prosperity.

"It is difficult to view without some alarm the extent to which tariff barriers, special licenses and protection since the war have been used to interfere with international trade and to prevent it from flowing in its natural channels. At a period in recent history has there been from such restrictions so much need to enable traders to adapt themselves to new and severe conditions. And at no time have impediments to trading been more perilously multiplied than at a time of great economic consequences involved.

"Old Markets Disappear.
The break-up of great political and economic units in Europe dealt a heavy blow to international trade. Across large areas in which the inhabitants had been allowed to exchange their products freely, a number of new barriers were erected and jealously guarded by customs barriers.
The market disappeared. Racial animosities were permitted to disintegrate the communities whose interests were inseparably connected.

"The situation is not unlike that which would be created if a confederation of states were to dissolve the ties which bind them and to decide to penalize and hamper, instead of encouraging, each other's trade. Few will doubt that under such conditions the prosperity of

"To make and defend these new units in Europe, licenses, tariffs and prohibitions were imposed, which could only be kept alive in the face of competition by raising the barriers higher, still. Railway rates, dictated by political considerations have made transit and trades difficult and costly.

"Prices have risen, artificial depression has been created. Production as a whole has been diminished.
Credit has contracted and currents have depreciated.

"Too many states, in pursuit of false ideals of national interest, have imperilled their own welfare and lost sight of the common interest of the world, by basing their commercial relations on the economic folly which treats all trading as a form of war.

"Exports Important.
There can be no recovery in Europe till politicians in all territories, old and new, realize that trade is not war but a process of commerce, that in time of peace our neighbors are our customers, and that their prosperity is a condition of our own well-being.

"We must check their dealings, their power to pay their debts diminish-and their power to purchase our products is reduced. Restricted imports involve restrictive exports, and no nation can afford to lose its own trade. Dependant as we all are on each other.

SARCASTIC AT U.S.
RECEPTION TO QUEEN

Haven't Heard Yet of Cursy by Status of Liberty to Marie, One Says.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1926.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—America looks large in the British headlines. Queen Marie's entrance into New York and her first interviews with American newspaper men are provoking big-type and amused comments here. Under the headline, "Double Cream," the Standard says: "We have not as yet heard that by some marvel of engineering, the Statue of Liberty, which guards New York harbor, has been made to curse as Queen Marie passed, but nothing else seems likely to show how a republic can adore a regular royal Queen."

More important is the apparent editorial theory whereby every American crime is now big news in England. A New York kidnapping, a New Jersey postal robbery and today a Chicago factory invasion have been prominently quoted.
Last week, Chicago's machine gun killing was headlined on successive days in most of the London newspapers.

The Daily Telegraph prints the following editorial this morning:
"We begin to have our doubts about the United States. Our own effete society occasionally sees a gunman, active or imported. But the American style is much more romantic. An average day in the life of a citizen of the United States would seem to include assorted varieties of battle, murder, sudden death. The American gunman has gone far beyond pistols. He works with machine guns and armored cars and we daily expect to hear heavy artillery in action on the Chicago front."

The long editorial concludes:
"We find it very hard to imagine that anywhere, even in America, real life can be so preposterously like the most preposterous films."
"U. R. REPORT SHOWS LOSS
OF 5500 PASSENGERS A DAY

Increasing Use of Private Autos and Buses Blamed by Company Officers.

A falling off of more than 5500 passengers a day, the last summer, as compared with that of 1925, is shown by the quarterly report of the United Railways for the three-month period which ended Sept.
20. The quarter included the time of the world series and preliminary series, and the exposition in Forest Park, which caused some increase over normal traffic.

In the previous quarter, there were 36,000 passengers a day less than in the same months of 1925.

United Railways officials regularly attribute the loss in traffic to the increasing use of private automobiles and motorbuses.

The number of passengers reported for the quarter ending Sept.
30 was 61,959,925, and that for the same quarter of 1925 was 62,097,- 861.

INVENTS WINGS FOR HUMANS

Austrian Plans to Have Everyone
Flying for $300 Each.

VIENNA, Oct. 19.—M. Lutsch, an Austrian inventor, is credited with building an apparatus to be worn by the individual, which will enable every one to do a certain amount of flying in comfort and safety.

The machine consists of a pair of wings, moved by an improved propeller which, although extremely light in weight, furnishes a surprising amount of power. The first model weighed 50 pounds and lifted the inventor several yards from the ground, and enabled him to move about in any direction at will. M.
Lutsch declares that his invention, when perfected, can be turned out at an extremely low cost—something in the neighborhood of $300.

In a statement to the Prosecuting
Attorney Mueller this afternoon, Wrenn said he went into his back yard after hearing a noise from the chicken shed, which had been robbed recently. "What the hell you doing here again?" he asked of Routh as the latter cut across the yard. Routh made no reply, but made a move as if to draw a revolver. Wrenn said, whereupon he told his wife he had been "in a little gun fight" and went out. He wandered around all night, sitting on the car tracks for a while, went home this morning to change his clothes, and then out again, telling his wife he intended to surrender.

EUGENE V. DEBS NEAR DEATH IN SANITARIUM

Socialist Leader, 71, Suffering From Complications Following Nervous Breakdown.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Eugene V.
Debs sank rapidly early today and the death of the aged Socialist leader was momentarily expected at the suburban sanitarium, where he has been confined for some time, suffering from a nervous breakdown and complications.

His wife and Theodore Debs, a brother, were at the bedside. Debs is 71 years old.

Debs sank into unconsciousness yesterday, and since then has been in a state of coma.

He has suffered from heart trouble virtually throughout his life, and about a year ago kidney trouble developed.

Debs might last through the day, said Dr. S. C. Albrecht, who, with Dr. Harry Wiseman, is attending him, but death might come at any moment.

Visits Mount Vernon.

Proceeding without another stop, the party reached Mount Vernon at 11:15 a.m. Her hostesses there, members of the Mount Vernon Ladies' Association were unprepared to receive her, as she arrived 15 minutes ahead of schedule, but after but a short pause she was escorted to the suburban sanitarium, where she has been confined for some time, suffering from a nervous
breakdown and complications.

His wife and Theodore Debs, a
brother, were at the bedside. Debs

Prices, however, were more than 54 1/4 per cent higher than those of Sept. 15, 1913.

The largest increase noted in the month ending last Sept. 15 was that of strictly fresh eggs, which jumped 15 per cent, while potatoes rose 8 per cent, pork chops 5 per cent and butter 4 per cent.

TOKIO, Oct. 19.—Several persons alleged to be agents of a political society, will be tried for lese majeste in having plotted to present publicly a petition to the Prince Regent. If convicted, it is said, they will be imprisoned for life or executed.

A public petition to the throne is against the laws, regulations and decree of the imperial household.

In past years, attempts to present such petitions were punished by execution. Those to be tried are said to have planned to intercept the prince's automobile in the street and hand him the petition.

PROHIBITION LOSES IN NORWAY'S VOTE

Dry Law Applied Only to Liquors Exceeding 21 Per Cent in Alcoholic Content.

By the Associated Press.

OSLO, Oct. 19.—The referendum crushing defeat of prohibition came as an overwhelming surprise even to the antiprohibitionists.

The figures show a great wet majority, even in those districts where the drys always had their strongholds.

The Cabinet at the earliest possible moment will propose that prohibition be abolished. The Storting will very likely accept the proposal.

OSLO, Norway, Oct. 19.—Returns thus far made on yesterday's plebiscite on the question of rescinding the sale of liquor exceeding 21 per cent of alcohol indicate that the drys have been defeated.

The vote this afternoon was 297,910 for prohibition and 296, 158 against it. The result was expected definitely to turn the scale against the prohibitionists.

REPORT BAD TROPICAL STORM

GRAND JURY GETS BLACK BOX OF STEPHENSON

Former Stenographer of Ex-"Dragon" Discloses Its Hiding Place in a Bank Vault.

REPORT OF DEAL FOR SILENCE

Stephenson, It Is Said, Is to Have Funds to Perfect Appeal From Murder Conviction.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 19.—The Marion County grand jury which is trying to unravel the web of political scandal spun round the sinister figure of D. C. Stephenson, former Ku Klux Klan overlord of the Indiana Republican party almost laid hands yesterday upon Stephenson's "black box."

Mildred Meade, the defiant pretty girl of 22 who is described as a former friend of Stephenson in his palmy days, was taken before the grand jury. And before going into the jury room she led Prosecutor William H. Remy to safety deposit box No. 406 in the vaults of the Indiana National Bank.

Mildred Meade, who had been sought by police for 10 days and was arrested and held in $2500 bond when she unexpectedly returned to the home of her parents Sunday night, appeared unconcerned about the disclosure of the bank vault hiding place. Undoubtedly the deposit box had been a repository for at least one set of the blackmail papers of Stephenson.

Box May Have Been Rifled.

It is those papers, alleged contracts with high officials or such a nature as would cause wholesale impeachments should they become known, which Stephenson has used as a club from behind the bars of Indiana State Prison where he is serving a life sentence for murder.

Prosecutor Remy brought the deposit box before the grand jury when Miss Meade was called to testify. But the long black box, wrapped in paper, appeared so light that it was generally assumed the contents had been rifled at an earlier date. Miss Meade's composure supported this deduction also.

Observers can no longer doubt that Stephenson has struck some kind of deal and that it is the desire of his lieutenants to keep the incriminating papers out of the hands of the authorities. The documents, if as described, would have a high money value to the officials involved with Stephenson. One official is reported to have placed their value at $50,000.

Naturally the prosecuting attorneys and the committee of Republican editors headed by Thomas H. Adams of Vincennes have no large sums to spend for incriminating documents, and if there were to be any buying off of the persons to whom Stephenson intrusted papers, the purchasers would be the officials involved, or their agents.

However, Remy is working with zeal to ventilate the scandal, and it is barely possible that he may be able to place before the grand jury enough leads to rebuild part of the evidence. And there is always the chance that not all of the papers may yet under cover and that those may fall into Remy's hands.

Reported Price of Silence.

Other witnesses before the grand jury were John J. Maroney, Department of Justice operative, whose name has figured insistently in reports of Stephenson being "fixed," and Maxine Elliott, Stephenson's former stenographer. John H. Kiplinger, one of the former dragon's council, was at Noblesville during the day gathering papers for the filing of Stephenson's appeal.

Stephenson has until Dec. 12 to file the appeal from his conviction for the murder of Madge Oberholtzer. The guarantee of this appeal, costly in time and money, is reported to have been the price of Stephenson's silence.

Happenings at the meeting yesterday of the Republican State Central Committee did not transpire, as newspaper men were excluded. But nine members of the Interrelations Committee of the Republican Editorial Association met at the Republican headquarters and adopted a resolution condemning Thomas H. Adams and William Fechner, secretary of the association, for their part in pressing for investigation of the Stephenson scandal.

But the grand jury inquiry, which proceeded directly from the activities of Adams, was "heartily approved of." There are 182 members of the Republican Editorial Association of Indiana, and since the beginning of Adams' fight to open up the Stephenson case there has been internal discord. However, Adams has been awarded, however, the majority and secretary have backed him.

Queen Marie Lays Wreath On Unknown Soldier's Tomb

people seem really glad that I am here. I hope they will take me to their hearts, as I already have taken them to mine.

"They seem to want me here as a Queen," she replied to a question as to whether she would assume an incognito or seek any of the privileges of a private visitor to this country. "What use would there be in my pretending to be someone else?" she asked.

Then "a Queen can't act in the movies, now, can she?" was her comment on a rumor that she would act for the screen while in Hollywood.

May Write for the Movies.

"I shall not appear in the movies, except as I am snapped on the street. But I'm not saying I won't write for them."

As a speaker, the Queen declared herself to be a complete amateur.

"My speech in reply to the Mayor of New York was the first I ever made," she said. "I had not prepared it. I only spoke from my heart. No, I was wrong," she corrected herself. "I recall another speech I made, to Americans, too. It was in a Y. M. C. A. hut in France before American doughboys. I was trying to tell them the difference between democracy and bolshevism. Most people have learned since what a big difference there is—I knew it then."

Seated at the rear of her flower-filled private car, the Queen, with her son, Prince Nicholas, and her daughter, Ileana, she watched the flying landscape.

"It is very like England," she commented, "only larger, and more brightly colored."

When she arrived in Washington Secretary of State Kellogg personally met her, together with an imposing Reception Committee in which shone the variegated uniforms of the army and navy, and the diplomatic corps. Her first glimpse of the Capitol was through an arch of the Union Station, where the dome shone.

Against the almost black sky, over the heads of the marines at attention, and the squadron of cavalry waiting to form her escort on honor.

Two army bands played the Rumanian and the American national anthems while the Queen stood, smiling, her arms full of orchids and her eyes on the capitol dome.

Behind her Princess Ileana, carrying roses waited shyly with Prince Nicholas. The Queen was ushered into the first car by Secretary Kellogg. Admiral E. W. Eberle escorted the Prince, who had been trained in the British Navy. The Army, represented by Maj. Gen. Fox Conner, acting chief of staff, escorted Princess Ileana.

Crowd at Legion.

At the Rumanian legation, where the Queen spent the first night in this country, the crowd filled the streets.

Although she had announced through an officer that she would not appear again, Marie at last relented and appeared on a balcony above the entrance. Her hand on the flagstaff of her country's red, green and yellow banner, her animated face lighted by the flares of photographer's bombs, she spoke a few words of thanks to her new "subjects."

Later she entered informally at the legation, having as dinner guests some members of the diplomatic corps.

Today she becomes the official guest of the nation and will be received at the White House, with her son and daughter at 4 p. m. and receiving President and Mrs. Coolidge in return at the legation half an hour later. Dinner at the White House with 50 guests will end a day full of ceremonies.

The day's program includes also a trip to Mount Vernon the fulfillment of another wish expressed on her journey to this country—"to see as many as possible of the historic monuments."

QUEEN CAN TOUR U. S. FOR $27 RAILWAY FARE

I. C. C. Authorizes Nominal $1 Charge by Each Road She Will Use.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Queen Marie of Rumania sticks to the itinerary prepared for her by her host, Samuel Hill of St. Paul, son-in-law of the late James J. Hill, the railroad fare for her two months' tour of the United States will not be more than $27.

With the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, 10 railroads have suspended their regular tariff, obviously for advertising purposes, and have agreed to haul the Queen and her party for six weeks more. But another feature service has contracted with her for articles on her impressions of America.

Representatives of these two organizations as well as other persons claiming to have a hand in arranging the Queen's activities will be aboard the Leviathan yesterday, watching one another and endeavoring to establish their claims.

The representative of the concern which has arranged with the Queen to write her impressions of the United States ran afoul of all the newspaper correspondents by announcing the contract provided the Queen could not grant any interviews in the United States except one on her arrival at quarantine in New York. The Queen's suite denied such a provision in her contract. The Queen's reply to questions put to her at quarantine did not clear up the mystery of the contract.

Members of her suite have said repeatedly that the Rumanian Government would not permit her to give interviews, but stoutly denied that this interfered with the arrangement, made by any exclusive contract.

Similar dispensations were made in favor of King Albert and Queen Elisabeth of the Belgians and Marshal Joffre of France. Officials of the Interstate Commerce Commission said they knew nothing of the charges made in Chicago by representatives of several western roads that because they had refused to accede to the $1 arrangement they had been left off the itinerary. The Southern Pacific and the Union Pacific, the two roads which had agreed to have the Queen and her party for the nominal sum of $1 for each time their trains are used. Anticipating changes in the itinerary, Hill's representative in Washington, acting for the railroads, asked the commission for permission to lower the rates on some roads not now included on the Queen's route. If she should use all the roads authorized, her railroad fare would amount to only $27.

The $1 for each movement on a train is charged because it is illegal to furnish free transportation to anyone—even a Queen—unless that person comes within a narrow class defined by the law.

Indiana Scandal

MRS. M'PHERSON

Stephenson in to examine the senatorial candidates' statements of expenditure and to inquire into the methods used in their behalf. There have been charges of voting irregularities in certain strongly Republican districts.

Until Reed decides to transmit the scene of the investigation from Chicago—which he may do next week—it is certain that Stephenson will not be called as a witness. There is doubt concerning the legality of taking a State senator from one state to another, as it is unlikely that Reed would allow it if it were clearly illegal. If testimony should show the existence of an arrangement of the sort indicated by present information, and it were shown that Stephenson had knowledge of it, Reed might go to the Indiana Penitentiary and question him inside the walls.

Doubt as to Calling Adams

He has not yet decided upon calling Thomas Adams, chairman of the committee of Indiana Republican editors, through whom Stephenson's charges of corruption were first made public.

Adams has gathered a large amount of evidence, but such of it as has been submitted to Reed bears almost exclusively upon conditions in the State Government. Reed's committee is authorized to expose corruption in local affairs only in the event that it touches or influences the nomination or election of senatorial candidates. He has no intention of his compatriots and W. L. Gilbert, chief of defense counsel, was unable to shake off his testimony on cross-examination.

The election in Indiana occurred two weeks from today. It is obvious, therefore, that if Senator McPherson disappeared last week, he must make haste. He is prepared to do so. Night sessions will be held as long as there are witnesses available, and judges from the number of subpoenas being prepared, that will be ready while the inquiry lasts.

are upon imports and exports, and upon the processes of international exchange, we cannot view without grave concern a policy which means the impoverishment of Europe.

"Happily there are signs that opinion in all countries is awakening at last to the dangers ahead. The League of Nations and the International Chamber of Commerce have been laboring to remove minimum all formalities, prohibitions and restrictions, to remove inequalities of treatment in other matters than tariffs, to facilitate the transport of passengers and goods. In some countries powerful voices are pleading for the suspension of tariffs altogether. Others have suggested the conclusion for long periods of commercial agreements embodying in every case the most-favored nation clause.

"Some states have recognized in recent treaties the necessity of freeing trade from the restrictions which depress it. And experiences are slowly teaching others that the breaking down of the economic barriers between them may prove the surest remedy for the stagnation which exists. On the valuable political results which might flow from such a policy, from the substitution of goodwill for ill-will, of co-operation for exclusiveness, we will not dwell. But we wish to place on record our conviction that the establishment of economic freedom is the best hope of restoring the commerce and the credit of the world."

St. Louis Speech.

Declaring the supreme issue in Illinois to be the restoration of public honesty and a higher standard of public service, Hugh S. Magill, independent Republican candidate for the United States Senate, speaking at East St. Louis last night, charged Frank L. Smith, his Republican opponent, with violating the sacred obligations of a public servant, and George E. Brennan, his Democratic opponent, with nullification of the Constitution and political bossism in a campaign that had become nationally notorious and degrading to the nation.

The testimony given in Chicago yesterday by Dr. George B. Safford, superintendent of the Illinois Anti-Saloon League, before the Senate Campaign Funds Committee, quieting the Rev. Robert O'Brien, a Methodist minister of Chicago as proposing to spend from $300,000 to $400,000 in his behalf, Magill declared was a "fish story" on the part of the Rev. Mr. O'Brien.

Expect to Testify.

"I have received no contribution in excess of $1000," Magill asserted. "None solicited as far as I am concerned personally, and the total will not exceed $25,000. Julius Rosenwald contributed $1000 as did Mr. Hay. A sworn accounting of every dollar will be made this week before the committee. I understand I will be summoned to appear." Logan Hay of Springfield is Magill's campaign manager and introduced the speaker last night.

Magill accused Safford of political bargaining. "Safford came to my headquarters in Chicago Oct. 2, the day my petition was filed, and asked me to withdraw in favor of Smith, who the league is trying to elect," Magill related.

Urged to Withdraw.

"He said he knew that Smith had accepted large sums of money for campaign purposes and regretted it. He did not seem to think that Smith would be seated if elected, for he pointed out that in such event, Gov. Small could not appoint a Senator for more than a 2-year term, at the expiration of which the League would throw its support to me, providing I would withdraw in Smith's behalf.

Explaining further, Safford said that the dry question was the predominant issue of this campaign and that the League, if it were to elect a dry candidate, could not afford at that time, in spite of the contributions, to back any other candidate but Smith, since he had the support of a powerful political organization.

"It was at the close of that conversation that Safford first mentioned McBride's statement. I denied any such contribution then. I deny it now. I challenged Safford to show the daily accounts of the League each day for publication and I would show mine. He refused."

Smith's $170,000 Fund.

mentioning Gov. Small's support of Smith, the speaker reviewed Smith's acceptance of more than $170,000 in campaign contributions from public utility corporations when Chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission, and said that by this act "he has gained national notoriety for his shameless violation of the sacred obligations of a public servant." He quoted a statute to show the act is contrary to law and punishable as a misdemeanor.

"As for Brennan," Magill continued, "he is nationally known as a machine politician and political spokesman. He, too, accepted campaign contributions from the public utility interests. He bases his one claim for election on his promise to nullify the eighteenth amendment by repealing the law which provides for its enforcement. His election would fasten on Illinois the grip of his unscrupulous political power. His machine will not be able to control a large part of the better Democratic vote. Both parties are split—one by its corrupt leaders, the other by its malcontents."

Shot at Antisaloon League.

Magill declared he was "personally and politically dry" and would uphold the eighteenth amendment. Taking a shot at the Antisaloon League, he said, "It is inconceivable that the leaders of the league, blind to public honesty and decency, and false to the highest civic duty, can deliver the moral forces of this State to a candidate who has shocked the nation with his shameless acts. His candidacy has President Coolidge and national Republican leaders worried."

As executive secretary of the National Council of Religious Education, Magill has resided in Chicago for the last four years. He served one term as a State Senator and was Superintendent of Public Schools at Springfield, Ill.

BUSINESS MEN SUPPORT MOVE TO CUT COAL RATES

Traffic Officer of Chamber of Commerce Springs Surprise on Railroads at I. C. C. Hearing.

A charge by the Terminal Railroad Association of 11 to 15 cents a ton for transportation of coal across the Mississippi River, instead of the present rates ranging from $1 to 46 cents a ton, would be reasonable in the opinion of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

D. A. Cole, assistant traffic commissioner, made known the Chamber's position for the first time in testifying yesterday at a hearing before Examiner Arthur Kettler of the Interstate Commerce Commission in support of an action instituted by the organization with the Interstate Commerce Commission in which a readjustment of rates from nearby Illinois mines is sought.

In the petition filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission the Chamber of Commerce did not state specifically what it considered the rates should be and it had been believed that the organization considered the former bridge differential of 25 cents a ton, in effect until last spring, a reasonable charge. Hence, Cole's testimony caused considerable surprise among representatives of coal operators, East Side interests and the carriers present at the hearing.

Rates in Illinois Reduced.

Attorneys for coal operators, whose interests in the present hearing are similar to those of St. Louis, told a Post-Dispatch reporter they do not believe the commission will reduce the bridge differential below 25 cents as that rate has been in effect over a long period of years. However, they believe the 25-cent differential will be restored.

The 25-cent differential was raised to a maximum of 46 cents by a decision last February of the Illinois Commerce Commission ordering coal freight rates to East St. Louis reduced. Rates of $1.16 to $1.38 a ton to St. Louis from Illinois mines remained in effect as the Illinois Commerce Commission has no jurisdiction over Interstate rates.

Railroads Resist Change. Railroads was introduced by the railroads, who completed presentation of evidence in support of their application for a restoration of the old rates to East St. Louis yesterday morning, showing that a loss in revenue of $571,307.73 annually would accrue to railroads if rates to St. Louis were lowered to correspond to the reductions ordered by the Illinois Commission. The estimate was based on figures showing the coal consumption here in 1925 to be 3,975,626 tons. It can be seen from these figures that savings to St. Louis coal consumers should approximate $650,000 annually if the rates are lowered to make a 15-cent bridge differential.

In support of his contention for the lower bridge differential Cole introduced a letter, written Sept. 15, 1925, to W. Palmer Clarkson, then president of the Chamber of Commerce, by Henry Miller, president of the Terminal Association, in which Miller asked Clarkson's assistance in opposing a proposal of the Missouri Tax Commission to increase the Terminal's assessed valuation more than $4,000,000.

Bridge Earnings. Miller's statement that Eads Bridge and the Merchants' Bridge were of little value because of long usage was cited by Cole as evidence that the Terminal's earnings on the basis of its valuation of the two bridges should be decreased. Cole also introduced exhibits comparing the Terminal's charges with those made in other cities in support of his contention.

Cole introduced a large number of exhibits showing that coal freight rates to St. Louis are higher than rates to other cities in the Middle West. Particular attention was called to rates to Chicago.

Among his exhibits was one showing that Chicago pays $1.85 a ton freight charge on coal from mines around Belleville, while St. Louis pays $1.16 from the same mines. St. Louis is but one-third as far from these mines, but pays a freight rate of almost two-thirds as much as Chicago, the exhibit pointed out. "The expense of bridging the river here is counterbalanced in Chicago by the cost of track elevation," Cole testified.

Iowa Man Testifies. Cole was the only witness for the Chamber of Commerce. However, much of the testimony to be introduced by the coal operators will be beneficial to the organization's case.

George M. Cummins, traffic commissioner of the Davenport (Ia.) Chamber of Commerce, followed Cole as a witness. He prefaced his testimony with the statement that he has made an investigation of tariffs pertaining to freight rates in Illinois and other states in the Middle West.

Cummins' testimony was in support of the Perry Coal Co.'s application for a reduction in rates to St. Louis to correspond to those made to East St. Louis. He asserted that the 70-cent freight rate from mines within a radius of 20 miles from East St. Louis is not too high and stated the $1.16 rate from these mines to St. Louis should be reduced.

Urge Dollar Rate.

Based on the earnings of railroads from hauling other commodities the rate to St. Louis from these mines should be 99.8 cents a ton. Cummins declared. He took the witness stand again at the resumption, today of the hearing at Hotel Jefferson.

Dandruff Heads
Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to wash or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dispose of it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid aconit; apply it at night when retiring;
use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it gently with the fingertips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy the single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid aconit at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have.

This simple remedy never fails.

Courage in Public Life Rare.

"I am in Missouri primarily to say a word in favor of the election of Senator Williams of Missouri, was paid here by Senator

William E. Borah of Idaho, speaking in the high school auditorium last night.

"I am in Missouri primarily to say a word in favor of the election of Senator Williams, and secondly to discuss some matters which seem to be worthy of discussion." Senator Borah said. "I am not supporting Senator Williams merely in obedience to partisan interest, but because on a great question involving the vital interest of this republic, he disclosed great ability and undoubted moral courage. He had just come into the Senate . . . a new man with force and unwavering purpose. He took his place among the leaders in that fight. He was one upon whom all who were fighting that battle relied.

Courage in Public Life Rare.

"You will permit me to say that about the rarest thing in public life today is moral courage—men who think more of their convictions, more of their beliefs upon public questions than they do of their political advancement. Senator Williams has shown in a short time that he is not only a man of splendid intellectual equipment, but unquailing moral courage."

Speaking of the farm problem,
Senator Borah said:

"It is a mistake to speak of the farm problem as if it were merely a farmer's problem. What we call the farm problem is distinctly a national problem, a problem which involves the interest and has to do with the welfare of the whole people. The workman in the city, the housewife in the city and the business man are almost as vitally concerned as the farmer himself.

"There can be no such thing as sound permanent national prosperity with agriculture in distress.

We hear a great deal about prosperity, but that prosperity which does not include so large and so indispensable an element as the agriculturist is a false, unsound and treacherous prosperity. It will not endure.

"Much is being said in this campaign about the tariff and its relation to the farmer and his prosperity.

Protective Principle Abused.

"I am frank to concede that the principle of the protective tariff

may be abused, and often is abused.

I think it was abused in the last tariff bill. But a sound protective principle, such as Hamilton an even Jefferson and Jackson advocated, a principle applied with a just regard for all interests, is as vital to the welfare of the American farmer as it is to any other part of the country. It builds up his home market, and without the home market he could not live.

"In my judgment, the solution of the farm problem turns very largely upon the upbuilding and maintaining of a great home market, and of devising the machinery and the method by which the farmer can reach that market, without the loss, the waste, and the exactions which he now has to carry.

"In 1913, the consumers of this country paid, for the products of the farm, leaving out cotton and tobacco, about $22,500,000,000. But out of this the farmer received only $7,500,000,000. The balance was consumed by waste and manipulation, and the legitimate cost of marketing. No industry can live under such conditions.

Co-operative marketing will help, and has helped, but the Government must also take part in this marketing program. There are certain features of the marketing problem which the Government must assume responsibility for.

Importance of Home Market.

"We hear a good deal in this discussion about the foreign market for farm products, but the market upon which the farmer must depend is the home market, and by which he can reach that market without the vast waste and expense now accompanying it, his problem will be largely solved.

"Prior to the war we exported about 110,000,000 bushels of wheat. Since the war we have exported about 250,000,000 bushels.

Prior to the war, Russia exported about 230,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Since the war she has been exporting about 30,000,000.

I venture the opinion that inside of 10 years, or half that time, with implements which Russia is now purchasing, she will be putting into the foreign markets from 300,000,- 000 to 400,000,000 bushels of wheat.

With Rumania, Russia, Canada,

Argentina, and other wheat producing countries supplying the foreign market, it becomes evident that we must look to our home market to take our wheat.

It is especially true of other farm products.

People who want to reduce

COOLIDGE TO SPEAK AT KANSAS CITY NOV. 11

He Will Attend Dedication of $1,500,000 War Memorial Opposite Union Station.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—President Coolidge will attend the dedication of a war memorial at Kansas City, Mo., on Nov. 11, Armistice day.

Formal announcement was made at the White House yesterday of the acceptance of the invitation, which was presented last spring by the Liberty Memorial Association of Kansas City. The memorial has been erected in memory of those who lost their lives in the World War.

The trip will be the first to be made by the President outside of Washington since he returned from the Adirondacks.

Coolidge Not Likely to Stop in St. Louis on Western Trip.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—President Coolidge does not expect to make any speeches on the way to Kansas City, where he will dedicate the War Memorial building. Armistice day, the presidential spokesman said today.

The President has received an invitation from Chancellor Hadley of Washington University to stop in St. Louis, but doubts whether he will be able to accept it. The invitation from Chancellor Hadley is the only one the President has received recently from the Middle West, but since the Kansas City engagement has been announced, others are expected. It was stated that all these probably would be declined.

War Memorial Rises 380 Above Union Station Plaza.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 19.—In coming to Kansas City for the dedication of the Liberty memorial, President Coolidge will see the materialization of what was only a dream when in 1921 as Vice President he joined with military leaders of the allies in laying the corner-stone of the city's monument to the war dead.

The memorial, a beautiful shaft of white stone rising on a hill 380 feet above the Union Station plaza and flanked by two stone buildings, now is virtually completed. It cost $1,500,000.

The corner-stone was laid during the American Legion convention here with Mr. Coolidge, Marshal Foch of France, Admiral Beatty of Great Britain, General Diaz of Italy, General Jacques of Belgium and General Pershing present.

Howard P. Savage, newly elected commander of the American Legion; Secretary of War Davis, Admiral Robert E. Coontz and the Governors of Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska have accepted invitations to attend the exercises. A telegram from the White House said Mrs. Coolidge would accompany the President.

$20 NOTES, FIND EIGHT MORE

Secret Service Agents Find Bogus Federal Reserve Money on Negro Prisoner.

Tracing three counterfeit $20 Federal Reserve notes through the hands of five Negroes, Secret Service agents yesterday arrested O. C. Fielder, a Negro, 28 years old, of 3402 Lawton avenue, who, they say, confessed to passing several of the bills in recent weeks.

The investigation started last week, when a Negro youth was arrested when attempting to deposit the bills at the First National Bank. He got them from his mother and she said she won them in a dice game. She named a man who declared he obtained them in a Negro poolroom at 102 North Compton avenue. The proprietor, Jake McAfee, who had a counterfeit bill in his possession, said he got it from Fielder.

When arrested, Fielder had eight of the counterfeit bills in his pockets. He would not say where he got them.

LOVE LETTERS WIN DIVORCE

Wife Divorces Cuban Who Said He Was Not For Sale.

Mrs. Estelle Tepe, 316 Laurel street, was granted a divorce yesterday after she exhibited a number of love notes and cablegrams, which she declared had been received from other women by her husband, Dominico, a Cuban, now living in Havana.

Mrs. Tepe told the Court her husband sent her the love notes to show her that other women loved him as well as she, and wrote that she could not buy his love. Tepe spent so much time writing to other women that he failed to support her, she testified. They were married at Miami, Fla., last March and separated several months later.

BLOW WITH FIST ENDS HOLDUP

Robber Gives Back Purse and Makes Escape.

James Patterson of 3824 Delmar boulevard, was held up at 3 a. m. today on the rear porch of his home and robbed of a purse containing 40 cents, following which, the robber, a youth about 19 years old, marched him inside to the room of Curtis Critts, whom the youth also attempted to rob.

Instead of submitting, Critts knocked the robber down with his fist, whereupon the robber handed the purse back to Patterson and fled.

GOLF PLAYERS PAY $34,869

TO CITY IN THREE MONTHS

$7425 Received from Tennis Courts During the Same Period.

Golf players in Forest Park paid $34,869.50 for the privilege of using the nine and 18-hole municipal links during July, August and September of this year, as compared to $20,726.75 for a corresponding period last year.

This sum represents 25,693 games on the nine-hole course at 25 cents a game and 10,899 games on the 18-hole course at 50 cents a game and 597 annual permits at $10 a permit.

Triple A Club, which uses ground in Forest Park for a nine-hole course, paid $10 annual permits for 1036 members, but there were some reductions for players holding over from last year, so the total was $3250. Triple A also paid for 2250 guest permits a total of $125.

The city received $7425 for tennis privileges at $1 a player for the period. Only 4458 players paid last year.

Park Commissioner Pape declares that all the money received from golfers and tennis players is used to keep the golf links and tennis courts in condition. There have been numerous complaints from golfers about the condition of the Forest Park courses, but city officials maintain that the income from permits is used to the best advantage for upkeep of the courses.

E. ST. LOUIS COUNCIL AGAIN ORDERS STREET IMPROVEMENT

St. Clair Avenue Paving Project to Be Constructed According to Property Owners' Wishes.

The City Council of East St. Louis yesterday again took action on the improvement of St. Clair avenue, from Tenth to Twentieth streets, and passed a resolution for the second time ordering the Board of Public Improvement to draw up an ordinance to conform with the type of paving desired by the property owners.

The improvement was proposed a year ago, specifying natural asphalt over the present brick surface. Property owners opposed this type of improvement, declaring the foundation would not last and that the price was excessive. After this first ordinance was withdrawn, a similar one was again presented to the Council which the residents threatened to fight in court. It was then also withdrawn.

In a written proposal to the Council yesterday, Mayor M. M. Stephens recommended the improvement of a number of streets, the installation of five automatic traffic signals downtown and the construction of a municipal coliseum. The coliseum proposition which requires a bond issue, was defeated in an election last April by a large majority.

BOY, 14, DIVERTS RUNAWAY TEAM FROM HEAVY TRAFFIC

Policeman Comes to Aid and Stops Horses; Wagon Sideswipes Three Parked Autos.

Murray Hilton, 14 years old, of 1014 South Twelfth street, leaped on a runaway ice wagon as the team of horses ran down Chestnut street, between Ninth and Eighth streets, this morning, and succeeded in turning the team south into Eighth street and away from the heavy traffic downtown.

His strength was unequal to the task of stopping the horses, but he turned the team west into Pine street, where Traffic Policeman Haas jumped on the wagon and stopped the runaway.

The wagon and team, which belonged to the Polar Wave Ice and Fuel Co., had been left unattended. The horses were frightened by honking automobile horns. The wagon sideswiped three automobiles parked on Chestnut street before Hilton intervened.

The driver was arrested.

MAN FOUND SLAIN IN BURNING BED; WIDOW HELD FOR MURDER

Oklahoma Woman Pleads Not Guilty. Saying Husband Was Jealous of Employee.

By the Associated Press.

PRYOR, Ok., Oct. 19.—Mrs. Anita Greer, whose husband, L. F. Greer, a sporting goods merchant, was found dead in a burning bed at their former home in Spavinia, Ok., Saturday, is held on a charge of murder.

Authorities are seeking Ben Schue, a discharged employee, for questioning. The widow told police her husband had been jealous of Schue but without cause. When arraigned before a Justice of the Peace, Mrs. Greer pleaded not guilty.

Greer was slain apparently by a blow from a hammer before fire was set to his bed.

Continuing the Subway's Greatest

Double Header Clothing Sale

With the co-operation of several manufacturers, we are enabled to offer the best values and the biggest selection which we have ever offered in this sale. Many of our customers buy their entire season's clothing supply at this sale, owing to the unusual values. Through large purchases and by selling at least two garments to each customer, we are able to offer even better values than our usual low Subway prices. The double header sale may be two suits, two overcoats, two topcoats, or one suit and one overcoat or topcoat. These may be purchased from the same group or different groups. When a sale is made from different groups the price of each garment will be one-half the double header price. Two persons may each make a single selection, provided one sale is made for both garments

RAILROAD FILES ACTION TO TEST STATE INCOME TAX LAW

Kansas City Southern Claims It Shouldn't Pay Taxes on Entire Earnings.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 19.—The Kansas City Southern Railway Co. yesterday petitioned the State Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari, in a suit to test the Missouri income tax law as it affects incomes earned outside the State.

The petition asks the Court to review the action of the Jackson County Board of Equalization in assessing the railroad company for income tax on the basis of the earnings of the entire system.

The company asks that the assessment be quashed if the action of the Tax Board is found to be illegal.

L. T. Thompson, State Auditor, insisted that the Jackson County Equalization Board sustain the assessment on the entire system when the railroad protested the levy.

The railroad asserted that its entire earnings totaled about $1,700,000, while its earnings in Missouri were only approximately $400,000. It held that it was subject to tax only on its earnings in the State.

The Jackson County Board, however, held with the State Auditor.

OPPOSED TO EQUALIZATION FEE SURPLUS CROP DISPOSAL PLAN

COOLIDGE VOICES DISAPPROVAL TO NATIONAL GRAIN DEALERS' ASSOCIATION CONVENTION.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Opposition to any equalization fee plan for disposing of surplus crops was expressed to President Coolidge today by delegates of the National Farm Grain Dealers' Association, in annual session here. The organization represents 4,000 farmers' elevators in the 11 grain-producing States from Oklahoma to North Dakota and has its headquarters at Omaha.

An equalization fee, to be levied on crops to make up a fund for handling the surplus, was a feature of the McNary bill which failed at the 61st session of Congress. Hope was expressed by the delegation that in the co-operative marketing movement, no legislation of a compulsory character would be enacted. The need for adequate tariff protection of grains also was voiced, as was the necessity for keeping down the present production by not encouraging new farms to enter the field, especially on new reclamation projects. The desirability of a canal from the Great Lakes to the sea by way of the St. Lawrence River, was urged.

DENIES SHE IS ENGAGED

TO WED JOHN COOLIDGE

CONNECTICUT GOVERNOR'S DAUGHTER SAYS SHE HAS THOUGHT OF MARRYING HIM—BUT NOT YET.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass., Oct. 19.—Miss Florence Trumbull, daughter of Connecticut's Governor and Mt. Holyoke College student, today admitted that she had thought of marrying John Coolidge, son of the President, but insisted that they were not engaged.

"John and I are much too young to get married and we don't want to tie ourselves down too soon," she said. "You see I don't want to drive all my other boy friends away just yet."

The reason given by John, an Amherst College student, for placing a secret service guard near him was that his father feared harm might come to him because of curious persons and because of a threatening letter received at the White House, said Miss Trumbull. "Some reports said we planned to elope and that was the reason for the guard, but I don't intend to elope with him," declared the Governor's daughter.

AMERICAN WORKER PRODUCES 106 PCT. MORE THAN IN 1914

INCREASED EFFICIENCY OF LABOR SHOWN IN FIGURES GIVEN TO PRESIDENT COOLIDGE.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Increased productivity of labor in the United States was discussed today by President Coolidge and Cabinet members. Figures were presented by Secretary of Labor Davis. The President considers the increased efficiency of American workers is one of the chief factors in the present economic situation.

Davis' figures were that since 1914 the output per man employed in the automobile industry has increased 325 per cent; in petroleum refining the increase is 177 per cent; in cement manufacture, 158 per cent; in iron and steel, 150 per cent; in paper pulp, 132 per cent; in rubber tire manufacture, 31 per cent; and in coke, 154 per cent.

Taking a large number of different industries it was shown that the volume of output per man had increased since 1914 from 106 to 225 per cent.

ANDREWS FORESEES EACH MAN AS HIS OWN DISTILLER

Ultimate Condition Will Be in Hands of Local Enforcement Officers, Dry Chief Says.

By the Associated Press.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 19.—Federal prohibition forces are interested in suppressing of the big liquor traffic and will not take up the policing of every homestead. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, head of the prohibition forces, declared in an address here yesterday.

Andrews, who came to address the state convention of the Anti-saloon League, said that local law enforcement officers must take over control of personal and petty violations of the prohibition law.

"Rum running, misuse of sacramental wine, diversion of commercial alcohol and manufacture of moonshine and beer on a large scale is being controlled and, I hope, soon will be stopped," Andrews told a group of Northwest business men at luncheon. He outlined the troubles that confront the government in enforcement of the prohibition act, which he termed "one of the most unpopular laws ever enacted."

"Ultimately, what will result in this country will be a reversion to the days when this nation was in its infancy," he said "each man who desires them will manufacture his own alcoholic beverages and, if the local law enforcement officers wish that condition to persist, its treatment will lie in their hands."

REPUBLIC FINANCE CO. SUITS DISMISSED IN CIRCUIT COURT

Stipulation Ends Claim for $100,000 Usury on Loans and Receivership Action.

Two suits against the Republic Finance Co., one asking a receivership in which W. S. White, a minority stockholder, was plaintiff, and the other by C. J. Gonterman, a realty dealer, who alleged the concern had charged him $100,000 usury on loans, were dismissed in Circuit Court yesterday by stipulation of the parties. Counsel in the cases announced that a satisfactory settlement had been reached.

According to J. Ray Weinbrenner, attorney for the defendant company in the Gonterman case, approximately $35,000 was involved in that settlement. Gonterman recently was indicted in Illinois in connection with realty deals.

In the receivership suit brought by White complaint was made that the company was being mismanaged by its then president, George H. Field. The latter has since been ousted from office.

Floats in Street Parade Witnessed by Thousands.

The third annual pageant of progress of East St. Louis, which includes an industrial and educational exposition that will continue throughout the week, was opened last night with a parade in East St. Louis, in which there were 10 floats viewed by thousands of spectators, who crowded the downtown district for the spectacle.

The exposition, which is being held in Almad Temple of the Mystic Shrine, will be open each night this week, with theatrical entertainment and dancing in the Shrine auditorium as special attractions.

Pageant Queen Crowned.

The parade last night ended at Almad Temple, where Miss Emily Craig, daughter of C. C. Craig of Mount Carmel, Ill., who led the procession, was crowned queen. She was a maid of honor to the queen last year.

A squad of motor cycle policemen opened a path for the parade, and at the head of a column of other police and firemen were Mayor M. M. Stephens, Chief of Police John J. Barry and members of the City Council. Then followed the floats, each preceded by music. Interspersed among the floats were the bugle corps of Almad Temple, drum corps of the Knights of Columbus, a degree team of the Daughters of Isabella, Boy Scouts and a company of mounted stockmen.

Many Attractive Floats.
Among the most attractive floats were those of the Girl Scouts, Young Women's Christian Association, East St. Louis Community House, the queen's float, the Madison Kennel Club and Fairmount Jockey Club.

The pageant, an annual affair, is given by civic and business organizations and lodges to promote the industrial and educational interests of St. Clair County and vicinity.

SEPTEMBER WETTEST MONTH EVER RECORDED IN MISSOURI

8.79 Inches of Rainfall Registered,
With Floods Causing Heavy Damage Following.

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 19.—More rain fell in Missouri in September than for any similar month in more than 50 years, George Reeder, Government meteorologist, declared in a monthly weather report.

During the period of more than half a century that the State has been quite well covered with rainfall-reporting stations, Reeder said, there had been no higher September rainfall registered than 7.67 inches. During the September just passed, however, 8.79 inches of precipitation were recorded.

The greatest monthly rainfall occurred at Maryville, where 18.04 inches were registered. Thirty-five stations recorded more than 10 inches. The month not only was the wettest September on record, the statement said, but it came close to being the wettest of all other months, being exceeded only by the records on one May, one June and one July.

With soil already saturated by the August rains, and most creeks and small rivers running bankfull, the September rains caused unprecedented floods for autumn. Coming at a time when the principal crops had matured the damage was heavy.

Virtually every section of the State, with the exception of the extreme southeastern section, were drenched. The counties north of the Ozarks especially were hard hit by heavy rains.

The average temperature in the State for September, as shown by records of 67 stations, was 69.3 degrees, or only .3 of a degree above normal.

$800 Fur Coat Recovered.
A sealskin coat valued at $800, stolen from the automobile of Mrs. Alice L. Husch of 19 Southmoor last Wednesday, when the car was parked near Grand and Washington boulevards, was recovered yesterday from a Negro, who bought it from a second Negro. The latter confessed the theft.

Democratic party today, in leadership and objective was the opposite of that in the past.

"It was not the militant spirit of Woodrow Wilson which dictated the platform of the Democratic party at Jefferson City," Hyde said. "Neither was it written by the somewhat moth-eaten pencil of Harry Hawes. Nor does it bear evidence of collaboration by Charley Hay. The indorsement of Jim Reed was not written by the men and women who threw him out of the Joplin convention. The indorsement of Woodrow Wilson commended only his achievements, there was no sympathy for his program, his hopes or what he tried to do."

Stuffed Club of Jim Reed.
"It was not the spirit of Wilson, but the stuffed club of Jim Reed that dictated the Democratic platform," Hyde charged. "Reed, the bitter arch enemy of all things Wilsonian, drew his royal robes of domination about him, waved his menacing club, and democracy

For Those Who Know the Best When They Find It

The Chrysler Imperial "80" is built not simply for those who demand the best—but for those who know the best when they find it.

It is an invitation to you to experience the sheer joy of stepping from the conventional fine car to the very utmost in motoring luxury.

It is the supreme interpretation of Chrysler Standardized Quality which has converted mere factories into great laboratories where every Chrysler product is scientifically engineered and manufactured.

Ten body styles, priced from $2495 to $5495, f. o. b. Detroit, subject to current Federal excise tax.

The Chrysler plan of Quality Standardization differs from and is superior to, other manufacturing practices and methods, because it defines and inscribes standards which encompass all engineering exactness—the absolute accuracy and precision of alignment and balance—in the manufacture of every part, practice and process in the making of Chrysler cars, so that each individual car shall be of supreme value in its own right.

How Improvements Would Come To the County by Annexation

Police and Health Facilities Could Be Promptly Expanded to Meet New Calls Upon Them.

DUPLICATION OF SERVICE AVOIDED

Most Improvements Would Come Gradually With an Equable Distribution of Cost.

What Profit Annexation?
This is the question many residents of St. Louis County are asking about the proposed merger with the city, on which city and county are to vote next Tuesday.

It is a bigger question than the sloganized "What Price Annexation?" County residents know, in a general way, what the county will have to put into the merger. They wish to know what the county is to get out of it, in permanent benefits and advantages.

The Post-Dispatch has asked heads of departments of the city government to outline what their departments would be likely to do for the service and development of the enlarged city, if the merger should carry.

The answers made by the officials do not constitute promises on the city's part. No one has authority to make such promises. Director of Public Welfare Kelly believes new buildings would be necessary, and that these naturally would be erected in the outlying sections. Construction of the new buildings would require a bond issue, and in the meantime, some special arrangements with private institutions, for the care of the surplus charity patients, might have to be made. The county's population, it may be recalled in this connection, is less than one-fifth that of the city.

The public schools of St. Louis County, under the terms of the merger plan, would pass at once to the control of the St. Louis Board of Education.

Extending Sewer System.

The office of the Superintendent of Instruction, which is in charge, under the board, of the schools, has been careful to avoid the appearance of propaganda for or against the merger. But the possibilities of the situation, in the event of the merger, have been considered.

Schools for the Backward.

In the event of the merger, all the special schools carried on by the board in the city would be opened to county children at once. These are the schools for backward or physically handicapped children. But most of the children of the county would continue to attend their present schools, which would go on without interruption.

Teachers now employed in the St. Louis schools are no longer subject to annual reappointment, though this was the case formerly. They hold their positions until removed for cause.

Health Service at Once.

Health protection could and would be extended over the enlarged city as quickly as police protection. This was stated by Assistant Health Commissioner Kaufman, speaking in the absence of Health Commissioner Starkloff, and supplementing statements made a few weeks ago by Dr. Starkloff as to the same matter. Kaufman, like his chief, is a veteran in the public health service.

"We have the organization," the Assistant Commissioner said. "All we would need is some addition to our personnel. We have sufficient authority to put on the additional men needed, without waiting for an ordinance or an appropriation. The county would get the same service that the city now gets, from the time of its consolidation with the city."

THE POST-DISPATCH PLAT-FORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress or reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Reports of Europe's III WILL.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WHAT pray, is the reader to believe regarding all these conflicting stories of Europe's hatred for the United States. Too frequently, it seems, some "special" writer, in dire words and lurid colors, tells us how they hate us over there.

In Sunday's edition of your valuable paper appeared a long article by Bolitho setting forth in much detail all about the cause, symptoms and technique of all this hating business, and if one were to believe Mr. Bolitho unreservedly, the English, French and Belgians have very little time left for anything else but hating us. It strikes me that the peace of the world is but little furthered by such "special" writers. This particular article smacks too much of bias and a lack of endeavor to understand this much muddled situation.

In the same edition of your paper, on the editorial page, our friend my "Lord Howe Dumb," now in Belgium, gives an entirely contradictory story. A short time ago the president of one of our big colleges, returning from Europe, was quoted in the papers to the effect that all these reports of "hating" us and discriminating against us and molesting American tourists were chiefly much to do about nothing. A tourist can get into trouble anywhere in the world if he is looking for it.

My own personal experience in France during the summer of 1924 was delightful. I went abroad alone. I knew not one soul in all Europe. Nobody waited for me in any of the countries I visited, yet I had no trouble, was not molested or overcharged. (I made my trip for an average of $2.50 per day) and, in spite of having an American, I was treated with courtesy everywhere.

Bolitho's article, describing hatred, spits hatred itself. My point is, that the great aim of this sorry mess we call civilization should be to learn to live together in peace and this dream of universal peace cannot be helped by giving the masses such reports to read, carrying as they do, the authority of the printed word in a great newspaper.

For real information and impartiality and better understanding of other peoples let us hear some more from Paul Anderson.

Sunday Post-Dispatch Magazine Stories. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I WOULD like to compliment the Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine on the story entitled, "The Hard Luck of a Soft Englishman," in the Sunday Magazine of the Post-Dispatch of Oct. 17. It was a fine illustration of this "bunk" called psycho-analysis and "Mrs. Dumbly" also gave her experience of being psycho-analyzed. It was simply "rich," and I had a good laugh over it. There was about as much sense in "Mrs. Dumbly's" experience as there was in the other story. In my opinion, the world could have gotten on very well without Freud and his "bunk."

A Republican on Reed's Nomination. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

B EING a Republican in politics, I do not know whether or not I am welcome to your columns, but here goes, just the same. I note your journal, and some of the others have been looking complacently upon the candidacy of Senator Reed for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1928. While I would not vote for Mr. Reed, I am heartily in favor of his nomination by the Democrats. I am in favor of his nomination for the good and simple reason that it would mean a "walkover" for us Republicans in 1928. By all means, "feed us" Mr. Reed. Were I a Democrat, I would ask: What has Mr. Reed ever done for the country at large to entitle him to consideration for the office of President? In the limelight? Yes. But what has placed him in the limelight? Not any constructive legislation that he has ever fathered. Not for any constructive suggestions that he offered while on the Senate floor, taking up valuable time, in carping, snarling, crabbing and disagreeing with those, even of his own party, who disagreed with him. Mr. Reed is in the Senate now through the votes, not of Democrats, but with the assistance of wet Republicans, who were foolish enough to believe he could help them amend the Volstead act (and I am a wet). Yes, Mr. Reed is the Senate's "star grandstander," able to get the front page regularly, but as a President—it is laughable. I am sure the Democratic party can dig up a "real" candidate.

Our Fine City Market. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A FTER an absence from our city of several months, I have just revisited our fine Union Market, and want to tell others that I am again greatly impressed with its attractiveness, cleanliness and food display. It is an ideal place to shop.

WM. E. GUY.

THE ANNEXATION CAMPAIGN.

One week remains of the annexation campaign. Meanwhile, no one against annexation has told the Post-Dispatch how the county plans to improve itself if it does not come into the city. No one speaking for the other side has assumed to say how the county otherwise proposes to get a sanitary sewage system, a system of streets joining those of the city, fire protection, police protection, and a scientific health supervision.

Only one plan has been submitted. That is the plan under which the county is operating now. It takes into account neither the growth of the city nor that of the county. There is no such thing as common action upon the part of all the people of the county to make any improvement, since there are several corporate towns. None has the right to tax another, nor is there vested anywhere outside of the Legislature the right to say that they may all be taxed for anything.

That leaves the county just as it is indefinitely, unless it is annexed to the city. It is unfortunate if the people of the county cannot view the matter in that light. If they could, there is no good reason to doubt that they would vote for annexation. The enemies of both the people and annexation know this. It is why they hiss the people who speak for annexation and drive them out of the county towns. They are afraid to let the voters of the county hear both sides of the argument. By resorting to rowdyism and the tactics of ruffians they make certain that the people of the county will hear only the side of anti-annexation. This side cares nothing about the growth of the city. It cares only for the political party in the county, the largest of the great Boss Essen, and the protection of Tony Foley's gambling joint. It is distressing to see a lot of good people in the county lined up in a political campaign with the malodorous crew that runs the county, but that is where they are.

The Post-Dispatch suggests that in the weeks remaining the annexationists confine themselves to the reason for annexation. The reason the city wants to annex the county is that it has not enlarged its boundaries in 50 years and finds itself handicapped in competition with other big American cities. They have all increased their metropolitan districts. Two of them have passed St. Louis in the census rating. Others will do so unless we bestir ourselves. The people of the county are as much interested in the welfare of the city as anybody. Except for the city they would not be here. Its fortunes are the fortunes of everybody in the community, whether living in the city or the county.

This is not a reason for annexation that can be dragged into the mire of county politics. We are making a city, and not one of us who truly serves his own interest can stand in its way.

THE STORY OF JOSE MARIA RANGEL.

One would suppose that as a free people we would have the utmost sympathy for other peoples wishing to be free, but there is no sign of that in the story of Jose Maria Rangel.

Rangel is a Mexican. He has recently been released from the Texas prison at Huntsville, where he spent 13 years. When the revolt against Diaz took place he was one of the revolutionaries. After Madero was assassinated, Rangel fled to the United States, where he attempted to organize an expedition against the bloody tyrant Huerta. He was arrested for that, and when he was convicted of violating neutrality he was sentenced by an American court to a term of not less than five nor more than thirty-five years in prison at hard labor.

Huerta soon fell, and the sway of the revolution was resumed. It has continued in power to this day, and under Obregon the Mexican Government was recognized by the United States. Meanwhile, Rangel continued in prison at Huntsville. He saw the final triumph of that for which he had fought, but, unlike his associates, some of whom became Presidents, he saw it from a foreign prison. Let us say that during the American Revolution Benjamin Franklin had been cast into a French prison for violating the neutrality of France. Imagine the French holding him there 13 years, or from the time of the conflict until long after the American Republic had become an accepted fact. How we would have denounced the French for such brutality! How we would have indicted them for their inconstancy!

Yet that is precisely what we did to Rangel. He was against Huerta. So were we. We sent him to prison when he was fighting to depose one whom we branded as a tyrant, and when he is an old man we decide that he has been in prison long enough. We could have held him longer, but after unspeakable inhumanity we suddenly become humane.

"Liberty! Liberty! How many crimes are committed in thy name!"

DOLLAR SENTENCES FOR CRIMINALS.

Sentence the convict to a term of "so many dollars" instead of so many days, is the revolutionary prison plan proposed by William G. Shepherd, which is now under consideration by the American Prison Association convention being held in Pittsburgh. It is a unique idea to make the prisoner earn daily wages, and out of it pay the State for his board and keep, with a further policy behind it of no work, no board; industrious and skilled application to the job to win a desirable front room, with all modern improvements, while sloth and slovenliness relegates the victim to an unheated hall bedroom under the mansard roof, or even to a dark, dank cell in the cellar.

Perhaps this plan would provide an incentive calculated to inspire ability and energy on the part of the prisoner. It might give him the vision that greater production and concomitant higher wages would be sooner win him his way to freedom. Also, it would give him a goal, a prize, to work for, which would lessen the callousness and embittering influences of aimless incarceration. It might result in giving back to society a more useful man.

However, there are so many bugs in the proposition as to make it almost unworkable. For example: to put the plan into even a semblance of effective operation contemplates fully equipped and modern industrial plants in the prisons, through which the productive efforts of criminals could compete with outside concerns in marketable merchandise. Manufacturers and organized labor would fight such an innovation to the last ditch.

Again: side by side in every prison there obtains among its inmates a wide disparity in intellectual and manual ability. The personnel ranges from the few highly intelligent and skilled criminals to the inept many and neurotic morons. As our law enforcement is far from being a science of exact justice in assessing penalties, this proposed system would still further unbalance it by providing a more certain reward for the benefit of the more brazen, but usually the most dangerous criminal to society.

MARIE.

On one side, Marie is the granddaughter of the illustrious Victoria; on the other, she derives from the ill-fated Romanoffs. As royal blood goes, hers is the deepest purple. Aside from her glistening lineage, however, Marie is a Queen in her own right, by virtue of a personality which combines dignity, graciousness, tact and an extraordinary flair for politics. She represents an unimportant country, Missouri and Illinois could inclose Rumania, with room to spare. It grows grain and produces oil, and that's about all you can say for it, except for the woman who happens to be its Queen.

We think Victoria would be shocked by Marie. In no way does the latter measure up to the severe canons of conduct which used to obtain in the English court. Marie is modern. She writes for the newspapers. Her toilette is fashion itself. Born and bred in the sticky formalism of royal circles, she unbends, she bares her heart, she eats in the main dining room of the Leviathan, she has a word for everyone. What would Victoria say if she heard Marie exposing the secrets of her domestic life and describing the cave man whom she considers woman's ideal mate?

We said that Marie is a politician. In her native land she is adored by the peasantry because she mingles with them, wears the peasant dress, knows the songs and plays the game of the countryside. But she never lets her sense of democracy interfere with the serious business of life. Marie is very attractive and a very remarkable woman. Her charm and the lustre of her name will stand a good many Americans on their heads, for to no people in the world does royalty appear more dazzling than to the free citizens of this republic.

It ought to be a good year for Indiana Democrats, if any.

THE TEST FOR GOOD CITIZENSHIP.

An occasional red herring dragged across the trail does not bother Wayne B. Wheeler. He may be on the side of the pure ballot in Pennsylvania and against it in Illinois, but he is for prohibition in both places.

Wayne is against Vare, whose nomination was effected with money. He is for Wilson, the Democratic senatorial candidate in Pennsylvania, whom he regards as a good citizen. That is, he is dry. In Illinois, however, Wayne is for Smith. Smith was nominated with money, and the prostitution of the ballot in his case was as bad as that in the case of Vare. Nevertheless, Wayne is for him. He is a good citizen. That is, he is dry. Per contra, Brennan is a bad citizen. That is, he is wet.

So there is one test for good citizenship, and this is it.

SINGLE TAX, A DYING CAUSE.

The letter from Charles Lischer, who was a candidate for United States Senator, representing The Commonwealth Land Party in Missouri, single taxers, breathes a note of despair, in Monday's Post-Dispatch. Owing to the fact that the State Legislature has increased the number of petitioners necessary to place a candidate's name on the ballot by petition, Mr. Lischer finds himself unable to get a place on the ballot. He says he is now a "still" candidate, "very still," and that he would rather be out of the Senate than in it, because, he asserts, it is dominated by the plutocracy.

It is true that the single tax idea has failed to make any such headway in public favor as is necessary to effect the tremendous change in taxation advocated by Henry George. Some 18 years ago it had great strength, having among its leaders such champions as Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland, T. G. Shearman of Brooklyn and Gov. Garvin of Rhode Island. It was publishing able periodicals and much propaganda that appealed rather to the heart than the practical mind. The party has put up tickets in four states this year. It still boasts three periodicals, but with less than 20,000 circulation in all. And its slogan, "The earth is the birthright of all mankind," still rings with its original truth.

That is all, however. It is a voice crying in a wilderness of popular apathy, and the leading economists and politicians will have none of it. It was too much of a panacea, ignoring everything but land values and the injustice of unearned values accruing to individuals which ought to go to the community. Modern civilization, especially as it has developed in complication since the World War, and the necessity of fitting taxation to the billionaire needs of government, were too much for such a simple and well-meaning theory. It is not, as Mr. Lischer complains, that the moral sense is dead, but that practical men have not found in Henry George's theories the solution to the tax problem, and the hope for relief of poverty that single tax enthusiasts used to have.

For consistently attempting the impossible, command us to William Randolph Hearst. He is now trying to beat Al Smith for Governor of New York.

WILL IT COME TO THIS?

(From the Washington Post.)

In vain! The line adds nothing to the sum total of human knowledge; it announces no new and startling fact. It is obvious. It was put there only because people are lazy. Beloved constituents, we warn you! The world and the history books are filled with the enervated wrecks of once proud and mighty empires: Philip of Macedon had his Demosthenes; Imperial Rome had her Vandal; Marc Antony had a crush on Cleopatra, and we have

That is established beyond the trace of a suspicion or the shadow of a doubt. In the old days, when men were men and we were a model schoolboy, there were harder problems in the arithmetic, and no answers in the back of the book. That sign saddened us. YOU DONT SAY SO!

By this I mean this. The only thing that is different from one time to another is what is seen and what is seen depends upon how everybody is doing everything. This makes the thing we are looking at very different and this makes what those who describe it make of it. It makes, it shows, it is, it looks, it likes it as it is, and this makes what is seen as it is seen. Nothing changes from generation to generation except the thing seen and that makes a composition.

—Gertrude Stein elucidates matters in the Dial.

The Lord Chamberlain, in barring an Emerson-Los play, "The Fall of Eve," from the London stage, says he is opposed to the theme. The Lord Chamberlain, we take it, is an evolutionist.

Gen. Andrews wants mahogany furniture for his office, and we understand that his principal duty was to make a certain kind of mahogany furniture unpopular.

A "bad" man is one who is known to smoke and to drink occasionally, and to say a bad word when some one trots on his toe. His conversation is not always such as could be printed, and he sometimes finds fine Sundays out-of-doors instead of at church. Some of his opinions are perverse; for instance, he may think that if you desire peace you should prepare for war. Towards Socrates, he takes a scientific attitude, such as would take towards his motor car. If it behaved as he expected, he argues that Socrates' prison will no more cure vice than a broken tire. In the matter of war, he is even more perverse.

MISS ANGLIN CHARMING IN A POLITE COMEDY

"Caroline" Satirizes Romance and Middle Age; "Candida" to Follow.

By CARLOS F. HURD.

With a dozen years Robert daily scanned the death notice column of his morning paper to ascertain the name of Caroline's charming husband was there, one morning, there it was—in Nairobi, Africa, etc.

The events of that day, in a drawing room, appear in "Somerset Maugham's comedy, which Margaret Janning will present at the Shubert Theater for the first half of this week. Miss Anglin went a bit a decade for this play, in which she first appeared in 1916, reached back another decade for Bernard Shaw's "Candida," which she will present for the second part of the week, beginning today night.

The date is mentioned, because she was more than 18 or 12 years ago that plays prospered on cleverness of dialogue and fitness of situation without gags, bootleggery or broad comedy.

Not that there were many plays even then—Miss Anglin turned to melodrama between her dedicatory adventures in the 1910s, happily remembered here, now she is giving Maugham's Shaw just as they were, except slight geographical adjustments.

Not even changed the names of the plays, in our fashion of the 'twenties, to "Caroline's Kit" or "Curates." Watch Your Neutralizing a Thrill.

MISS EDITH PETERS.

MISS PETERS, debutante daughter of Mrs. F. R. Peters, who will be formally presented next week by Mrs. William R. Bright of 5384 Waterman avenue. The affair will be given at the Bellerville Country Club, and the guests will be Miss Marian and Miss Sally Green, Miss Kathleen Ryan, Miss Margaret Mahler, Miss June Morgens, Miss Julia Klipstein, Miss Helen Martha Woods, Miss Judith Spencer, Miss Florence Brooks, Miss Martha Hurley and Miss Virginia Hemenway. In Mrs. Bright's group will be her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Piper, Mrs. Peters and Mrs. David Brewster. Bridge will follow this afternoon.

Miss Peters will make her debut at a reception at the Bellerville Country Club Oct. 28.

The name of Miss Eula Hald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Hald of 5937 Cates avenue, has been added to the list of debutantes. She will be introduced at a party in November. Miss Hald is a graduate of Hosmer Hall and is now taking a special course at Washington University. She was a maid of honor at the Velled Prophets ball two weeks ago.

Are You a Colonic?
—Here's Why You Have RHEUMATISM

NEARLY 85 out of every 100 people who suffer with rheumatism are Colonics—people whose systems constantly absorb intestinal poisons from the colon. And yet few of them realize that this is the source of their infection!

That's the misleading thing about semi-constipation. It is often hard to detect because some elimination does occur fairly regularly. But it occurs late! Waste matter remains in the colon too long and forms deadly toxins that work havoc on the entire system. Neuralgia, rheumatism, arthritic condition and general lassitude are just a few of the results—often accompanied by frequent colds and headaches!

But now—Nature herself comes to the rescue. A modern treatment for sluggish colons has been developed by a group of well-known scientists. It acts in a unique, three-fold manner. To effect a quick, complete bowel action—to remove the toxins and harmful bacteria from the colon—and to tone up the colon so that it will act naturally without the aid of physics. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) the colonic corrective, is entirely composed of harmless vegetable ingredients which act gently—never causing any of the discomfort induced by harsh purges and physics. And never forms a habit!

A poison-free colon is often the first step toward relief for the rheumatic sufferer. Make this test yourself. Take one NR Tablet each night. At the end of five days you'll see what a surprising effect perfect elimination really can produce! Your druggist has NR Tablets (Nature's Remedy) in handy tin boxes at 25c. Make the test tonight.

TORTURE

For Quick Relief from Itching, Burning Feet
Use OIL-of-SALT

Amazing new discovery banishes foot torture forever! No more of that maddening itching and smarting! No more stinging cracks and pain between the toes. Cool, sooths and heals! OIL-of-SALT makes the world of difference. Hard spots and tender places. Just before bed time rub a little of this comforting healer over the feet. You will be surprised at the relief the next morning. Your feet feel young again. Walking and dancing become a pleasure. Even the prospect of standing on your feet all day long holds no terrors after a few simple treatments.

This miraculous antiseptic balm is bringing comfort and relief to hundreds of foot sufferers. Since it is a natural product, factory workers—people who stand up eight to ten hours every day—say that OIL-of-SALT is the best thing in gas for foot aching and swelling. It is a valuable antiseptic and healing qualities make it equally effective in treating cuts, burns, infections, and injuries of all kinds. An excellent suggestion for a cold bottle of OIL-of-SALT tonight.

OIL-of-SALT is compounded in the C. A. MOSS LABORATORIES, 215 S. LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill.

WILLIAMS WILL NOT APPEAR ON PLATFORM WITH HAWES
Cancels Speaking Date at First Congregational Church Which He Had Accepted

The expected appearance of Senator Williams and Harry B. Hawes, Republican and Democratic nominees for the United States senatorship, on the same platform tonight will not materialize. Senator Williams last night notified the Wydown Men's Club, before whom the two candidates were to appear at the First Congregational Church, 5301 Wydown boulevard, that he would be unable to attend. Thus, Hawes will be the only speaker.

The arrangements for the joint attendance were made several months ago and both Williams and Hawes accepted. The explanation given by Senator Williams for his inability to attend was that the Republican State Committee had booked him for a speech in Maryville tomorrow night and that to reach Maryville in time for the meeting it would be necessary for him to depart from St. Louis this evening.

NEW YORK JOINS WATER FIGHT
Sues Chicago Sanitary District to Prevent Diversion.

By the Associated Press
ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 19.—The State of New York has formally instituted action to prevent diversion of water from the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway. Joining with five other states, New York, through Attorney-General Ottlinger, filed at Washington a suit against the Sanitary District of Chicago and the State of Illinois to enjoin diversion. The United States Supreme Court last week gave permission for the suit to go forward.

The complaint points out that the sanitary district has reversed the flow of the Chicago River, into the Mississippi River, abstracting by this means from $800 to 10,000 cubic feet of water per second, from the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway.

CITY OFFICIALS OUTLINE PLANS

Water Co." Director Pritchard said. "We would have to assume the bonds of the municipal plants, and we would have to buy the privately owned plant. Probably by 1928 we would be able to connect the county water lines with the new city main at the Stacy Park reservoir. That would increase the pressure all over the county.

The city's new waterworks plant will have a capacity of 60,000,000 gallons a day. The county's present consumption is not more than 10,500,000 gallons a day.

County consumers would find out meter rates much cheaper than those they are now paying—in some cases only half as much as the present rates."

Director Pritchard said a bond issue would be needed to provide for the purchase of the privately owned county water plant, of which the city would be able to use only the distribution system.

For extension of the lighting system, he said, a bond issue would also be needed. In the meantime the present lighting system would be operated and in some cases extended. No survey of the lighting program as to the county has been made, and the data on the subject is not so complete as that relating to the water supply.

City Would Share the Cost.

The foregoing survey shows that the improvements and increased service to follow the merger would come gradually for the most part, and would be paid for, in part by special taxes, in part from general revenue to which all residents of the enlarged city would contribute alike, and by future bond issues, which the people of the enlarged city would vote and pay off.

The argument for the merger is that the greater city government would supply the "push" which would obtain the needed improvements, not now practicable for the small municipalities on unincorporated districts of the county to obtain for themselves. Duplication and misdirection would be avoided, and the people would get their money's worth as the county residents do not now get it.

Gas From Cheese Makes Two Ill.
Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch

LONDON, Oct. 19.—There are at least two men in England today who will not ask for cheese with their dinner. They are the first and second officers of the good ship Suffolk. The Suffolk brought a cargo of cheeses from New Zealand. In Glasgow her hatches were opened and refrigeration shut off. Six days later, in Liverpool, her holds were opened again and the second officer went below for inspection. He emitted a horrible cry and fell swooning. The first officer went down to help him. He fell like one shot. A rescue party in smoke helmets finally brought the casualties to the deck. "The accident is attributed," says one report, "to an increase in the evolution of gas from the cheese." The offended officers say that this is correct.

COUNTY ON LOSING SIDE OF BOUNDARY, KINSEY DECLARES

Pro-Merger Speaker Asks
Why Suburbs Don't Come in and Share Benefits of Downtown Values

COMMON SENSE DICTATES COMBINE

Problems Too Big for Any One Community to Handle Alone, He Says
in University City.

President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service appeared last night as a speaker in support of the city-county merger plan, which is to be voted on next Tuesday, going into the largest suburb, University City, to express his view as to the common interests of the community without regard to the boundary line.

About 125 men and women attended the meeting, which was called by the combined groups working for the merger, in the city hall. The audience seemed largely sympathetic with the proposal, although some opponents were present.

"We are all one great city," Kinsey said. "We can't get away from that fact. How silly to up each different community here to work out its own destiny! I live in the Twelfth Ward, which is Carondelet, and which is larger and more populous than any incorporated town in the county. If it is good business for Clayton, Maplewood, University City and the other suburbs to work out their destinies alone, why wouldn't that be good

TODAY IS LAST FOR COUNTY VOTERS WHO HAVE MOVED TO GET NAMES TRANSFERRED

TODAY is the last opportunity for St. Louis County registered voters who have moved from precinct to precinct within the county since the last registration, on June 1, to get their names transferred on the poll books.

Transfers may be had by applying at the office of the Election Board in the basement of the Courthouse at Clayton, up to 9 o'clock this evening. Voters who have moved without leaving their original precincts do not need to be transferred, but in case of doubt they may apply at the Election Board up to tonight and be sure they remain on the books.

County voters who registered either in the intermediate registration of last June or in the general registration of 1924, including those who have moved and have corrected their registration, are the only ones who will be eligible to participate in the city-county merger election next Tuesday and in the general election of Nov. 2.

Official assurance has been given by the City Election Board that, if the merger is approved by the people next Tuesday, voters now in the county will be permitted to cast ballots in the November election on all offices, including those of the enlarged city.

for the Twenty-eighth Ward, in the West End, or my ward?

Can't Solve Problems Alone.

"It wouldn't be, for Carondelet has problems it couldn't handle by itself. The entire watershed of the River des Peres, draining from Kirkwood and University City, comes through Carondelet. We couldn't take care of that alone down there with our limited resources, nor could the Twenty-fourth Ward, northeast of us. Suppose, though, the Twenty-eighth Ward was wealthy enough to take care of this river. Even so, it couldn't solve the problem till the communities downstream did so.

"When St. Louis finishes the River des Peres sewer right up to the University City limits, how are you out here going to take care of it? St. Louis passed a big bond issue for this work. Neither my ward nor the next ward could float these bonds alone, nor could they be good in University City, which isn't worth enough.

"When St. Louis sells bonds, where are the values that create its credit and bring small interest rates and premiums? They are 'way downtown in the Fifth and Sixth wards. Suppose those wards set up independently; they would get along fine, with their valuable property, on a 10-cent tax rate, but what about the rest of us? Tremendous unearned increment makes values downtown. Why don't you here share in those values? Why, you are on the wrong side of that imaginary boundary.

Question of Common Sense.

"This is not an engineering problem, but one of common sense. I had a laugh coming out here tonight when I saw a sign, 'Vote against annexation and save our roads.' No matter how the merger election goes, county people are going to drive in the city and city people in the county. Did you ever stop to think that St. Louis furnishes half of the State's income, and thus St. Louis pays for half of the fine State highways, some of which run through the county?

"Let's all get together, pull together and do our common job in building up this great city.

Other speakers at this meeting were Walter A. Hays, Dwight D. Currie, J. F. O. Reller, Thomas D. Cannon and Joseph Forshay. Currie reminded his hearers that while University City and some other suburbs have beautiful schools, the boys and girls of the outlying districts have poor facilities. He declared that the merger would not "confiscate" farm property, but would increase its value. Cannon inquired why "that bunch of politicians at Clayton suddenly are so solicitous about the farmer." The speakers referred to inadequate sewers in the county.

McAtee Speaks for Antis.

Meanwhile, an ant annexation meeting at Pershing School, University City, was being addressed by Joseph C. McAtee, who was a county member of the Board of Freeholders.

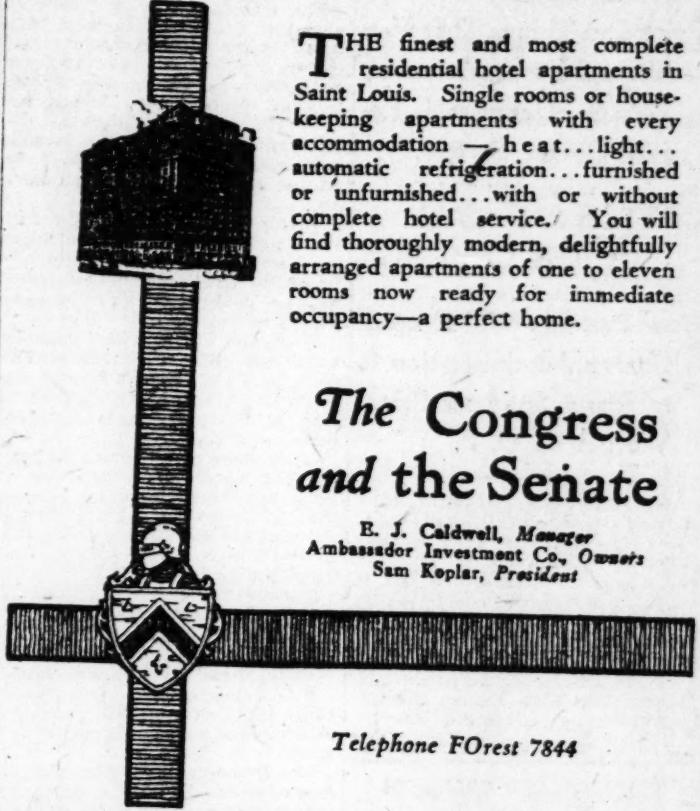

Total public debt of the county and its schools and towns is $6,500,000, McAtee declared, while that of the city and its schools is $102,000,000. If annexed, the county, he said, will have to share about one-fifth of the debt of the enlarged city, or $20,000,000—three times the present county indebtedness.

He attacked the city's ability to build sewers on the basis of delays met in the first short section of the River des Peres work, which has been explained. The county is eight times the area of the city, and McAtee expressed the hope that none in St. Louis mean to charge the county eight times as much as the city had been charged for sewers.

Speakers of the County Annexation League and allied organizations will address the following meetings tonight, all scheduled for 8 o'clock: Ferguson, high school; Jennings, Corpus Christi Hall; Maplewood, high school; Shrewsbury, Town Hall; Valley Park,

It Took Ten Years To Perfect
This Scientific Shampoo

We Ask You To Try It FREE!

You've tried soap and ordinary shampoos—and found them unsatisfactory. Now try the only scientific shampoo ever made—the one used so successfully in our professional practice as hair and scalp specialists, at all the Thomas' offices in 40 cities.

Shampooing helps to prevent baldness, if you use the right kind of a shampoo—one that does not extract the natural oil, dry up the scalp, and make the hair brittle. Thomas' Special Formula Shampoo not only cleanses the scalp surface, but permeates to the very roots of the hair. It nourishes the hair follicles, stimulates circulation, and actually promotes the functions of a healthy head. After its use, your scalp will be immaculate. Your hair will glow with cleanliness and renewed life. It leaves the hair beautiful, soft and silky. Lathers freely in any water; rinses out perfectly with one rinsing, and dries quickly.

Thomas' Special Formula Shampoo

The most economical, practical and effective shampoo for the family. Especially recommended by the world's leading hair and scalp specialists for permanently waved hair, because it will not attack the chemical compound used in the permanent waving process. Use this shampoo and save your permanent wave for a much longer period. Make a five-minute test of this marvelous shampoo. You will pronounce it the best you ever used.

If your hair is falling out, we recommend the use of Thomas' Special Formula for Falling Hair—a positive relief for dandruff and other conditions inducing baldness. Use it in connection with the Thomas' Shampoo.

Thomas' Special Formula for Falling Hair

As different from the ordinary run of "hair dopes" as day and night. Contains no alcohol, nor other ingredient harmful to hair or scalp. It is highly antiseptic, checking and eliminating all conditions which destroy the life of the hair. Stimulates the dying hair roots to healthful activity. Restores luster and suppleness to dry, brittle, dead-looking hair. It is real hair insurance.

ACCIDENT VERDICT IN DEATH OF MAN CRUSHED BY TRAILER

Eugene Abegg, 28, a Chauffeur for Transfer Company, Walked Behind Moving Truck.

An inquest verdict of accident was returned today in the death of Eugene Abegg of 4605 Atkins Avenue, a chauffeur, who was crushed to death yesterday between a loading platform and a truck trailer. The trailer was backed against the platform by a truck in charge of Frank Years, 49, 6333 Alabama Avenue, at the Fidelity Transfer Co., Seventh Boulevard and Cerre Street, where both men were employed.

George Fox, general manager of the Missouri-Illinois Transportation Co., who witnessed the accident, testified he shouted a warning to Abegg as he stepped between the platform and the moving trailer. Apparently Abegg did not see the trailer nor hear the warning.

Supreme Court Justice Tierney granted the application, appointing Mrs. Heenan guardian for her 16-year-old daughter, under bond of $500.

Mrs. Browning, now has two legal guardians, Justice Morschauer having appointed N. Otis Rockwood guardian ad litem Saturday.

The marines will be equipped with riot guns for which requisition has been made by Postmaster General New. They will be under orders which will require them to shoot quickly and anyone not having legitimate business in the vicinity of valuable postal shipments should keep away, postal officials are warning.

The handling of the marines will be under direction of an officer of the Marine Corps stationed in Postmaster General New's department. During the period the marines will be used they probably will assist the Postoffice Department in organizing its own mail guard force.

MOBERLY, Mo., Oct. 19.—Ben Davidson, Constable of Jackson Township, and Roscoe Wright, former Constable of Chariton Township, are under arrest today, following a raid made by Sheriff McCanne on Davidson's farm, northwest of Moberly, last night, when what is said to be corn liquor mash and a still were seized. The still was in operation in a cane field, according to the Sheriff.

Davidson was taken to the county jail.

G. O. P. Newspaper to Oppose Vare

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—The Philadelphia Public Ledger, independent Republican, announces that it will oppose the candidacy of Congressman William S. Vare, Republican, for the United States Senate, "because of the excessive use of campaign funds at the primary election." While not announcing that it would support William B. Wilson, Democratic opponent of Vare, the statement referred to Wilson as a "good man and a representative citizen" and said the Ledger's principal regret in the event of his election would be that he was not a Republican.

This committee began activity several months ago against gambling at the horse-racing track of the Fairmount Jockey Club and the dog-racing track of the Madison County Kennel Club, but filing of the petition was the first intimation of an extension of its scope.

Gambling, the petition declares, exists in gambling houses, in boot-legging establishments and at the racetracks, taking the form of dice games, slot machines, bookmaking and sale of pools on horse and dog race results.

BANKER ADMITS $50,000 FRAUD

Officer of Defunct Ohio Depository to Turn State's Evidence.

By the Associated Press.

STEUBENVILLE, O. Oct. 19.—Thomas S. Jones, Steubenville attorney and vice president of the defunct Savings Bank of Yorkville, entered a plea of guilty of issuing a fraudulent certificate of deposit for $50,000, when arraigned before Judge Charles Turnbaugh here.

Sentence was deferred when Jones agreed to turn State's evidence against others indicted in the bank crash. Jones was indicted in July on 13 counts in connection with the failure of the bank in which more than 2000 depositors lost heavily. Four other officers of the bank are under indictment.

BROWNING'S WIFE STARTS SUIT FOR SEPARATION

Her Action Comes Two Days After That of Husband's Two Guardians Named.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Mrs. Edward W. ("Peaches") Browning started suit for separation in the Supreme Court here yesterday.

Two days after Browning brought similar action before Supreme Court Justice Morschauer in Poughkeepsie, Mrs. Browning countered with an application for the appointment of her mother, Mrs. Carolyn M. Heenan, as guardian ad litem.

In asking for the appointment of her mother, "Peaches" stipulated she intended to sue for a separation on grounds of "cruel and inhuman treatment," which she says, has made is "unsafe, improper and dangerous" for her to live with her mother, more than three times her age.

Supreme Court Justice Tierney granted the application, appointing Mrs. Heenan guardian for her 16-year-old daughter, under bond of $500.

Mrs. Browning, now has two legal guardians, Justice Morschauer having appointed N. Otis Rockwood guardian ad litem Saturday.

The marines will be equipped with riot guns for which requisition has been made by Postmaster General New. They will be under orders which will require them to shoot quickly and anyone not having legitimate business in the vicinity of valuable postal shipments should keep away, postal officials are warning.

The handling of the marines will be under direction of an officer of the Marine Corps stationed in Postmaster General New's department. During the period the marines will be used they probably will assist the Postoffice Department in organizing its own mail guard force.

Moberly Sheriff Says Plant Was Operated in Cane Field.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MOBERLY, Mo., Oct. 19.—Ben Davidson, Constable of Jackson Township, and Roscoe Wright, former Constable of Chariton Township, are under arrest today, following a raid made by Sheriff McCanne on Davidson's farm, northwest of Moberly, last night, when what is said to be corn liquor mash and a still were seized. The still was in operation in a cane field, according to the Sheriff.

Davidson was taken to the county jail.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—The Philadelphia Public Ledger, independent Republican, announces that it will oppose the candidacy of Congressman William S. Vare, Republican, for the United States Senate, "because of the excessive use of campaign funds at the primary election."

While not announcing that it would support William B. Wilson, Democratic opponent of Vare, the statement referred to Wilson as a "good man and a representative citizen" and said the Ledger's principal regret in the event of his election would be that he was not a Republican.

More than 20 years ago, during a tour of Italy, he met a quack doctor who told him that bathing impaired the spark of life. Since then until he entered the hospital he had not had a bath.

He leaves more than $10,000 in the bank and land in Long Island and Cuba. His next of kin, so far as is known, is Senora Leopoldina Mora Lopez Chaves of Havana, Cuba, a first cousin.

LIQUOR PRESCRIPTIONS ISSUE IN ONTARIO

They Will Be Wiped Out if Government Control Plan Wins in Vote Dec. 1.

By the Associated Press.

TORONTO, Ontario, Oct. 19.—Doctors' prescriptions will be wiped out and a Government commission appointed to handle the sale of liquor in the dry province of Ontario, if the Conservative Government, headed by Premier G. Howard Ferguson, is returned to power in the elections to be held Dec. 1.

At present Ontario is one of the four dry provinces where prescriptions are necessary to legally obtain liquor. Beer of 4.4 per cent alcohol content is sold openly, but this was not regarded as intoxicating when the law authorizing its sale was passed.

Saloons Will Not Come Back.

In announcing the dissolution of the Ontario Legislature last night, Premier Ferguson said his party would appeal to the people on a policy of Government control of liquor sales similar to the laws existing in Quebec and the four Western provinces, except that the Ontario law would provide for local option in areas that desire prohibition. The bars will not come back to Ontario in any case.

Revenues from the Government liquor sales will be used for the reduction of taxation, Ferguson said. Machinery is to be established to learn the wishes of both dry and wet areas regarding imposing or lifting of the bar on local liquor sales.

Government sales will not be imposed upon areas that have banned the sale of liquor under local option. But in other portions of Ontario dispensaries for the sale of spirituous and malt liquors in sealed packages may be established by the commission, if the Conservative party is successful in its appeal to the people.

First Election on Dry Issue.

The Liquor Commission may also, upon the request by petition of a reasonable number of taxpayers in such portions of the province requesting the sale of beer by the glass at tables in standard hotels, notify such municipality of its intentions to permit such sale, and unless the municipality passes a by-law against it permission will be granted.

This is the first time in the history of Canada that a provincial election has been contested on the prohibition question, and it is notable that Ontario, the pioneer in advocating prohibition legislation, should be the battleground. In the other provinces, and in Ontario in the past, referendums on liquor laws have been held, but never has a political party adopted wet or dry plank in its platform.

In the referendum in Ontario two years ago, Government control and sale of liquor was rejected by a popular majority of 35,000, the cities chiefly voting wet and the rural districts dry.

Simultaneously with the Premier's decision to call an election, came announcement that Attorney-General W. F. Nickle was relinquishing his portfolio, as he would not see eye to eye with his leader in regard to the liquor policy. He is succeeded by W. H. Price, Provincial Treasurer.

In announcing the decision of the Government, the Premier issued a manifesto reviewing the situation in the province regarding liquor legislation. Two plebiscites taken within the last five years, it was stated, indicated a marked falling off in the sentiment in support of the Ontario temperance act.

Consideration was also given to the recent deaths caused by the distribution of poisoned liquor in Southern Ontario, while the manifesto declared the province was "surrounded, 3-5, west and south, by sources of illicit traffic which it is physically impossible to combat effectively."

RUMOR OF

athletics at Harvard, last night assertedly denying that Harvard will enter a "football league" with Yale, Princeton, Dartmouth and Brown as other members. Bingham said his attention had been directed to published reports which an organization was concerned.

McKechnie's Release as Pirate Manager Result
Of Strife Within Club

Arthur Fletcher Regarded as Probable Successor—Dreyfuss Says Neither Fred Clarke Nor Bancroft Will Get the Job.

By the Associated Press.
PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 19.—The Pittsburgh Pirates, rulers of the baseball world in 1925, dethroned this year by St. Louis, will be guided in 1927 by a new manager.

Bill McKechnie, who last year piloted the Corsairs to their first National League pennant in 16 years and then on through to a triumph over Washington in the world series, yesterday was told his services no longer would be required.

Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the club, said the fans had "lost confidence in McKechnie and there was only one thing to do."

Although Dreyfuss said he had no successor in view at this time, baseball observers were inclined to believe Arthur Fletcher, fiery manager of the Philadelphia Nationals, might be found at the Pirate helm when the 1927 season opens.

Rumors that Fred C. Clarke, assistant manager and vice president of the club, might be named brought denial from Dreyfuss, who also made known his preference for bench manager. This sparked another rumor that Dave Bancroft, brilliant playing manager of the Boston Braves, as the Pirates' next leader.

The downfall of McKechnie after a four-year reign, was a direct result in the opinion of most observers, of the internal dissension that rent the club during the season just past. This began when some players objected to Clarke's presence on the bench and before it was over, Max Carey, Babe Adams and Carson Bigbee, veterans, were dismissed from the club.

There were many that attributed to this dissension the Pirates' failure to repeat their triumph of the preceding year.

McKechnie said his future plans were undetermined because his release was "very unexpected."

Began Career in 1905.

Kirkwood Plays
University City

Coach Walbrink's Maplewood
eleven will face the Normandy High School aggregation in their annual football game to be played Friday on the Maplewood field at 4 p. m.

As both the Maplewood and Normandy squads have lost two contests to their county league rivals, and as both teams are equally inexperienced, an evenly matched contest is expected.

The Normandy warriors will enter the fray as slight favorites, due to their additional weight advantage. As a result of last week's games, Coach Hall's Clayton High gridlers and Coach Markley's U-City Indians are leading the county league with two victories apiece.

Friday also, University City High School will take on the strong and heavy Kirkwood team on the latter's grounds while Clayton battles Ritenour at the Ritenour field. The U-City-Kirkwood tussle is expected to be the feature game of the week as both teams have previously evidenced considerable power.

Clayton is not expected to have much difficulty in putting away the comparatively weak Ritenour quad. Webster and Wellston have open dates and will rest up for their following Friday's games with U-City and Rankin Trades School respectively.

Harvard Takes On Dartmouth;
Yale vs. Brown

Crimson Hopes to Break Into Victory Column After Two Reverses.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Harvard, buoyed by victory over William and Mary, is working hard in preparation for next Saturday's game with Dartmouth, which is smarting under the sting of defeat by Yale. Hope is growing at Cambridge that defeats in Harvard's first two games will be offset by victories over Dartmouth, Yale and Princeton.
But so far there is more hope than expectation.

Dartmouth will try in the Harvard stadium to begin again a pile of victories that collapsed at New Haven after three years of accumulation.

Palpitating under the vest, we wait New York's reaction to this infringement on its prerogatives.

In the meantime let's hope the N. R. A. follows up its jab with a wallop on the chin, and Ryan, regular tackle, will be sufficiently recovered from injuries to play against Brown Saturday, it is expected.

Weakness against a forward
passing attack seems to be the outstanding Middle fault, and Colgate will have much of that to offer
against the Navy.

Princeton plays a lively welcome
for Lehigh, defeated in all four starts this season.

Both Army and Syracuse, looking back upon a struggle that brought both serious injuries, are preparing for battles with Boston University and Penn State, respectively. Carr, high scorer of the season to date, is feared out for the remainder of the Syracuse campaign because of leg injuries, and Trappell, Army back, and Elias, a tackle, probably will not play again
for several weeks.

Though defeated by Ohio State,
Columbia is awaiting confidently
the advent of Duke University
from North Carolina.

Pennsylvania, flushed with a triumph over Chicago, has no worries
over Williams.

BENTON PLAYERS GO
TO CARDINAL FARMS

BENTON, Ill., Oct. 19.—The local club of the Hard Road League will lose more stars than any other club in the league through graduation
of its top players, including pitcher
Miller, Payne and Anderson, two catchers, Gansauer and Flack, and Infielder Moudy will get trials on the Cardinal farms. The first mentioned pitcher, Miller, was called during the middle of the season and sent to Peterboro, N. H., to train
as a pitcher, but performed well during the remainder of the season.

WRAY'S

A New Champion.

THE National Boxing Association has gone into the champion-making business. Previously the New York Boxing Commission enjoyed a monopoly of this industry.

A new Richmond is in the field. The N. B. A. declared Charley Rosenberg's bantamweight title vacant yesterday, and put Buddy Taylor of Indiana on the throne. The official act of the N. B. A. was to endorse the Illinois Commission's ruling on similar lines.

Palpitating under the vest, we wait New York's reaction to this infringement on its prerogatives.

In the meantime let's hope the N. R. A. follows up its jab with a wallop on the chin, and Ryan, regular tackle, will be sufficiently recovered from injuries
to play against Brown Saturday, it is expected.

Weakness against a forward
passing attack seems to be the outstanding Middle fault, and Colgate
will have much of that to offer
against the Navy.

Princeton plays a lively welcome
for Lehigh, defeated in all four starts this season.

Both Army and Syracuse, looking back upon a struggle that brought both serious injuries, are preparing for battles with Boston
University and Penn State, respectively. Carr, high scorer of the season to date, is feared out for the remainder of the Syracuse campaign because of leg injuries, and Trappell, Army back, and Elias, a tackle, probably will not play again
for several weeks.

Though defeated by Ohio State,
Columbia is awaiting confidently
the advent of Duke University
from North Carolina.

Pennsylvania, flushed with a triumph over Chicago, has no worries
over Williams.

BENTON PLAYERS GO
TO CARDINAL FARMS

BENTON, Ill., Oct. 19.—The local club of the Hard Road League will lose more stars than any other club in the league through graduation
of its top players, including pitcher
Miller, Payne and Anderson, two catchers, Gansauer and Flack, and Infielder Moudy will get trials on the Cardinal farms. The first mentioned pitcher, Miller, was called during the middle of the season and sent to Peterboro, N. H., to train
as a pitcher, but performed well
during the remainder of the season.

The Buccaneers had been a member of the club several times, besides playing with half a dozen other major and minor league organizations. He became a Pirate the first time in 1907, again in 1910 and for the third time in 1919, as a coach under Manager Hugo Bezdeck, now football mentor at Penn State.

McKechnie quit baseball in 1920, but came back again in 1921, playing with Minneapolis in the American Association. Released by Minneapolis, he became a Pirate coach and succeeded to the management on July 1, 1922, when Gibson quit.

due credit has not been given him for his defeat of Dempsey.

Titleholder Declares That His Chief Fear When He First Went Into Ring Was That He Might Get Desire to Become Professional.

World's Heavyweight Champion.

CHAPTER V.

I BEGAN sixteen years ago to develop myself. I learned that a soft and delicate education led to idleness, dissipation and ruin. Since the time of James J. Corbett, boxing has experienced an uplift. Even in my short span, the game has taken on a totally new aspect. This is in accord with all human activities that move in definite cycles.

You will read how, in the reign of Edward III, many sports were prohibited by proclamation. Among the games that were taboo was "cambrian," a species of golf, receiving its name from the crooked bat with which it was played. This game was not forbidden on account of any particular evil tendency in the sport itself, but because it "promoted leisure and diverted the minds of the people from practical pursuits." Fancy the prohibition of golf today! Modern men now know that leisure and honest, healthful recreation lengthen life and promote national happiness and content. Boxing, I am sure, is a crime preventive.

It has been thought that my first appearance in fighting trunks was in France. That is not the case. I had engaged in five preliminary bouts in New York and the East before enlisting in the marines. I had had no little schooling of the

Mathews Labors For Improvement In "Team Work"

Billikens Will Use Few Plays Against Boston College in Inter-sectional Game.

The fact that the Boston College gridiron machine is reputed to be the strongest Coach Cavanaugh has ever built, is not causing the St. Louis University Billikens to make special preparation for the game with the Easterners here Saturday other than polishing up the performance of their few plays.

"We have only 10 plays," said Coach Mathews yesterday, "and I believe it is too many. We may cut off one or two of them. What I want on this squad is perfect execution of plays. If I have that and good, clear thinking on the part of my men in the heat of the game and plenty of determination, I will be getting out of the squad all there is in it.

Sustained Effort Necessary.

"Temporary discouragement or relaxation by one individual or a smooth-working unit will throw the whole performance off balance. The team which is subject to fits of temporary mental or spiritual depression is the whipped team. We will have no let-up in our play Saturday."

For the first time Mathews and his staff will have plenty of time to devote to individual instruction this week. Heretofore they have been doing "team coaching" chiefly and drumming in the idea of co-ordinated action. Having achieved a good measure of success in the group teaching they will this week show individuals the secrets of blocking, charging and the allied arts. All this has been taught to the group as in a classroom lecture, but now each man will be tutored.

Mathews says that according to his information, Boston College has several men of all America caliber on the team. Observers have told him that they would bet their money on the Bostonians if they were to meet as strong a team as Yale.

Beat Fordham 28 to 0.

Boston has played only two games this year. Catholic U. of Washington, D. C. was trimmed, 28 to 0 and in his contest with Frank Garvan's Fordham eleven, Cavanaugh let his regulars run up 28 points in the first half and threw in his substitutes, saving the first string men for the St. Louis game. Boston beat Fordham 28 to 0.

Four Billikens may be missing from Saturday's lineup. Tackle Babka and Halfback Denir are certain to be out for several weeks because of injuries suffered against Marquette. Knight, a guard, reported yesterday with a boil of heroic size on his arm in the early stages of development. Very likely he will be out. The fourth man is Capt. Kahle who missed last week's game because of an injured rib. He will also miss the Boston game in all likelihood. Dierberger, a fullback, who played a bang-up game at end against Marquette, may be used on an end against the Easterners to fill in for Kahle.

Loughran Too Good for Burke

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19. — Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia light heavyweight won a referee's decision last night over Martin Burke of New Orleans in a 10-round contest here. Loughran 175 1/2 and Burke 171 pounds. Loughran showed amazing skill throughout the bout and set the pace for his team. Harry Ebbets of Brooklyn, 6-round decision from Tom Six of Chicago. They were into world-wide fame in two National titles. Uncle Robbie, the boxer, will retire as he is six rounds.

ROBINSON TO BROOKLYN FIELD NEXT NEW YORK, Oct. 19. — Robinson will direct the Brooklyn Robins into world-wide fame in two National titles. Uncle Robbie, the boxer, will retire as he is six rounds.

THEY mean the way I roll 'em and smoke 'em all day long. I don't mind their wise-cracks. I've discovered the one tobacco for home-rolled cigarettes . . . Prince Albert. And I wouldn't trade places with the discoverer of the North Pole.

You begin to understand "why" the instant you open the tidy red tin and release that wonderful P. A. fragrance. That's tobacco, Fellows! The smoke is equally fragrant . . . fragrant and cool, like a breeze-swept orchard in blossom-time. Fragrant and cool and mild.

They call me a "rolling-mill"

No matter how many you smoke, your tongue never says "stop." Yet these cigarettes are not wishy-washy. They have that full, round body that makes you want another . . . and another. Get yourself some Prince Albert and the makin's papers today.

If you like a pipe, or think you might like it if it liked you, try Prince Albert this way too. I smoke P. A. both ways. It doesn't bite my tongue or parch my throat. Pipe or cigarette, it doesn't matter. It's the tobacco that makes all the difference in the world.
